SPECULUM 1987
CASTLE PARK HIGH SCHOOL
1395 HILLTOP DRIVE
CHULA VISTA, CA 92011

▼ Self promotion. Running back, David Carpenter is given the task of getting the student body "fired up" for the game at a football pep assembly.

▼▼ V for victory. Proud Castle Park juniors display the victory sign, in the hope of yet another Trojan triumph.

School Spirit Is . . .

"The union of a group of kids who otherwise have nothing in common." Mary Kennard

"School spirit is the inner feeling of pride that one has at this school and the physical outlook of unity and spirit that we have here at C.P." Azella Caballero

"... to me it is believing in your school by participating in any type of activity and showing your support of the school. It's the pride and excitement you feel. It's the UMPH!" Aileen Farrales

"School spirit is showing your pride in your school ... supporting all that goes on — win or lose!!! Cheering for your team and having consideration when needed." Myra Cotoner

◀ Ready, O.K. At a football game, varsity cheerleaders, Elizabeth Cansicio and Aileen Farrales get the crowd excited about the best team in the West.

▲▲ Full of pride. D. Cole and K. Moyer may be new to the Trojan traditions, but they are catching on fast.

▲ Sea of red. A. Baker, D. Gonzalez, and Y. Aguilar show their pride by jumping, yelling and wearing that Trojan red.

► Awesome ten. The varsity pepleaders thrilled the crowd by performing the awesome "Denver Seven" stunt.

School Spirit

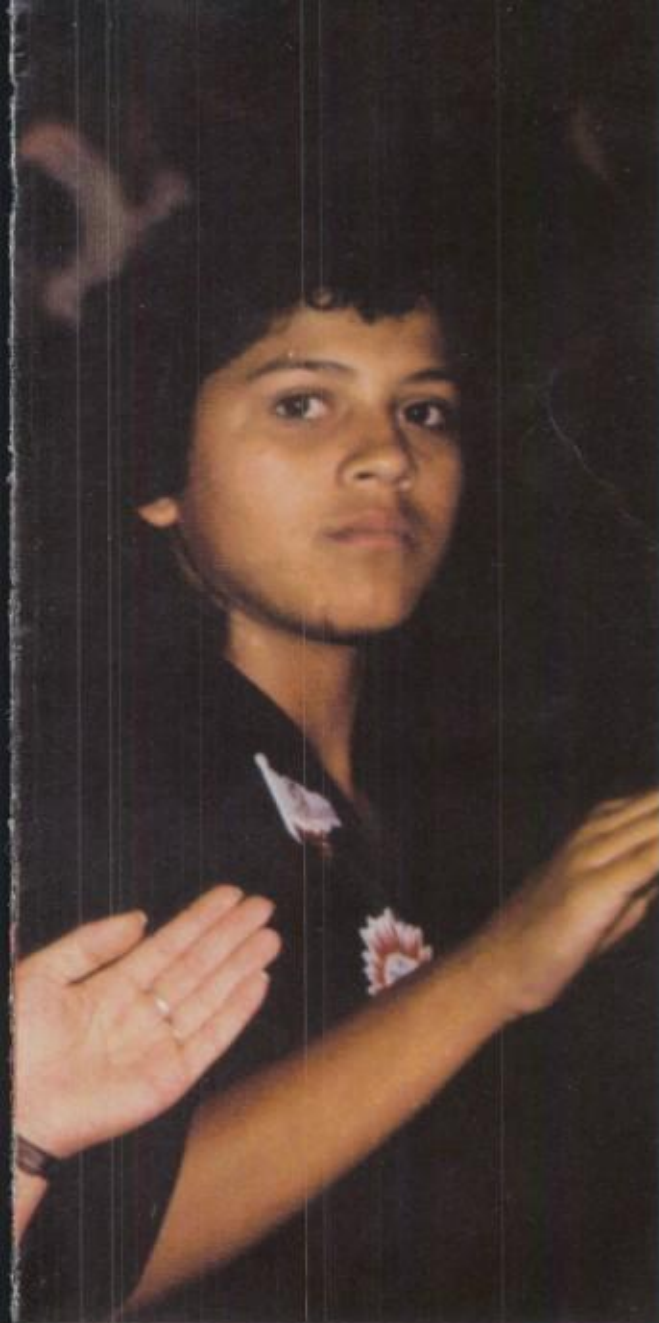

Radiating in Red and Black

It's Friday again!!! Game day has arrived, I ran my rear upstairs to prepare for the game. Thus begins the search for my traditional Trojan game day garb. I looked through my closet for my rad black Levis. I found them and threw them on my bed. I then searched through my drawers frantically, finally locating my red Trojan tee shirt. Next came the search for my "It's Great To Be a Trojan" sweatshirt, finding it under my bed of all places. I quickly dressed and pulled on my Trojan red Kaepa's.

After I finished dressing I grabbed my 20 Trojan Pride pins and my 5 pep ribbons ready to arrange them in a spectacular Trojan fashion. I took the pins and arranged them to look like a giant #1. After that, I took the pep ribbons and placed them on the rim of my red Trojans derby. I surveyed my appearance in the mirror and decided the hat gave me a groovy Arab look. I was only missing one thing. I grabbed my "I love the Trojans" bumper sticker and slapped it across my forehead. Now I was ready.

Quickly running out to my car I saw that my poms and megaphone were not in there. I ran back into the house locating them in back of the couch. I grabbed them and ran out to the car. I peeled out of the driveway ready to cheer 'til I was hoarse for my favorite team.

▲ Homecoming Candidates? The lovely "Miss Ethel" Callahan and "Miss Georgia" Deiranieh thrilled the alumni and the school when they visited from "Bonita Vista High" at homecoming.

▲► Pride for Dignity. These brave pep club members trade their own self-respect for the sake of a few spirited hoots and hollers.

Outrageous

Individualists Take That Extra Step

Outrageous: Webster's Dictionary defines it this way: characterized by an outrage; atrocious; violent, indecent or lawless; extravagant; excessive.

At CPH outrageousness finds many outlets. One can be outrageous in the way one dresses. One can choose outlandish colors — colors that clash not only with each other, but with their entire environment! One can choose attention grabbing styles — those that require second, third and maybe even fourth glances. One can also be outrageous in the layers of clothes that one chooses to wear. Too many layers can make you look odd, while too few will get you kicked out of school.

Another outlet for outrageousness is through one's hair, whether it be the style or color, one can use his/her hair as a badge of nonconformity. People choose their styles very carefully. An outrageous style is one that has varying colors or one that decreases the amount of hair on your head. One's hair makes a statement for all the world to see.

A third and maybe less obvious outlet for outrageousness is through one's own personal behavior. You can either be outspoken and loud or a private nonconformist. You show your penchant for outrageousness through your manner of speaking and the things that you say.

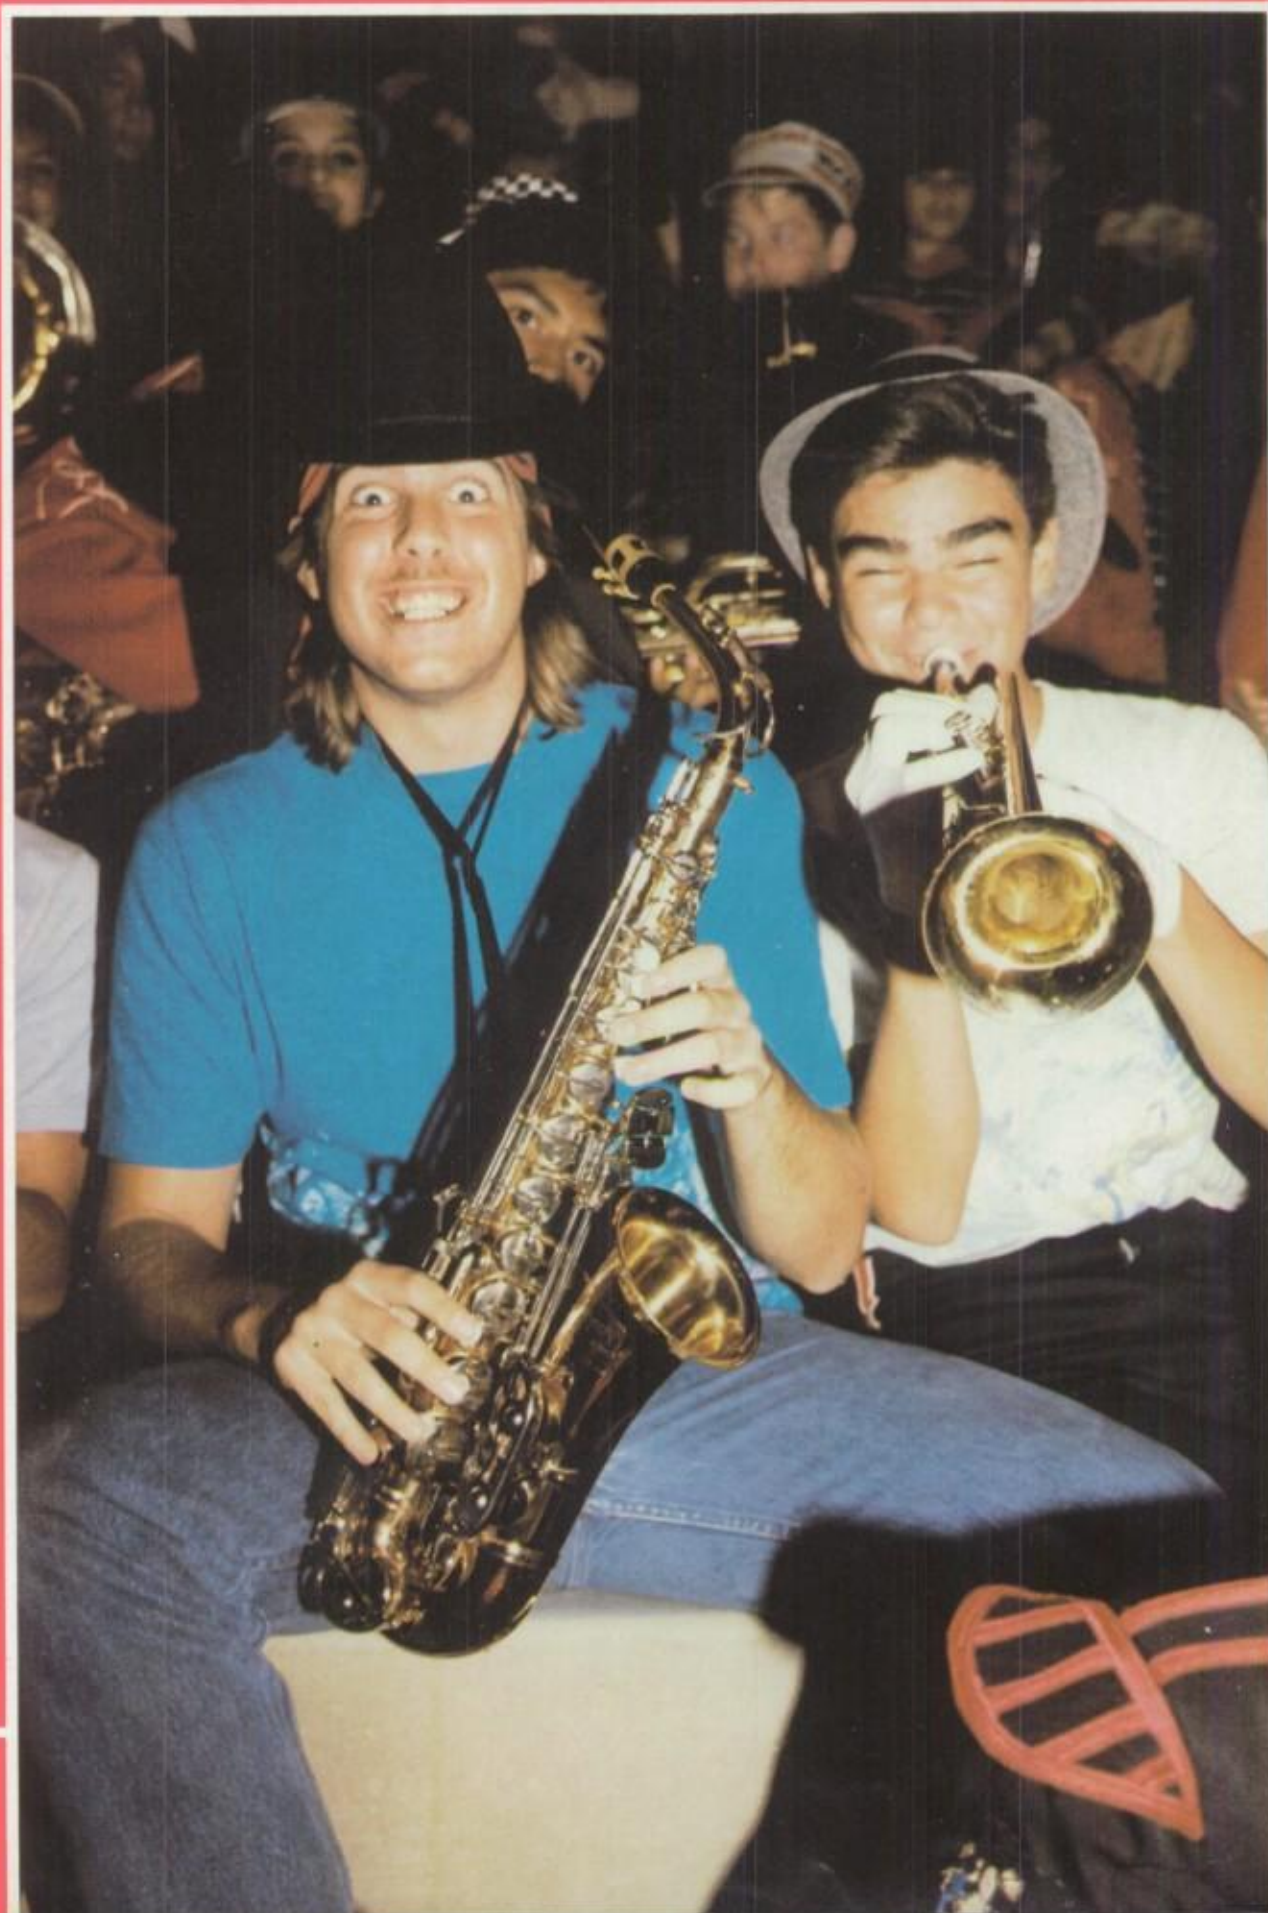

Although there are many forms of outrageousness in the world, those most frequently favored here at CPH deal with one's appearance and one's behavior. At Troy those outrageous individuals are the braver souls. Those who choose not to belong and to do their own thing. These folks are the ones who add spice to our lives. They show us new and different points of view that we may have missed. They take everything one step further and indeed make life interesting for all.

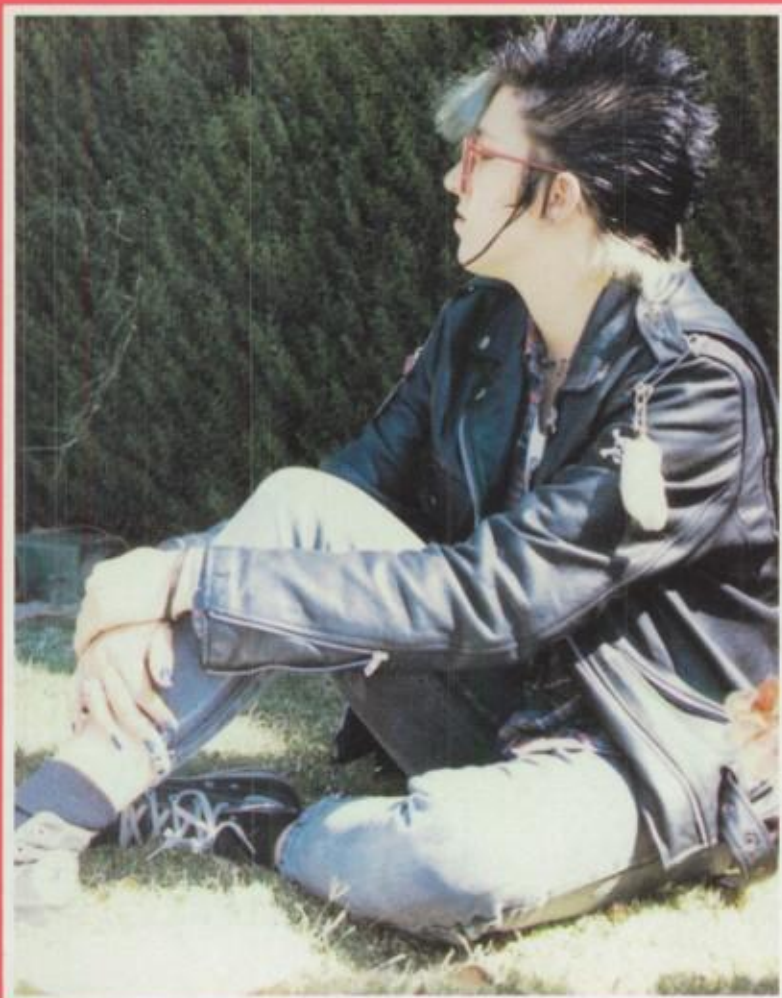

The decision to be outrageous or not to be outrageous is one that we are all faced with at one time or another. Making that choice could very well color the rest of your life. One might choose not to leave the safety of the group for the glare of the individual style, but then again, how many of us enjoy being criticized because of the way we are or the way we choose to express ourselves.

Thus, whenever you notice that one sparkling person, be kind and remember: he/she is truly the more individualistic and the more outrageous of us all.

◀ Wild and pensive. Although Cheryl McVyker sits pensively on the senior lawn, she still manages to make a statement.

▼ Terrorist on the loose. Art teacher, Mr. Schmidt regularly takes the right brain cells hostage in order to release the students' left creative cells.

◀◀ Revved up and ready. Seniors, David Carpenter and Ross Albers exude enthusiasm at a Trojan football game.

SENIOR CLASS

SS of 1987

Homecoming

We Made It Happen in '87

Homecoming '86 was indeed an exciting time for all. It began during the summer for the ASB. We chose our theme, "MAKING IT HAPPEN" and assigned each person with a big job for the big event.

For the school, the festivities began on Wednesday, October 22. We had a slide show presentation set to music that captured the candidates at their best. We saw our five favorite senior girls, Emily Carrillo, Jennifer Marnik, Rosa Mata, Claudia Orozco, and Kristy Smith strut down the aisle for us, the voting public.

The next day, we had a Nerd Day competition for the candidates. Each girl dressed up in a nerd type costume and piled whipped cream high on top of their heads. Then they ate a plate of jello without using their hands. The girls showed a lot of class as they tackled the events with the aggression of a football player. The overall winner was our lovely Princess Emily.

That same night, we held the homecoming dance in our gym. We featured the Stratus Mobile Lights and Sounds System. They videotaped our events and replayed them for all to see and enjoy. The candidates were once again introduced as they were escorted by the lucky men in their lives. The dance was a smashing success as the decorations of streamers and posters gave the gym a touch of class.

On Thursday night, the ASB had an all night decorating party. We blew up balloons, tied ribbons, taped foil, made posters, and set up chairs for Friday's big assembly. We took the gym and transformed it into a balloon lover's paradise.

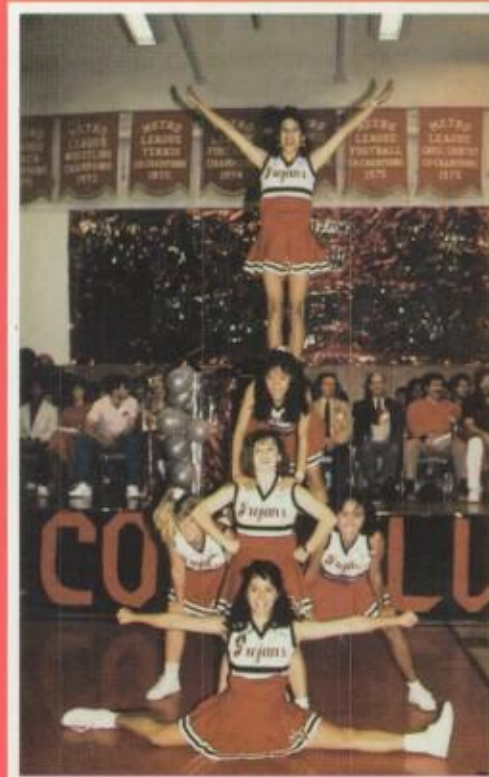

Finally, the big day arrived. October 24 was here and so were half the people who ever graduated from CPH. The assembly was a rousing event that got everyone's adrenaline going. It was smooth sailing all the way through, and everywhere you looked on campus our Trojan colors shone through, either through the Trojan red clothes of each student or through the tons of posters put up by the pepleaders.

That night was filled with excitement and anticipation for all those involved. Although the Trojans were losing at the half, the band put on a spectacular field show and our queen, Claudia Orozco, was announced the winner. Their girls were escorted down the aisle by their fathers and were saluted by the attached units and rockets overhead. The spectacular fireworks display thrilled the crowd and capped off a week full of excitement for all.

▼ Revenge of the nerd. Homecoming Princess, Rosa Mata, shows she's a good sport by participating in the nerd for a day event.

▲ Free ride. Robert Rackley and Jeff Roberts make life a little easier for Tommy Trojan, Jeff Fenn and Helen of Troy, Kongphet Inkhamheng.

► Taking it to the top. The J.V. cheerleading squad shows skill and expertise as they take it all the way to the top.

◀▲ Before. The gym looked sparse and bare before the ASB Cabinet struck the night before the homecoming assembly.

▲ After. A gym filled with balloons, people and pride was the result of the all-night decorating party.

► Lucky winner. Princess Claudia Orozco looked radiant & happy as she was announced the lucky winner.

▲▲ California girl. Princess Kristy Smith is escorted down the aisle by her father Mr. Smith.

▲ Arm in arm. The lovely Princess Rosa Mata was escorted by her father Mr. Mata.

◀ So sweet. Looking stunning as ever the lovely Princess Jennifer Marnik was escorted by her father Mr. Checketts.

▲ Held in abeyance. Princess Emily waits patiently with her father, Mr. Carrillo, for the answer to the burning question.

▼ An uplifting experience. Seniors Azella Caballero and Hector Garcia celebrate in an uplifting way at the social.

▲ Number one. Seniors Mickie Billups, Chris Andaya, Debbie Malboeuf and Ivonne Kamrath proclaim, "The Class of '87 is #1."

▲ S.O.B. (Slide over baby). Varsity cheerleader, Cathy Thompson slides across the Senior lawn at the second Senior social.

Celebration

Movin' Violation

This year at Castle Park High School we took our celebrations seriously. We had socials, pep assemblies, rallies and dances. We also celebrated at each sporting event, showing what true Trojan pride is all about. Each of these events required and received plenty of student cooperation. We all took part and enjoyed the celebrations of life, youth and of winning seasons.

The most frequent celebrations here at Castle Park High School were those "awesome" senior socials. The seniors were united as one and let the entire school know who was the "Class with Class." They celebrated by converging on the senior lawn, gorging on pizza and sodas and dancing to the sounds of various deejays. These events were not only enjoyed by the senior class but by the entire school as they all showed their appreciation by dancing on the stage.

Furthermore, celebrations were generated through pep assemblies and rallies. These two events served as inspirational tools needed to capture students' imaginations and gear the athletes for a fight to the finish. These events gave us rowdies a chance to show the school exactly what we stood for — TROJAN pride and excellence.

We also took time to celebrate at our various dances. We took advantage of the opportunity to meet new people and avoid homework (for a few hours at least).

Our final outlet of celebratory behavior was through our sporting events. Whether it was a championship football game, a cross-country Metro final or a basketball playoff game, we all got wild and crazy in order to present the proper Trojan image.

▲ They're kickin' it. This year's Pep Club kicked up their heels at a varsity football game.

Student Government

Leaders of Today and Tomorrow

This year's ASB cabinet has been fundamental in planning all my favorite spirit days, class competitions and our big event — homecoming. They set the mood for the year and kept the school alive in spirit. The ASB was responsible for creating an atmosphere of fun and frolic while constantly reminding us to keep up with our studies and our quest for success. They are an important part of the school's daily life and of its future events. As one cabinet member put it, "To be an ASB officer or cabinet member is like taking one's destiny into one's own hands."

▲ Sleep at last. Cute and sweet Myra Cotoner crashes in the ASB after an all-night decorating marathon for Homecoming.

► All for Glory. Castle Park ASB'er Patty Amador struggles her way through an Olympic event at ASB leadership camp.

◀ Head honcho. As ASB advisor Mr. Rindone confers with the cabinet in making decisions concerning school activity.

▲ The right to vote. Attorney General, Steve Noriega assists in verifying that voters are registered during the Homecoming election.

◀ Money honey. Being Tribune of Finance, Yvonne Haugen, entails tabulating all the money spent and received by the ASB.

GUESS what's in VOGUE

▲▲ Vans man. First it was the deck shoe type Vans, now it's the high top Vans.

▲ Hairy stripes. A new trend among many football players was to shave stripes on their heads and so it is with David Carpenter.

▲► Mary Poppins? The Mary Poppins style shoes were a favorite among the female genre.

► Too hip. Diane Kim shows what it takes to dress like a woman of the 80's.

◀ Dress in time. Danny McCormick and Aida Ortiz are what lookin' good is all about.

▲ Wearing it well. The latest trends in casual wear are modeled by Diane Kim, Martha Carbajal, Enrique Gonzalez, Debbie Davis, Albert Lacson, and Christina Silva.

▲ Presidential flare. ASB President, Jennifer Mar-nik wears the hip, flared out skirt — a quite popular item for the women on campus.

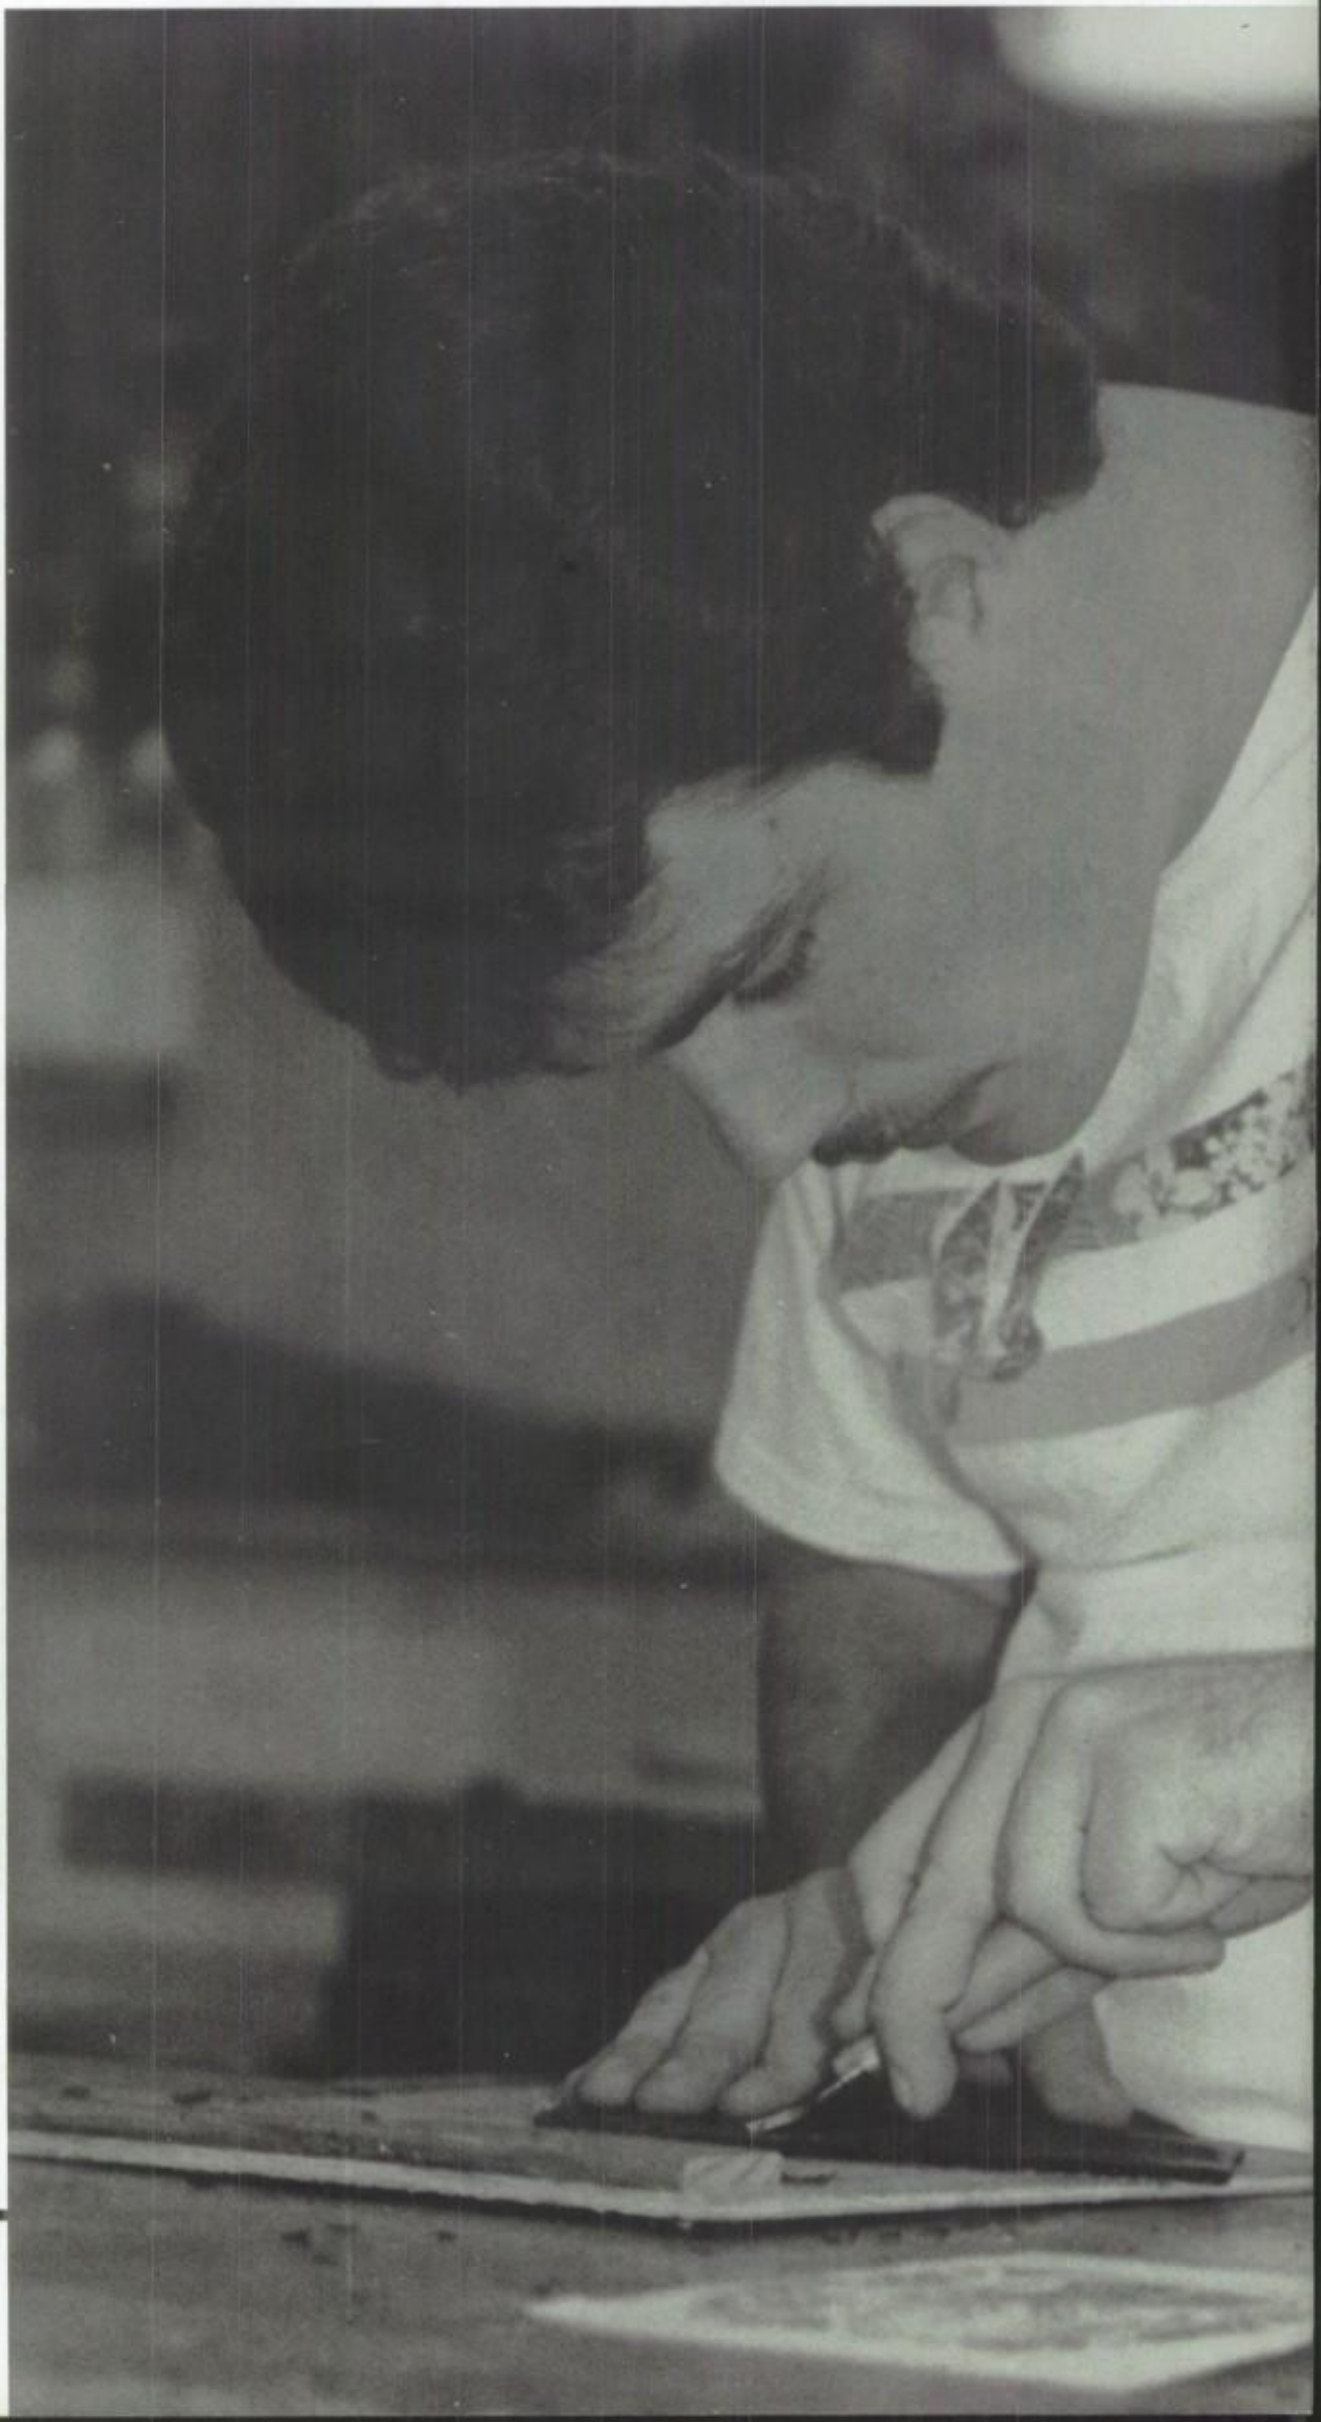

elass Action

▼ Chemistry anyone. Sherri Ronsario, Phillip Alcala, and Aliza Canciller take a great care with the chemicals in Chemistry.

▲ Looking for perfection. Cifuentes Uuses looks to the board for his notes.

▼ Talented. Senior Isaac Smith manages to type his way through lessons with a broken arm.

▼▼ Oh soo skilled. Randy Tolbert impresses those around him by showing his skill with a saw.

Sports

Trojans Thrive on Sweat, Pain and Glory

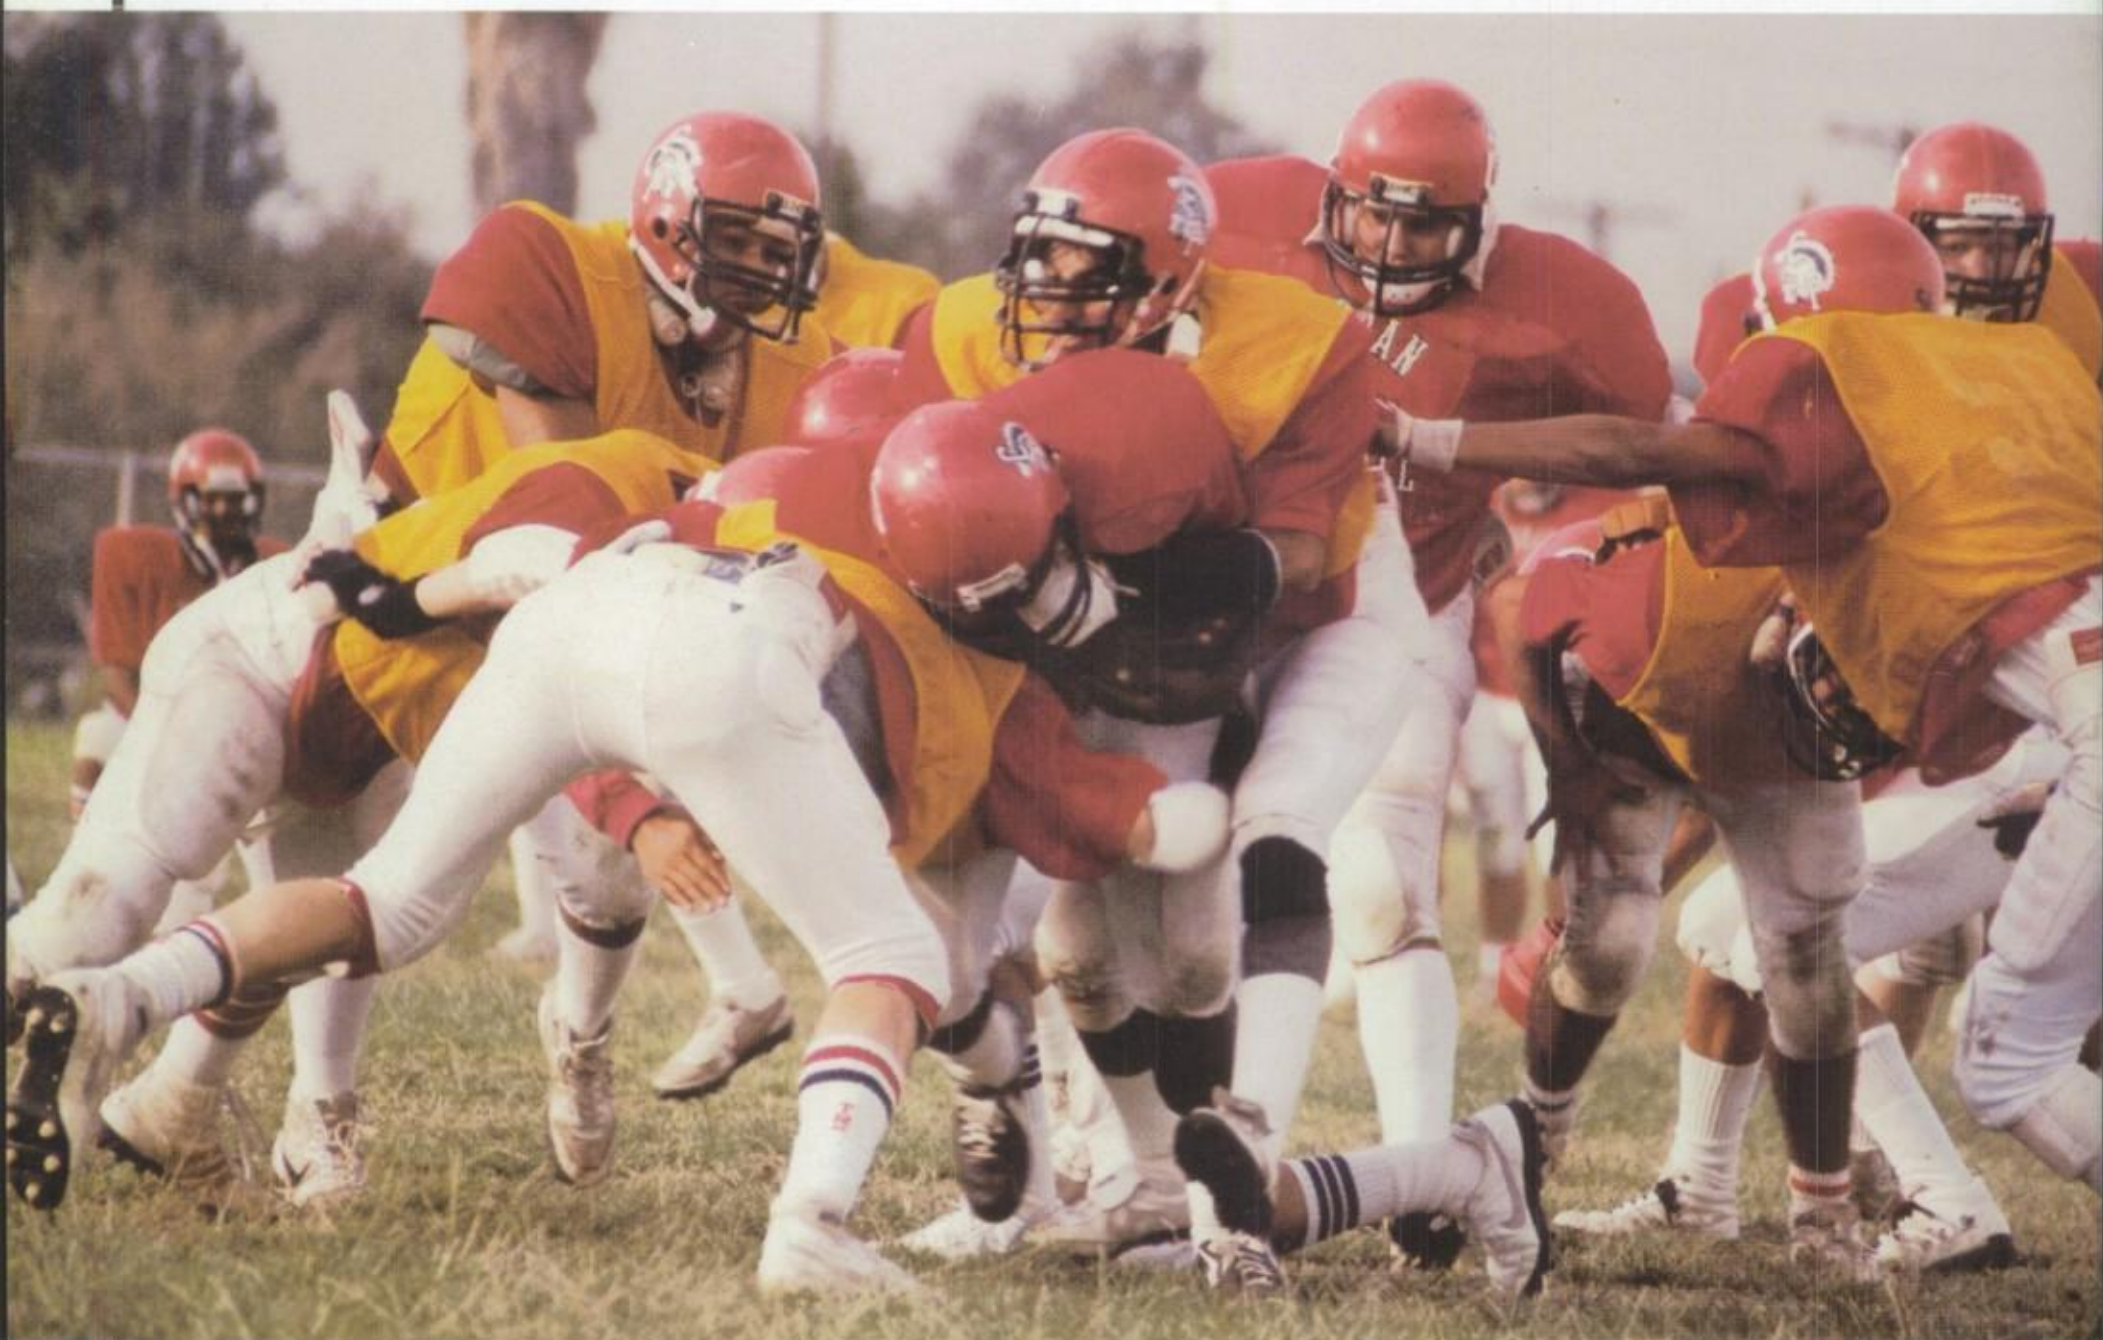

CPH is a sport's fan's heaven. As the No. 1 CPH sports fan I'm the one at every game, yelling myself into laryngitis, gloating over every victory, but most of all, appreciating all the sweat and pain which makes that victory possible.

My choices are many from football to basketball, volleyball to wrestling, track to baseball, softball to soccer. Plus this year I have three new sports to explore: tennis, swimming and golf.

I'm such a fan I even go to practice. I've found out that the athlete's life isn't a bed of roses and the party life. Try this day on. School all day, the pressure of keeping the grade point at a C, practice all afternoon until supper (NO junk food), strenuous exercise. The athlete has to do double time just to keep up with the homework, practices and out of district games. And demanding! The coaches demand punctuality (if you're not on time, you can't suit up), the teachers demand homework on time; your body demands rest, and you, you demand victory.

I love to win and so does every player. But, I wonder, is it the only object? My athlete friends keep telling me about things like pride, teamwork, responsibility and friendship. This, they tell me, is the real scoreboard. So no matter what the score everyone at CPH wins big.

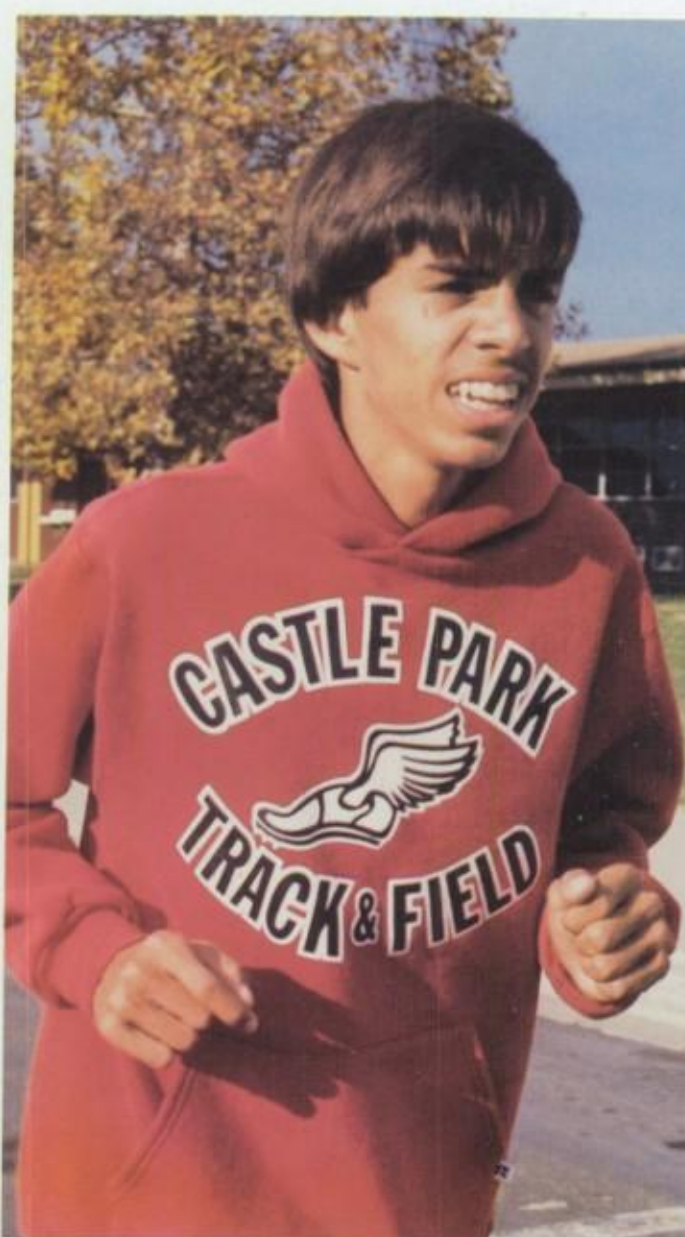

◀ Leading the way. Senior Frankie Salgado leads the mighty Trojan football on to an action packed homecoming game.

◀◀ Dog pile on the receiver. The Varsity receivers seem to have the toughest job on the team.

◀ Fast and furious. Senior Karl Manly practices daily in order to keep up his record breaking pace.

► Beast of burden. Art Guild President, Annabelle Cortez, works with the silk screen board, which puts out pep ribbons one at a time.

▼ Stocking up. After the depletion of the lunch supply, Trojan Knights member, James Hardie, gets the ASB ready for the after school rush.

▲ War paint. Before the start of the play, President of the Drama Club, Shanon McGrath, readys himself to do battle with unforgotten lines and his antagonists.

►► Worth a thousand words. Speculum staff members, Scott Anderson and Frankie Salgado, examine newly developed photographs.

Organizations

Creating Campus Harmony

Here I go again. Another year of homework-happy teachers, discipline-happy administrators and restless students. But that's what all these clubs are here for — to make it all a little more fun. One problem though, how will I ever decide which clubs to join? There are so many of them, and even some new ones this year.

The clubs and organizations range from the Senate to the Padre fan club. There are clubs for surfing and skiing, clubs for German and French, Performing Arts and Music organizations. My choices range from doing artwork to going out and competing academically with other schools.

There's SADD, The Art Guild, the CSF club, a speech team and so many others. (How will I ever choose?) They all sound so good I just can't decide.

Later: I finally decided what clubs to choose. It was hard but I did it. Now as the school year comes to an end I'm happy to say I did something to make it even better, I joined the clubs that appealed to me the most. And I'm glad of it. They taught me responsibility and leadership. But the best thing that I found out, is that school isn't all just homework, but fun as well — especially at CASTLE PARK!!

Band

Pride of the South Bay Marches On

I awoke at 7 a.m. on Saturday morning, groggy from lack of sleep. I quickly dressed in my black levis and my Synchronicity II shirt. I shaved and got ready as fast as I could, grabbing my uniform, checking each item off in my head . . . pants, jacket, gloves, shoes, spats, shako. I had it all!

I then headed up to school. I arrived and saw that once again I was late. I grabbed my trumpet out of the band room and headed to the parking lot.

Joining in, I went around the lot five times. I nervously reminded myself to keep in step and still play the music. Then on to buses and off to the Maytime Band Review. The ride over was boisterous as we danced, sang and yelled our way to the parade.

"Hurry, hurry," yelled Bangle as we left the bus. We had been placed in the front of the parade. Dressing hurriedly we quickly formed out sectionals and went over our parts.

Now in the parade, we barely had time to play our number through once. I made sure to stay in my diagonal and in rank and file. I stayed in step worrying about the sweatshogs next to me and their rhythm. We began.

I heard the crowd go wild. "Yeah," I thought, "this is what it's all about." We are the pride of the South Bay and EVERYONE knows it. That's why we've taken sweepstakes five times in a row.

► Chipmunk Hernandez. Ronnie Hernandez hyperextends his cheeks in order to produce that sweepstakes winning sound.

◀◀ Saluting the crowd. For the homecoming pre-game show the band thrilled the crowd with an ear-splitting musical salute.

▲ Trojans. Letterettes Christina Silva, Marjie Ramirez, and Maribel Nava stand proud at the end of their fold.

▲ Keeping in step. The band practices their razzle dazzle as they parade around the parking lot.

▲► Doing it with pride. Tall Flag Co-Captain, Rene Valdivia shows how snap, smile and pride make for a terrific performance.

After School

Freetime Frolics

At 2:25 the ringing of the bell announces the end of the school day and the beginning of after school life.

"It's about time," I mutter to myself as I dash to my locker. I stuff my books into my thoroughly trashed locker and amazingly cram it shut. On my way to the ASB for my after school snack, I wave to a few Trojanettes that I know as they run off to practice. After I get my Snickers and my medium orange I join the "Quad Bunch" and we discuss the endless possibilities of what we can do this weekend.

One of the suggestions is a game of basketball at Pete's house. Monica replies that she has to babysit Saturday afternoon. A few others suggest the movies, followed by a stop at McDonald's. We ask Jeff, who is sitting a table over with his girlfriend what his plans for the weekend are. "I'm going to bike out to Southwestern College and back," he replies. "We're going to the game tonight, then we're going to Liberty Pizza afterwards. Why don't you join us?"

"I work at Pizza Hut," Elayne replies. "Why don't you come by and visit me." We all planned on going to Pizza Hut after the game. Joe began telling us about the barbeque he had planned for Sunday at Coronado Beach and we are all invited. So we had something to do Friday night, Saturday afternoon, all day Sunday, leaving open Saturday night.

For Saturday night we decided that we would cruise down to T. J. to go party and dance at a few of our favorite discos. Having planned out our whole weekend in less than 15 minutes gave us a feeling of accomplishment. We congratulated ourselves and gathered up our stuff to head home and get ready for the game.

Ah yes, the best of life is life after school.

▲ Shooting for the stars. Freshman Pete Mar-nik practices daily in hopes to one day be a basketball stud.

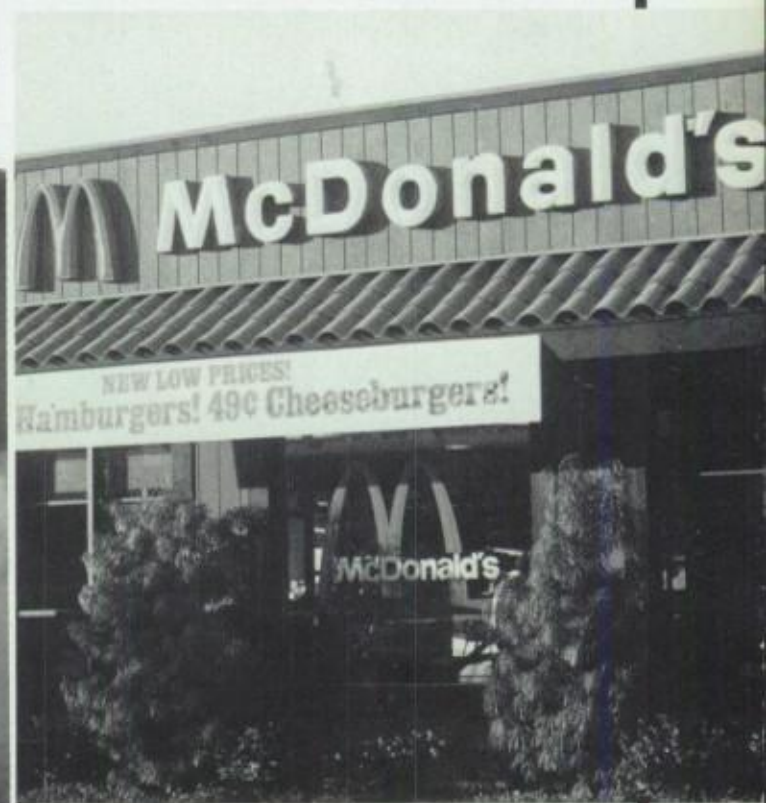

◀ Motherly patience. Monica Martinez displays her skills in handling children as she babysits after school.

▲ Hungry? McDonald's is often a meeting place of sorts for starving students at lunch and after sporting events.

Think of us as the New Generation
Through thick and thin,
we've finally reached
our destination . . .
We've reached a time
for maturity to play its role,
Though our high school
feelings
will never grow old . . .
We've strung together our memories,
good and bad,
probably the best we'll ever have.

Remember our first day of Junior High?
When everything was new and we felt very shy . . .
But our friendships
grew stronger
as the years flew by . . .
As our high school days
get closer to ending,
May the best of luck
be with Seniors '87,
because for us,
it's going to be a whole new beginning

exchanging snow for sun

One student at CPH is enjoying the sun more than the rest of us. That student is Petra Hellbom, a senior exchange student from Stockholm, Sweden.

When asked how Sweden compared with the United States, she replied "There is no comparison!" One thing she particularly likes is the climate. "In Sweden, I would be all bundled up right now and it would be snowing. But here it is just like summer." She admits that the cold is nice, but for now, she enjoys the warm weather while she stays here with Grace Bresh.

However, teenage life is more comparable than climate. Free time is often spent at discotheques and just 'partying' with friends, as it is in America. There is also a large variety of music, but the differences between groups is more clearly cut, and there is more group rivalry. "Once a friend of mine got beat up just because he had short hair." The skinheads hate 'synths', and rockers hate skinheads, and so on. Petra considers herself a synth, meaning that she listens to mostly danceable, synthesizer music. Some internationally known bands such as Depeche Mode and Simple Minds, as well as European bands such as DAF and Kraftwerk are her favorites.

One memorable experience American teenagers can relate to is when she spent all night in the snow waiting to get the best seats for a Depeche Mode concert in Stockholm. So although the 'scene' is different, many of the practices are the same.

Another difference is in schooling. "In Stockholm, teachers don't care about tardiness or whether or not you go to class . . . and they don't count points like they do here. Teachers grade you individually, on how well you do on tests and on their general impression of you." And after school? "Here, every day after school you have HOMEWORK. In Sweden, I just leave school, take the subway downtown, and come home at night."

After graduation at Castle Park, she will return to Stockholm for two more years of schooling. She says that she hopes to someday return to America, maybe even to live here.

Students donate $1,050 for needy family

This past Christmas Castle Park adopted a nine person family for the holiday. Jennifer Marnik and Ann-Marie Gallagher headed the program to raise the required $500.

To everyone's amazement students pulled to gether and donated a tremendous $1,050, doubling the required amount. Mrs. Barbara Clark's and Dr. Willie Lassiter's classes brought in over $130 a piece, while Mrs. Martha McDonald's and Mr. Robert Vigil's classes raised close to $75 a piece. Ms. Sandra Brownell and Mr. Gray Elliott made generous contributions by matching whatever their classes donated.

During the first weekend of vacation Ann-Marie and Jennifer shopped for the required items to be donated, which included a pair of shoes and an article of clothing for each family member and at least one toy for any child under twelve. Because of the extra money raised they were able to buy each member a complete outfit. The father received a Members Only jacket and like all the other men a pair of Levi's. The oldest boy was given a long-sleeved shirt and shaker sweater. The younger boys, age 12 and 10, were given plaid shirts. The mother was sent a cardigan sweater and a sweatshirt. A denim skirt with a print blouse and shaker sweater were given to the eldest daughter, while the two younger girls received black Levi's, light blue jeans, with a panda bear shirt and a blue shirt with a white lace collar. The one-year old baby girl was given a pair of Osh-Kosh overall's, a shirt, and pink sweatshirt jacket.

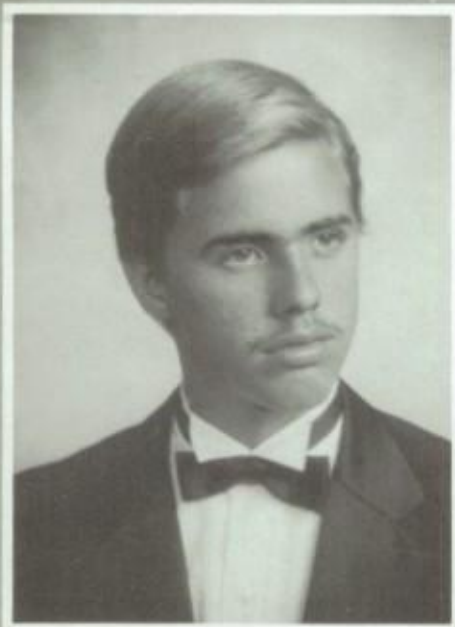

Shopping for toys and extras was the best part of the spree according to the two seniors. They bought a skateboard, an astronaut Cabbage Patch Kid, and an A.G. Bear. Connect Four, Life, and Clue were bought for the entire family to enjoy along with a Math Star to help the kids master math. For the baby they bought spongy tub blocks, color cups and a Shapes and Slides Playground.

With the extra money they bought a set of Wear-Ever pots and pans, a radio and cassette player, a small Kodak camera, including extra film and batteries. For fun they purchased ten coloring books and a Crayola 72 set of crayons along with three giant rolls of wrapping paper, bags of bows and reams of curling ribbon. To accompany the cassette player two Christmas tapes and a story-book tape were bought.

To make the package complete Jennifer and Ann-Marie took the remaining $240, purchased a $100 gift certificate from Food Basket and spent the rest on unperishable food items, such as: sugar, flour, oatmeal, rice, apple juice, and many other goods.

Everything was taken to the Salvation Army on December 23 and picked up by the family on Christmas Eve. Of the student body Ann-Marie said, "All Castle Park High students are to be commended for their show of pride and spirit. Everyone showed what the true meaning of Christmas really is."

Rockers of Tomorrow

Headed for the top

As you may or may not know, here on campus we have an explosive rock group that goes by the name of "CHOICE." This band consists of three ambitious seniors; Danny Manjarrez, Jimmy Islas and David Lieras.

These three musicians have been rocking together since 1983, when they met in the ninth grade. On this fateful day, Danny and Jimmy got together to compare drum sets. At Danny's house they discovered that Jimmy had and knew how to play a bass guitar. At that moment they decided to form a band. After going through several guitarists, they finally decided on David and when they played their first song as a group — New Year's Day by U2 — it was magic.

Our home grown rockers have a number of their very own original songs. Their first one came to be in an almost accidental fashion. David knew a series of chords and he put them together to create his first song. Danny provided the drum beat and Jimmy kicked in the bass line and the lyrics. This sincere musician based the words on one of his own personal experiences. Their music comes straight from the heart.

This group has developed and grown despite their humble beginnings, they started out with one small amplifier to which the bass and microphone was hooked and borrowed instruments. They now have two PAS cabinets of 15 inch speakers and horn, brand new microphones, electronic drums, a guitar and guitar effects for Jimmy's own bass. This band has been moving straight up in the world.

The band one day hopes to gain respect through the use of their music, they want to be revered and admired as they have admired such groups and individuals as Rush, The Police and David's favorite "Daddy," Edward Van Halen. The guys want to touch the public with their songs. They refuse to be just another rock group. They will be the brightest star in the midst of the stellar universe.

Our boys began playing at different stages of their lives. Danny began playing at the tender age of three with the arrival of his first blue Bugs Bunny drum set, this event has dictated his life since. David began his career in the fourth grade at an all-school musical assembly, he started playing the clarinet, his love of music led him to the guitar. Jimmy began his career for more practical reasons, he picked up the bass and piano in the eighth grade, after he decided to give up girls. Through their individual efforts these boys have evolved into musicians of a superior quality.

The boys take great pride in their work and their music, when out on gigs they play mostly danceable tunes with a mix of strong rock and roll. They prefer songs with a strong beat as opposed to the spear chucking, beat-boxing music popular with today's youth. Our band believes rhythm patterns coming off a synthesizer doesn't constitute a song. In between gigs they try to practice as much as possible. At the present time, they do not have enough hours in the day to really get into their careers, but as soon as they enter college, they are going to dedicate themselves fully to conquering San Diego, Then the state, then the world!!!

Our band is happily looking forward to many, many things such as their first hit single, their first gold record, their first concert tour and eventually their first backstage party. But until then they are going to practice hard and rock your socks off!!!

VARSITY FOOTBALL

South Bay League Champs

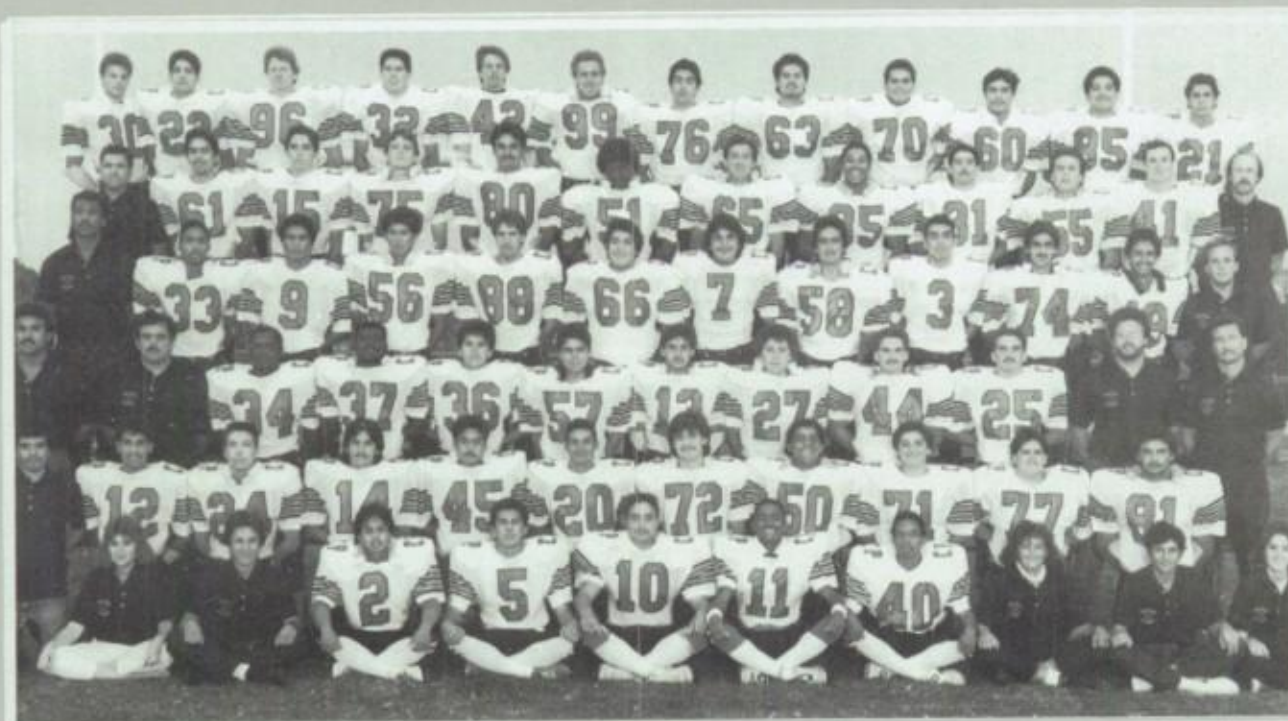

1986 will be the year to repeat as South Bay League Champs. The varsity football team repeated as league champs for the second year in a row. Their overall record was 4-7.

This year the team started off the season with a big win, but hit a landslide of losses after that. As Coach Richard Oliver explained once "We will play, like we practice. I guarantee you that." And sometimes the team just did exactly that. The games that counted were just outstanding, and then the team played like they were supposed to all year long. Coach Oliver predicted, "The team with the least mistakes will win the game."

This year's battle for the league title was a real dog fight! Why? Because of the talent in all the other teams in the league. Every high school football player's dream is to play in the San Diego CIF Championship game in Jack Murphy Stadium. But first, every team has to get past the first-round play-off game.

The football team consisted a lot of key players. But as Coach Oliver pointed out, as the important games came along, they all played like a family. If they won, they all won as a team, even for the players that didn't see much playing time during the season. And if they lost, they all lost as a team, because no one should be blamed for losing a game. "It's a team effort for everybody involved in the program," he concluded. In Castle Park's football history, no team has won a league title two years in a row. The Trojan's won the league battle, but lost the CIF war.

JV FOOTBALL

Dogs of War

Under the control of first year head coach Sam Boggs of the Junior Varsity football team at Castle Park, the team ended the year with a record of 7-3 but lost the league title with a 1-2 record. It's the second year the team had a winning season, but not in league play. As one player commented "It must be an omen ending the season with the same record as last year."

Five key players who returned to the JV squad this year were moved up near the end of the varsity season. They are Quarterback Brian Bane; Running Back Donald Miner; Receiver Juan Beltran; Offensive Lineman Roger Van Orden; and Defensive Lineman Tony Reyes.

Next year will be a promising season for a South Bay title. With new recruits coming next year it will be an uphill battle for a starting position. With the veterans going to the varsity all the players that didn't see much playing time will play much more, and will show 110% effort on the field.

Run Like the Wind

The Castle Park High cross-country team finished the 1986 season in triumph. With an 8-2 league record they clinched the South Bay league championship banner under the leadership of coach Forrest Partch.

The boys' team was led by Senior Karl Manly who was chosen runner of the year and four other runners who were named in the top ten. They were Jerry Pinedo, Gary Tompkins, Brad Grady and Robert Bokma. The girls' team finished in third place in league competition with Christina Contino finishing in the top ten.

The statistics were equally impressive. Karl Manly set a team record of 17:14 in the 3.1 mile race and topped it off with another course record in the CIF Preliminaries. The team placed fourth in the CIF Preliminaries for the 3.1 mile course.

All in all, they have set the standard for the cross-country teams of the future to match.

Although the volleyball varsity team record was 0-13, it was a great learning year for both players and coaches alike.

Both were feeling their way this year. It was the first year of coaching for Mrs. Charlene Boggs, varsity coach, and Ms. Sherry Walker, junior varsity coach.

The players were not used to one another. However, things are looking brighter down the road. For one thing, after a year of coaching under their belts, both coaches feel that they can coach the Trojan volleyball team more efficiently now.

The brightest hope for next year is the fact that the team is only losing three players. And with the talented JV, who went 6-5, third in their league, it looks very hopeful for next year.

JV VOLLEYBALL

Sky's the Limit

If spectators went home after the varsity volleyball game, they missed some of CPH's most exciting volleyball games. The JV team went 8-6 overall and placed third in the league. Although lacking in height, they made up for it in speed.

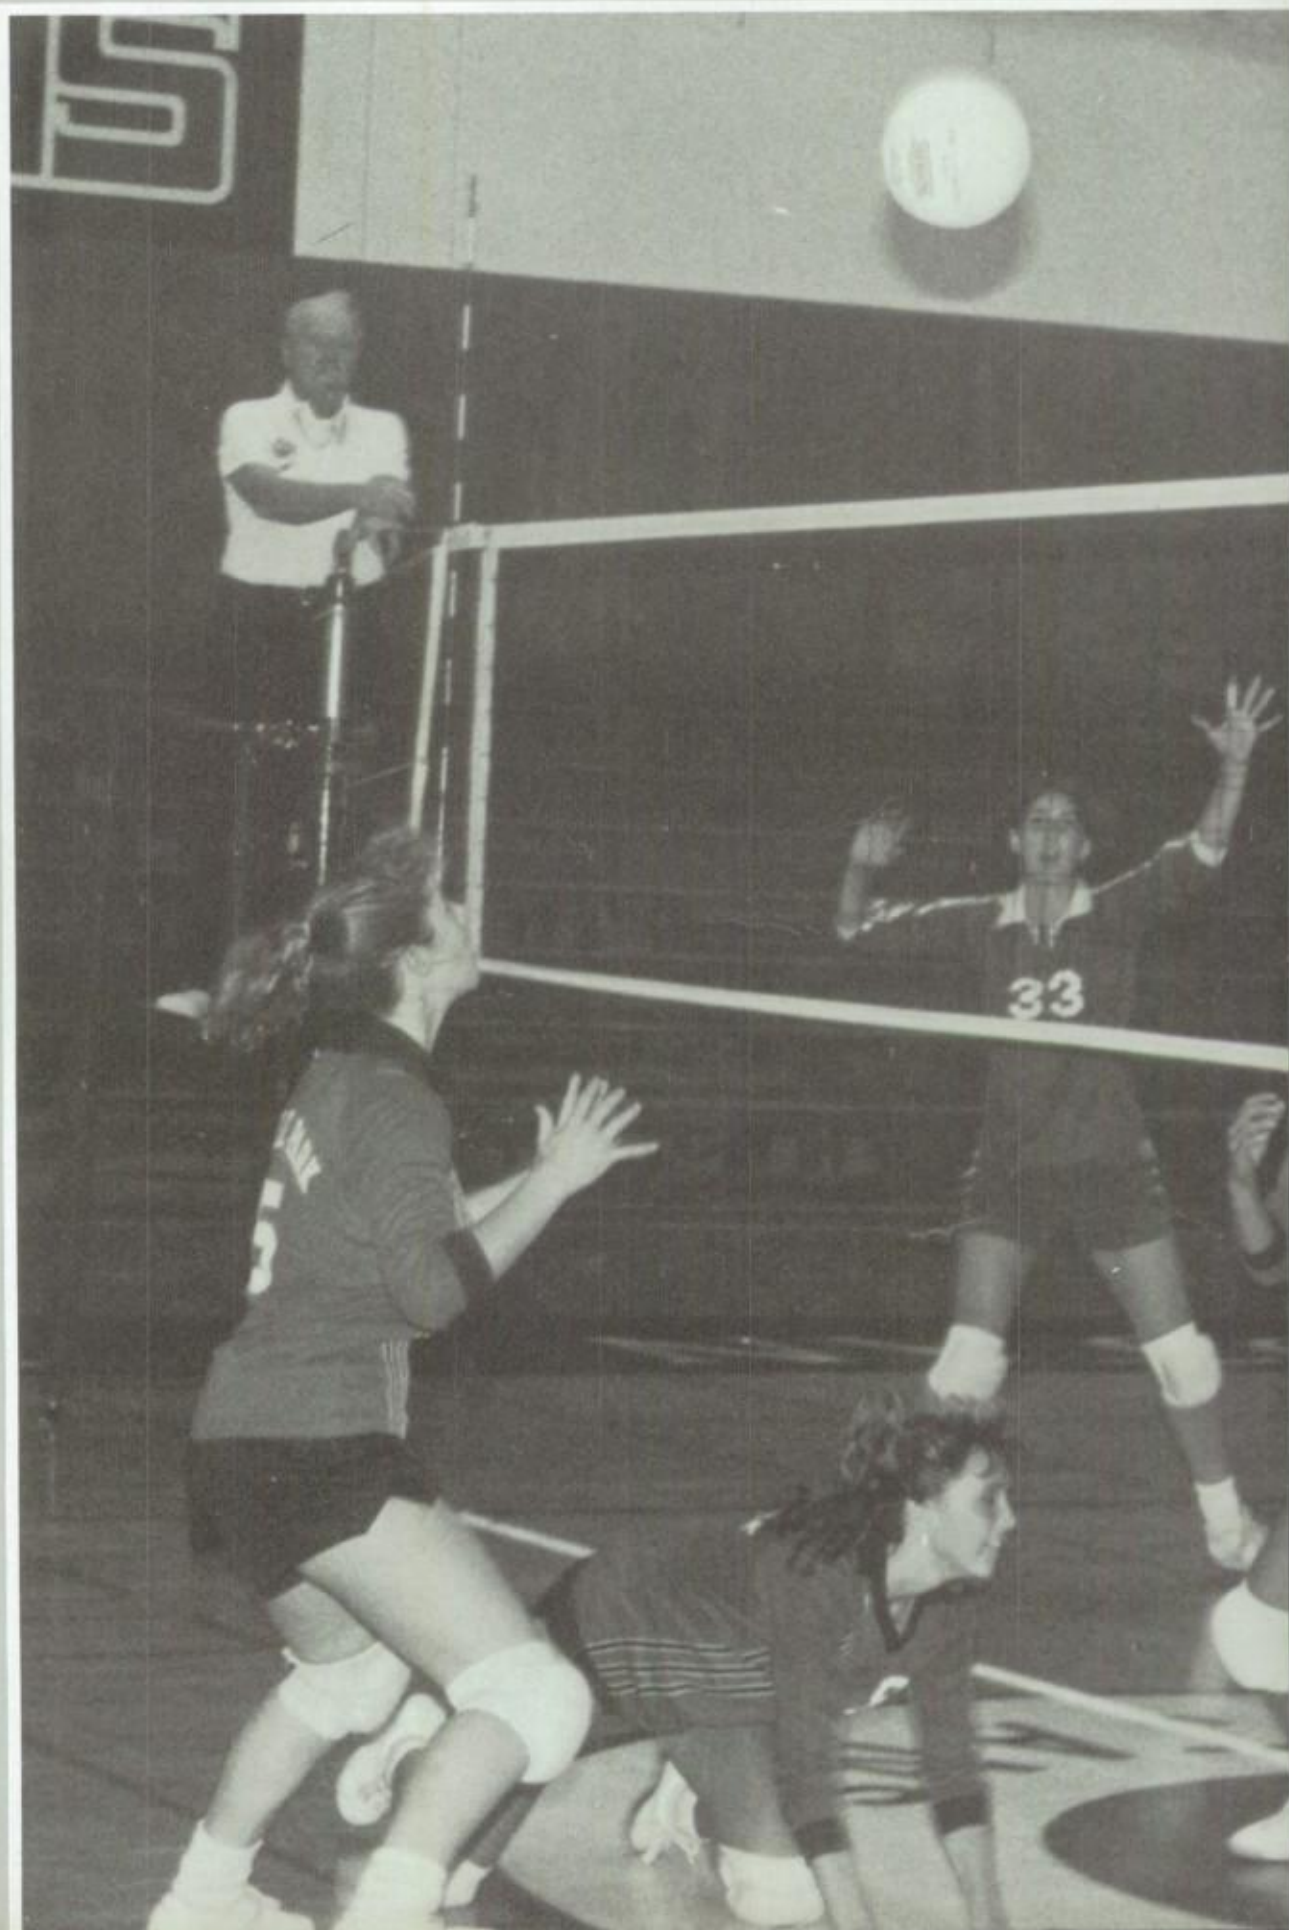

They were at their best in adversity.

Several times they were down as much as 13 to 3 and made a comeback to win the match. This team, win or lose, always played a great game, according to Coach Sherry Walker. "The players worked as a unit and that's what made a winning season."

WOMEN'S TENNIS

Love Haters

Girls' tennis has been revived this year at CPH. After about 10 years, the sport was offered again to girls. "We found a lot of interest among the girls, so we organized the team," explains Coach Jim Finnerty.

In this building year the coach did not expect a good season; the record was 2 to 11. What he did get was a lot of dedication from the girls. Practice began each day at 3 and ended at 5 p.m., and each member of the team was there, on time, every day.

"This year was just learning the game," Coach Finnerty stated, "Next year will be more of an effort and more concentration on improvement." The competition this year was against schools which have had teams for five or more years and was, as one team member put it, "very heavy."

Kierstan Law was voted most valuable player; Janet Rodriguez, most improved, and Elizabeth Lee, captain.

This year's Trojan Basketball Team has made last year's "Dream Season" a recurring reality. The team was ranked No. 1 in the county. Overall the team nabbed an impressive 20-4 record.

The team earned an equally big reputation in the county for winning 26 straight conference games and having Vince Bucca named player of the month in the San Diego Union for February. In the Montgomery Tournament, which the Trojans won, Vince was selected the most valuable player.

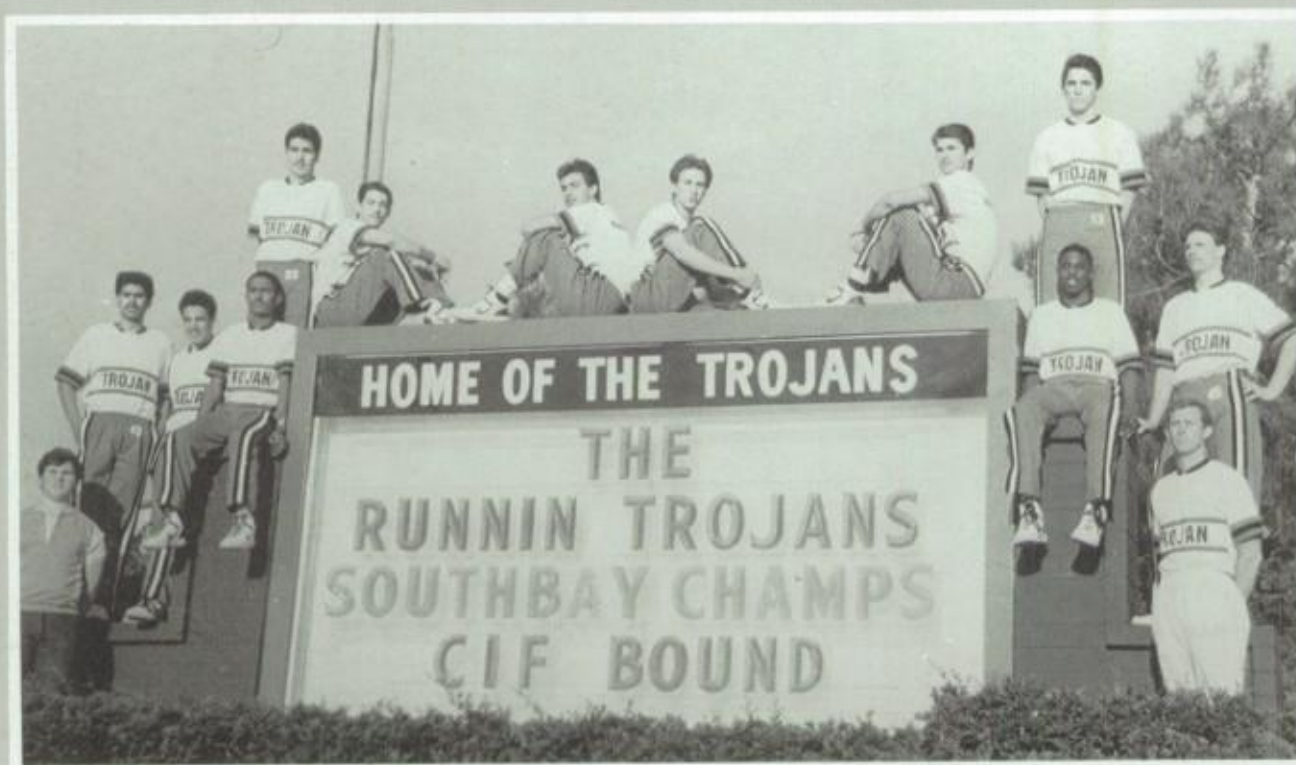

Coach Forest Partch described the team's fast paced style as "a fast break with a pressing defense all over the court." This is where their nickname, the "Runnin' Trojans" came from. Their games are nothing but action. If a fan were to look away for one second they might wind up asking "Did we just score?"

The team's most pivotal game, according to Vince Bucca was their matchup with the Red Devils of Sweetwater High. He feels so because of the fact they have one of the best teams in the county. A major factor in the team's winning style is the respect the players have for their coach. As Vince Bucca puts it, "We all respect him as a coach and as a person."

Coach Partch seems to have the same kind of respect for his men as they have for him. When asked who the best players on his team were he replied, "Vince Bucca has been 'Mr. Inside,' he is our leading scorer and rebounder. Javier Nunez has been our 'Mr. Outside,' he is our leader in assists, steals, and is our second leading scorer. He is the man who runs the Trojan Machine on the court."

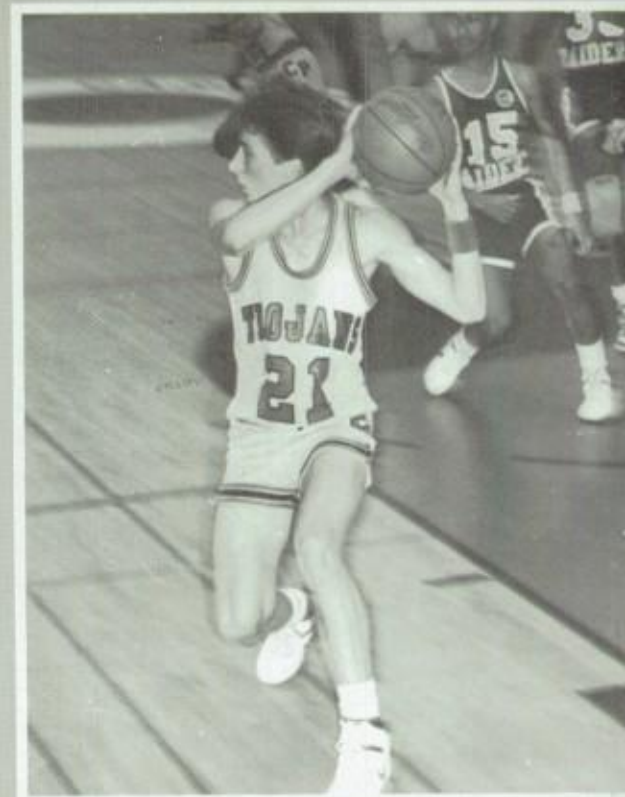

In Coach Partch's words, "the Trojan success is doing your very best and working to your full potential."

BOYS' JV BASKETBALL

One on One

JV basketball did not compete with the outstanding varsity team, but they did take a stand of their own on the court with a 17-6 record and 10-3 in league.

They were still the most impressive ball team that I have ever had," remarked Coach John Stanton. "We had a rough start with attitudes and a lack of self confidence, but after winning the last of our six games, it all changed."

Now, the question is, how well will the JV do as replacements for the graduating varsity players? Both the JV and varsity coaches are convinced that they have the ability, but it will all depend on the players' commitment during the off season.

Defense Is the game

The Castle Park Lady Trojans advanced to the CIF Play-offs this year nipping first place Southwest Raiders, ranked tenth in the 2A League. Throughout that game, both teams played evenly, with the score 42-23 going into the final minutes of the game. Lana Luli, a sophomore and a leading scorer for the team, put in the winning basket with 20 seconds remaining on the clock. That iced the game and left the final score, 44-43.

Troy entered the CIF Play-offs with an overall record of 10 and 13. Having lost to the Ramona Bulldogs, Troy's final record was 10 and 14 with the league record of 7-6. Led by Coach Jim Finnerty, it was a fairly successful season, considering last year's statistics of six wins overall. His main goal for this year was to win 12 games, beat Southwest and make it to the CIF Play-offs. "Two out of three is not bad at all," stated Coach Finner-

ty. Next year the team will lose three seniors which are Jennifer Ruble, Marilyn Goodman and Natalie Ward. Although the team will be losing three key players, the returning Lady Trojans are Lana Luli (10), Wendy Smith (10), Diane Dailey (11), Antoinette Iwatsu (11), Kiersten Law (11), Mary Mudry (11) and Karen Wylie (11). JV BASKETBALL

Shooting to the Top

The girls' basketball team with the top defense in the county happens to be the CPH JV girls' team. They ended their season with a 15-7 record after taking second place in summer league play.

Coach Michael Callahan said his team "started slow, played slow and ended slow while mowing down everyone in their way." This was their "patented offense." They managed to run over any and all obstacles on their road to an outstanding season record.

This year's top defensive player honors went to Freshman Debbie Davis and Sophomore Rosa Cordero. These girls "motivated the team with their aggressive, agitated, vicious defense," according to the proud coach. Lizeth Bracy, the floor general, took the heat on and off the court and ran her team through all kinds of pressure, according to Callahan.

Next year's goal is to beat Southwest High. If next year's team has the talent and determination of this year's, it should be no problem.

Break Even Season

"This season was both successful and a little disappointing," says Coach Paul Avalos of the boys' varsity soccer team. "Successful because we made CIF playoffs for the second consecutive year. However, we also lost in the first round for the second year," he says.

Although this year the varsity team had a break-even season, they had enough victories to obtain second place in the South Bay League 2A. They won 7 out of 10 league games.

"Perhaps the most exciting game was when we came back from trailing Southwest 2:0 to a 3:3 tie," says Half-back George de la Torre. "I think we had a very strong team, but we didn't take advantage of the opportunities when we had to," says Oli Jauregui. "However," says Center Full-back Sal Arrequin, "we never gave up."

Forward Sergio Hicks, Full-back Oli Jauregui, and Half-back Billy Gans were selected for the All South Bay League Team.

Power is the name of the game for boys' JV soccer team. "The team didn't have much experience, but it always had a lot of power," says Coach Antonio Rodriguez, a former Trojan soccer player (1973-75). The players put their best effort in every game and the result was an outstanding record of 10 wins and 1 loss.

German A. Chavez, a freshman, was promoted to varsity during the last game because of his good performance as midfielder. Manuel Osorio nabbed the most valuable offensive player, Oscar Ibarra, the most valuable defensive player, and German Chavez, the 100 percent award.

Mean Season

During this season Dave Jessen and the girls' soccer team went through some rough times. The girls started the season by winning two games in their division of the Raiders Tournament, but lost in the play-offs. The girls went on a losing streak by not scoring a goal since the tournament. The girls finished the season 0-11-2 in the Metro Conference.

The team had only 8 veterans and 12 rookies. During the season the stands were empty, but on the field 11 girls gave 110 percent until the final seconds of the clock. This season was Coach Jessen's worst season as head coach for girls' soccer.

This year's varsity squad lost only two seniors, leaving two vacant positions for next year's players. Those two seniors of the 86-87 squad are Becky Ledezma and Suzi Beall.

GIRLS' JV SOCCER

Up and Coming

A junior varsity team is meant as a learning and rebuilding experience for all players, and that is the case for the Castle Park Junior Varsity Girls' Soccer team. This was the time for all the new players to become oriented to the game of soccer. It was also time for them to experience the hardships and the rough and tumble competition found in the South Bay League.

The girls played as they were expected to . . . as junior varsity players. Sure there were a lot of mistakes, but there was also enough hardwork and determination spent on each practice and game to even things out. They were learning the basics of playing soccer: when to pass; when not to pass; how to kick the ball; how to play good defense; how to execute plays, and getting to know all the new people on the team. Each new play learned or new kicking form shown was a novel plan of attack in their newly weaved little basket of tricks. They were learning soccer the best way . . . by learning it firsthand.

WRESTLING

Take Down

▼ Hot Temper. Assistant Coach Sam Boggs gives some pointers to a wrestler on the mat.

Castle Park wrestlers, wrestled their way to a good year! they ended with an overall record of 5-2-1 (5 wins, 2 losses, 1 tie). With top wrestlers like Vicotr Trasvina (11), Valentino Correa (11), and Rafael "Ralphy" Trasvina (10), its no wonder they placed CPH in the Metro League finals which qualified ten wrestlers for CIF.

The finalists were Richard Riingen and Rafael "Ralphy" Trasvina first place; Roger VanOrden, Valentino Correa, Tony Deddah, and Victor Trasvina, second place; Victor Orah, and Art Berry, third, and Joe Gama and Carlos Garcia, fourth. Not all wrestlers brought back victories but Rafael "Ralphy" Trasvina placed second overall qualifying him for the Masters Tournament.

Coach George Mancillas credits four outstanding wrestlers: Joe Gama (10) Rafael "Ralphy" Trasvina (10), Valentino Correa (11), and Victor Trasvina (11)

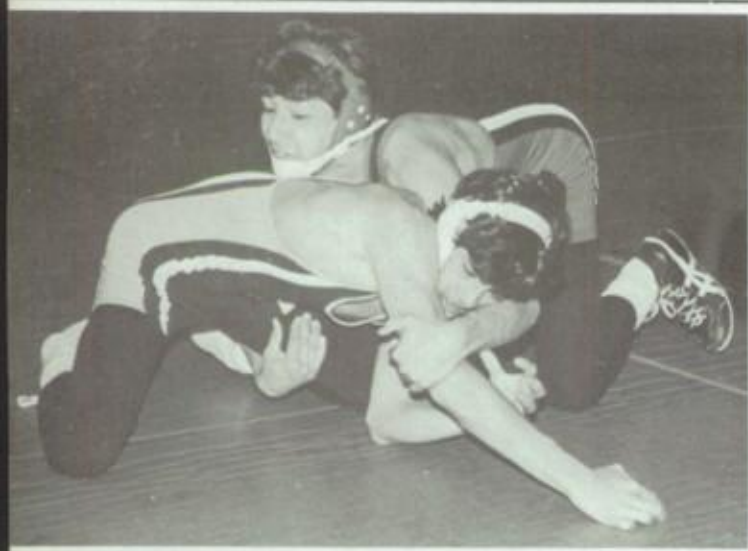

The weight divisions vary from 98 pounds to 250 pounds. A clever wrestler like Valentino who transfered from Mission Bay this year, can often defeat a stronger and heavier opponent. Valentino (140 pounds) broke the high school pinning record at a match against Sweetwater High. He pinned his opponent (155 pounds) in 7 seconds. "wrestling is a good experience, I would of wrestled here at CP or anywhere else, it doesn't matter, I just like to wrestle," said Valentino.

Ralphy, Victor, and Art held CP's best records. This year all three wrestlers had records of 6-1 (6 wins, 1 loss).

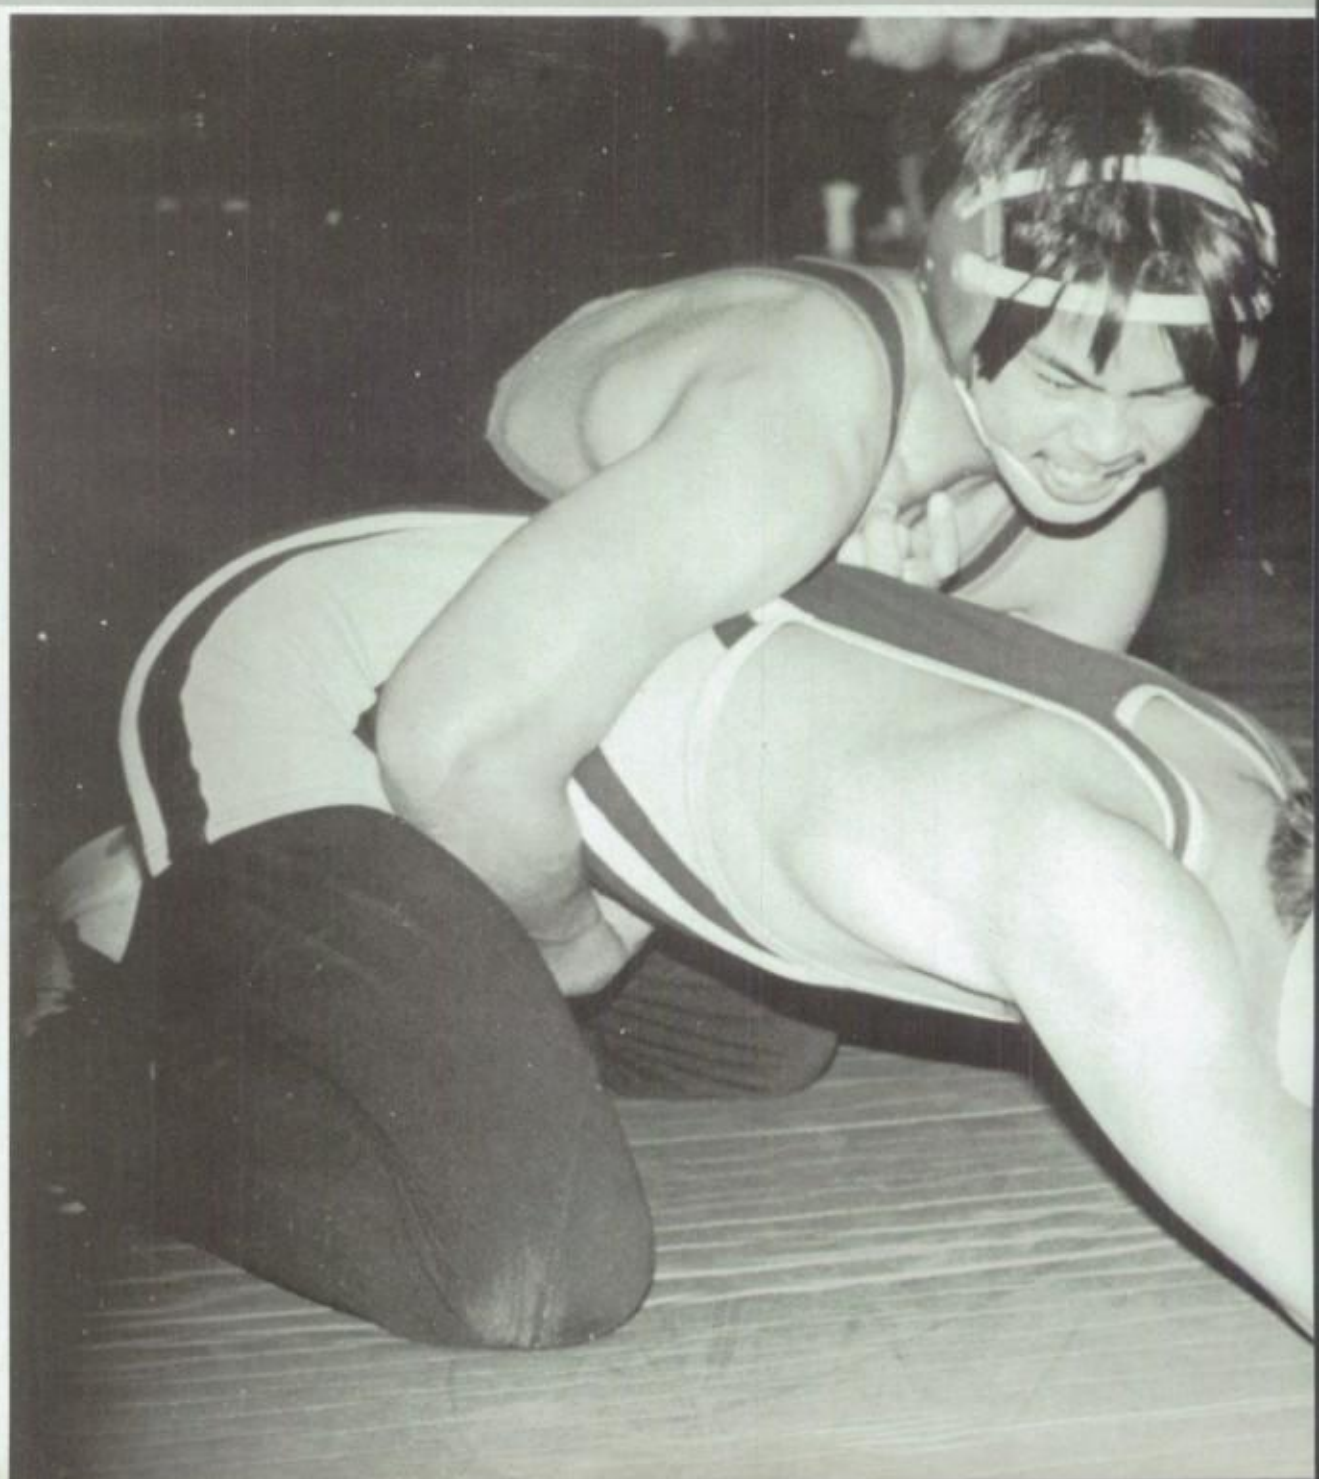

It's not easy being a wrestler, you must be dedicated to the sport, and the CPH wrestlers proved that. They must keep in shape and in their weight division. "If your overweight, you end up running during lunch or after school to lose the weight," said Art Berry. "You end up starving yourself or else you can't wrestle" added Victor Orah.

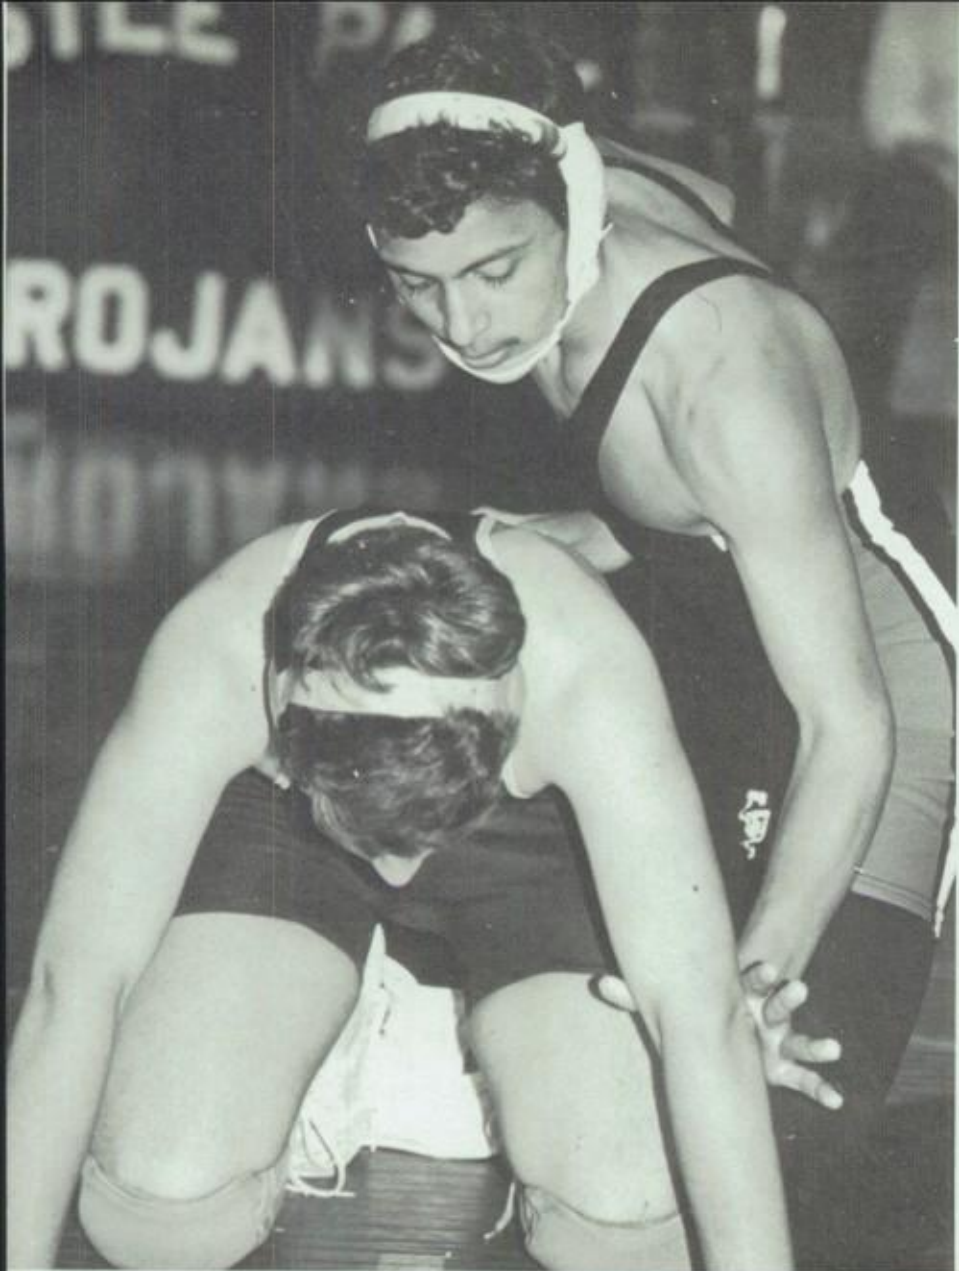

"Our team maybe young, but they're good. Next year we should be even better. Wrestling is the type of sport that gives just about everybody a chance to wrestle, even girls! (although CP hasn't had one yet)," states Coach Mancillas.

▲ Taking it to the mat. Junior Victor Trasvina works his way to another victory, the hard way.

BASEBALL

Hits Way to Top

Baseball is one of America's favorite sports. Nationwide, baseball lovers participate in the tremendous excitement that commences every spring. The students of Castle Park High were no exception. With enthusiasm characteristic of baseball fans, the students encouraged their team. As a result the JV baseball team flourished.

Returning starters Sergio Hicks, Jeff Oliveri and Juan Pena provided the experience the team needed to pull the team up out of the dregs and on to the top of the heap. They took their play seriously and managed to run over the opponents. Coach Gil Warren observed that there are no really outstanding players on the team. Each and every player is a key player and that provides an air of excellence. The team overcame many obstacles and excelled in true Trojan tradition.

VARSITY SOFTBALL

Winning in Spirit

The girls on the varsity softball team worked long, hard hours to come up with a successful recipe for success. "They showed a lot of confidence in their abilities and pulled together for any and every occasion," stated Assistant Coach Jimmy Ormond.

The skills the girls cultivated consisted of fabulous pitching and a spectacular defense. The girls had superior hitting talent which managed to pull them out of some hairy situations. Kiersten Law noted that Dawn Wood was one of the best pitchers she had ever seen. Adding to the success of the team was the agility of Mary Mudry's quick mind and body. As catcher she executed many plays with ease to add to the killer defense. In addition, Margaret Mekus's above par fielding skills gave the team that extra kick that brought victory after victory.

The team showed skill and agility that brought pride to Troy in the name of the 1987 varsity softball team.

JUNIOR VARSITY SOFTBALL

Hits for a Successful Season

The 1987 junior varsity softball team was one of great potential. The girls on the team showed skill and maturity beyond their playing years. They took their games seriously and played to the best of their abilities.

In addition to the great team effort, they had the aid of a great pitcher. Xochi Diaz displayed her outstanding pitching talents and boosted the team to many a victory. She and Gladise Arenas managed to hold the team together. They served as the unofficial leaders of the group by keeping spirits high and confidence soaring. The family-like aura of the team kept the defense strong and the victory level high. Overall the team managed to impress all who observed them with their enthusiasm and style.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' TRACK

Racing to Success

"Self satisfaction and a sense of accomplishment" are the two main incentives that motivate the CPH track team said Head Coach Alan Duke.

"We've got a good team this year. I think our sprinters and relays helped us out a lot." The sprinters were Sean Kraus, Tom Brown, Kiyoshi Moody and Paul Johnston for the boys and La Tonya Canada for the girls. We've been hurt by ineligibility and a lack of experience in the field events."

"To win our league we'll have to work hard, but I'm sure we can do it," said Duke. "Our biggest competition will be Southwest High School; they haven't lost a league meet in two years."

According to Duke, "winning CIF shouldn't be important because it doesn't mean anything as a team, it's all individual. The most important aspect of track is that the athletes learn to work as a unit and have fun."

Endurance. Sean Winn knows that's what it takes to compete in the 880.

▲ Sara Duarte, Christina Contino, and Gina Cogswell show that a hard workout can be fun.

BOYS' TENNIS

What's their racquet?

The sun shines brightly on the newly painted green court. There is total silence until the sound of the explosion of the ball and racquet is echoed. Like the explosion of the tennis ball off the racquet, the explosion of the new tennis team took off in 1987. Under the guidance of tennis coach, Mr. Austin, the boys' tennis team strove to master the mental and physical fundamentals of tennis.

Practices were long and strenuous, but sweat is what it takes to win and the boys' tennis team certainly did sweat. Although the team was young, they proved to have much talent, ability, but most of all perseverance in their play. Through their sheer dedication, along with the simple enjoyment of the sport, the rookie boys' tennis team made an impact on the 2A South Bay League boys' tennis scene.

SWIMMING

Aquatic Antics

After eight years without a swim team, Castle Park High came back to the competition line with "a very enthusiastic team," as coach Ned Maggiora describes it. "Although they began with little experience, they picked things up really fast," says coach Maggiora.

The team performs eleven events. They are: medley relay (200), free style (500, 200, 100, 50), free relay (400), breast-stroke (100), back-stroke (100), butterfly (100), individual medley (200), and divine.

Besides the team's good effort to improve, the coach had another reason to feel good about this year's season: Danny Pierce. Danny, a junior, has had a very successful swimming career over the last ten years. Among the numerous awards that he has received, his biggest achievement is the Junior National award, which is just one level lower than the Olympic tryouts. Two other outstanding swimmers on the team are Angela Done and Jennifer Helton. Coach Maggiora expects the team to grow stronger since the team is mainly composed of underclassmen.

◀ Dolphin-like Strength. Kathy Wayman's strength and experience as a swimmer brought her many victories.

GOLF

Tee Time

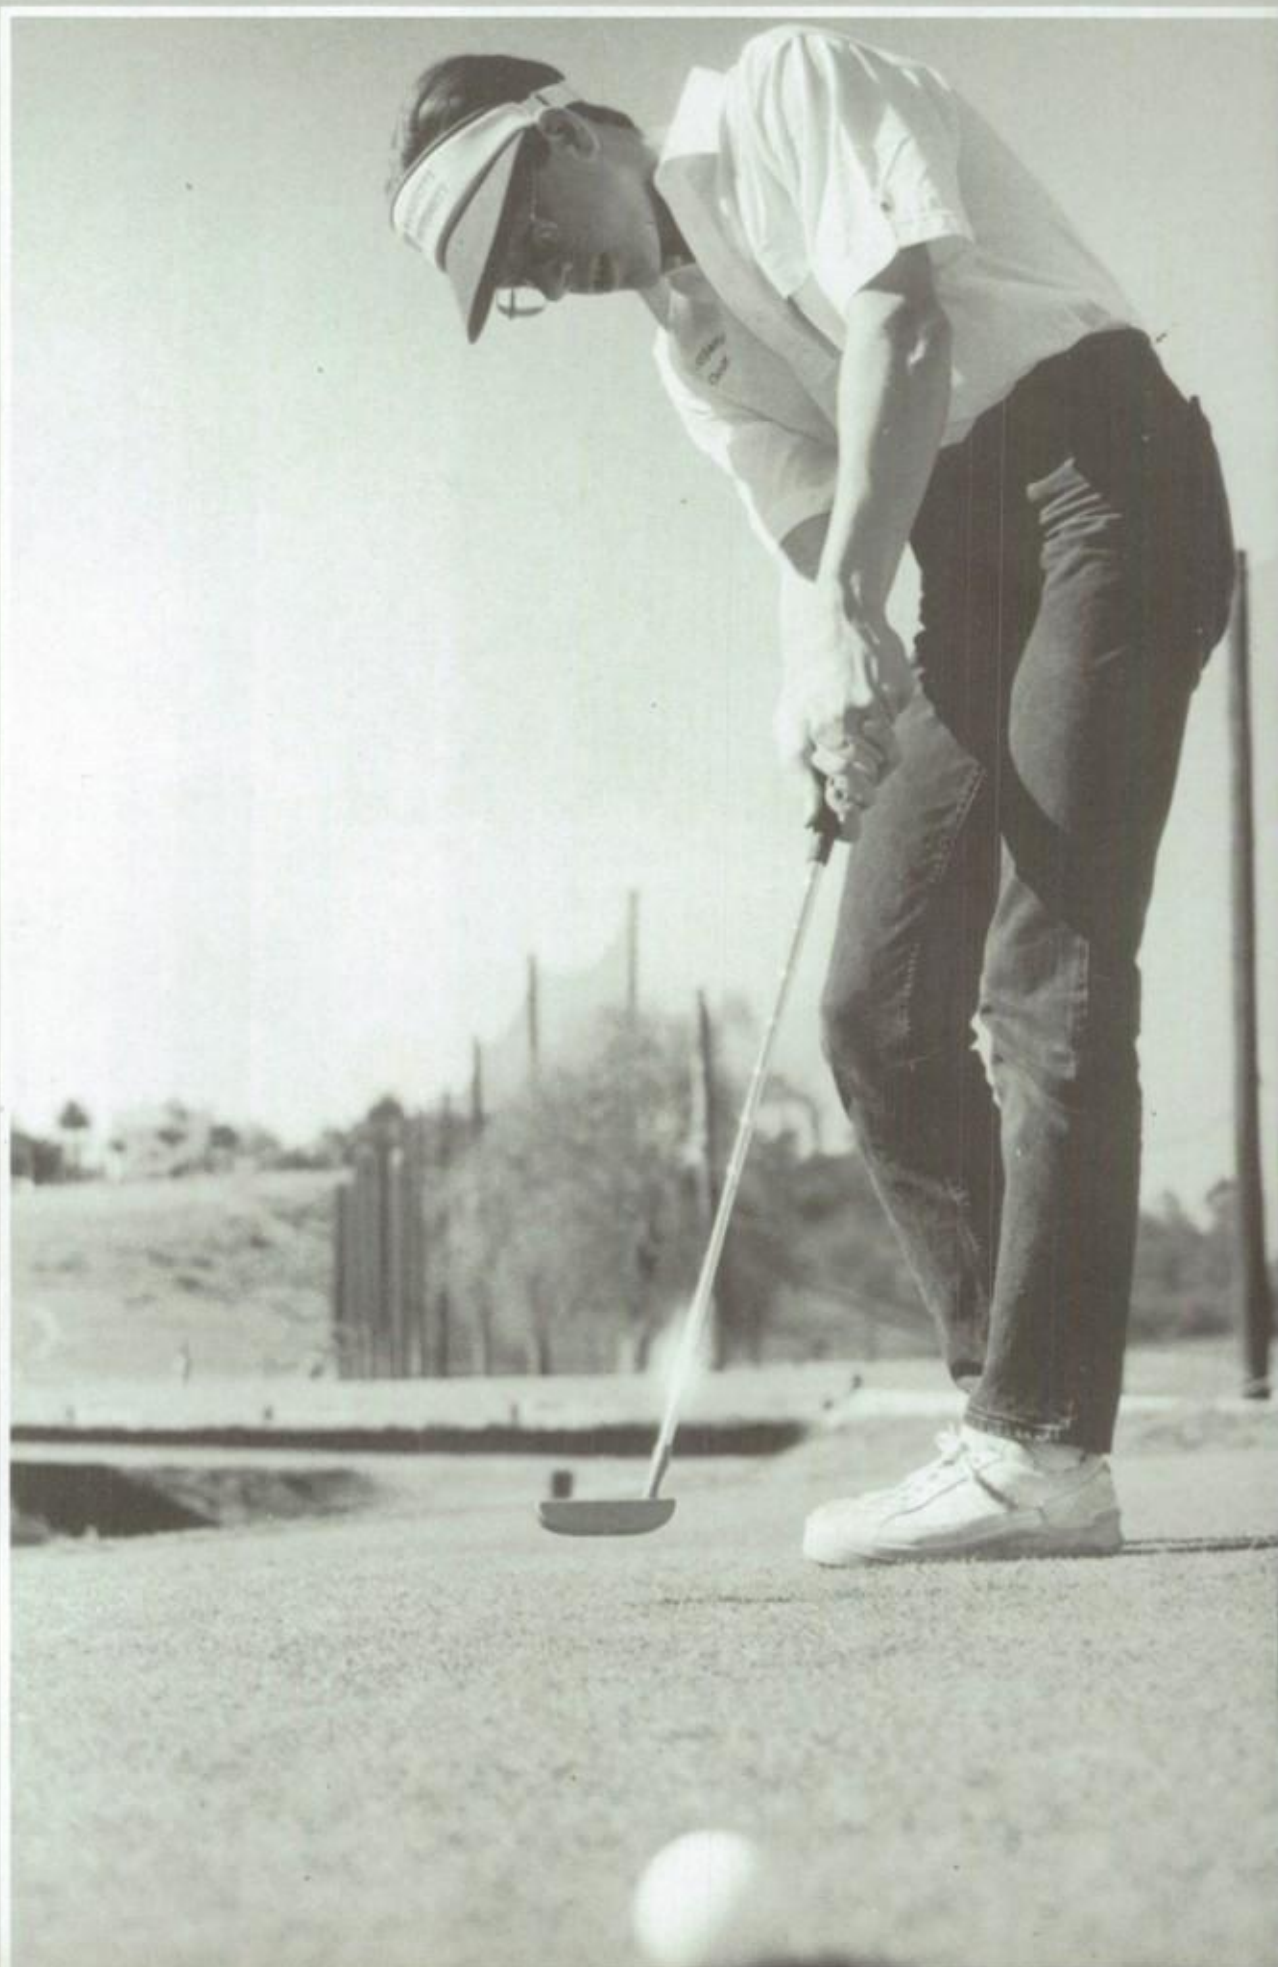

One of the brand new sports at Castle Park is golf, the only team that practices out of Chula Vista. They practice at Las Palmas Club in National City. With eight players, after a five year absence, CPH golf has made up for the time lost.

"The boys are doing much better than I expected them to," says coach Jim Finnerty. "I am impressed with their enthusiasm and their hard work," says Finnerty, "and that's why there is a slight possibility that we may go to the CIF play-offs."

"I think that golf at Troy will excel with time and may even become known in the county because we have a lot of talent," says Mike Martin, whose latest accomplishment is third place in the San Francisco Invitational. Another very important member of the team is Troy Barnes, who ranks seventh in San Diego County.

ACADEMIC LEAGUE

Knowledge Knows No Bounds

The buzzers rang consistently for the CPH Varsity Knowledge Bowl this year. They won their league with an impressive 8-0 winning streak, averaging 110 points per game to their opponent's 200 points.

The team was headed by Steven Gregory and Jonathan Rimorin. These two answered every question from literature to leisure. Even though Steven and Jonathan answered the majority of the questions, the wins also depended on the rest of the players.

Everyone was proud of this outstanding team. Dr. Robert Bane, principal, was especially so, because he personally congratulated them. The advisor, Mrs. Sandy Grubb, says, "The reason for such success is that we started four years ago determined to win, and most of the players have been with us for all four years." This is the reason the CPH team has won the league for the first time since 1980. As Mrs. Grubb explained, "This is the best team I have ever had."

▲◀ Five Heads Are Better Than One. Ragu Gollapudi, Peter Marnik, Bruce McMahon, Adam Smith, and Julie Puzon put their heads together to come up with a winning answer to the JV Knowledge Bowl question.

B.M.O.C.

Big Men of Troy

B.M.O.C. '87 was a smashing success. The illustrious court consisted of five handsome men who also proved to be great "sports." Vince Bucca, Hector Garcia, Sergio Lujan, Javier Nunez and Carlos Valdivia plundered through various lunchtime events to show the student body who was the biggest man on campus.

The festivities began on Monday, March 16, with the court participating in a pizza eating contest. The man with the biggest mouth proved to be none other than Hector Garcia. He took first place honors, while Sergio Lujan and Vince Bucca garnered second and third place. On Tuesday the men participated in a lunch auction and a relay race. The men who went for the highest bids were Vinnie Bucca who sold for $31, Hector Garcia for $21, and Javier Nunez who sold for $13. These men bought lunch for the lucky ladies who purchased them. That same day a relay race was held, which consisted of running, eating, and carrying. Once again, Hector Garcia came up the winner. He was given a run for his money though, as Javier and Vince came a close second and third.

The lunchtime events culminated with a fashion show sponsored by Impressions. The men displayed their class and style as they strutted across stage in the latest fashions. The public then voted as the candidates answered a survey of embarrassing questions.

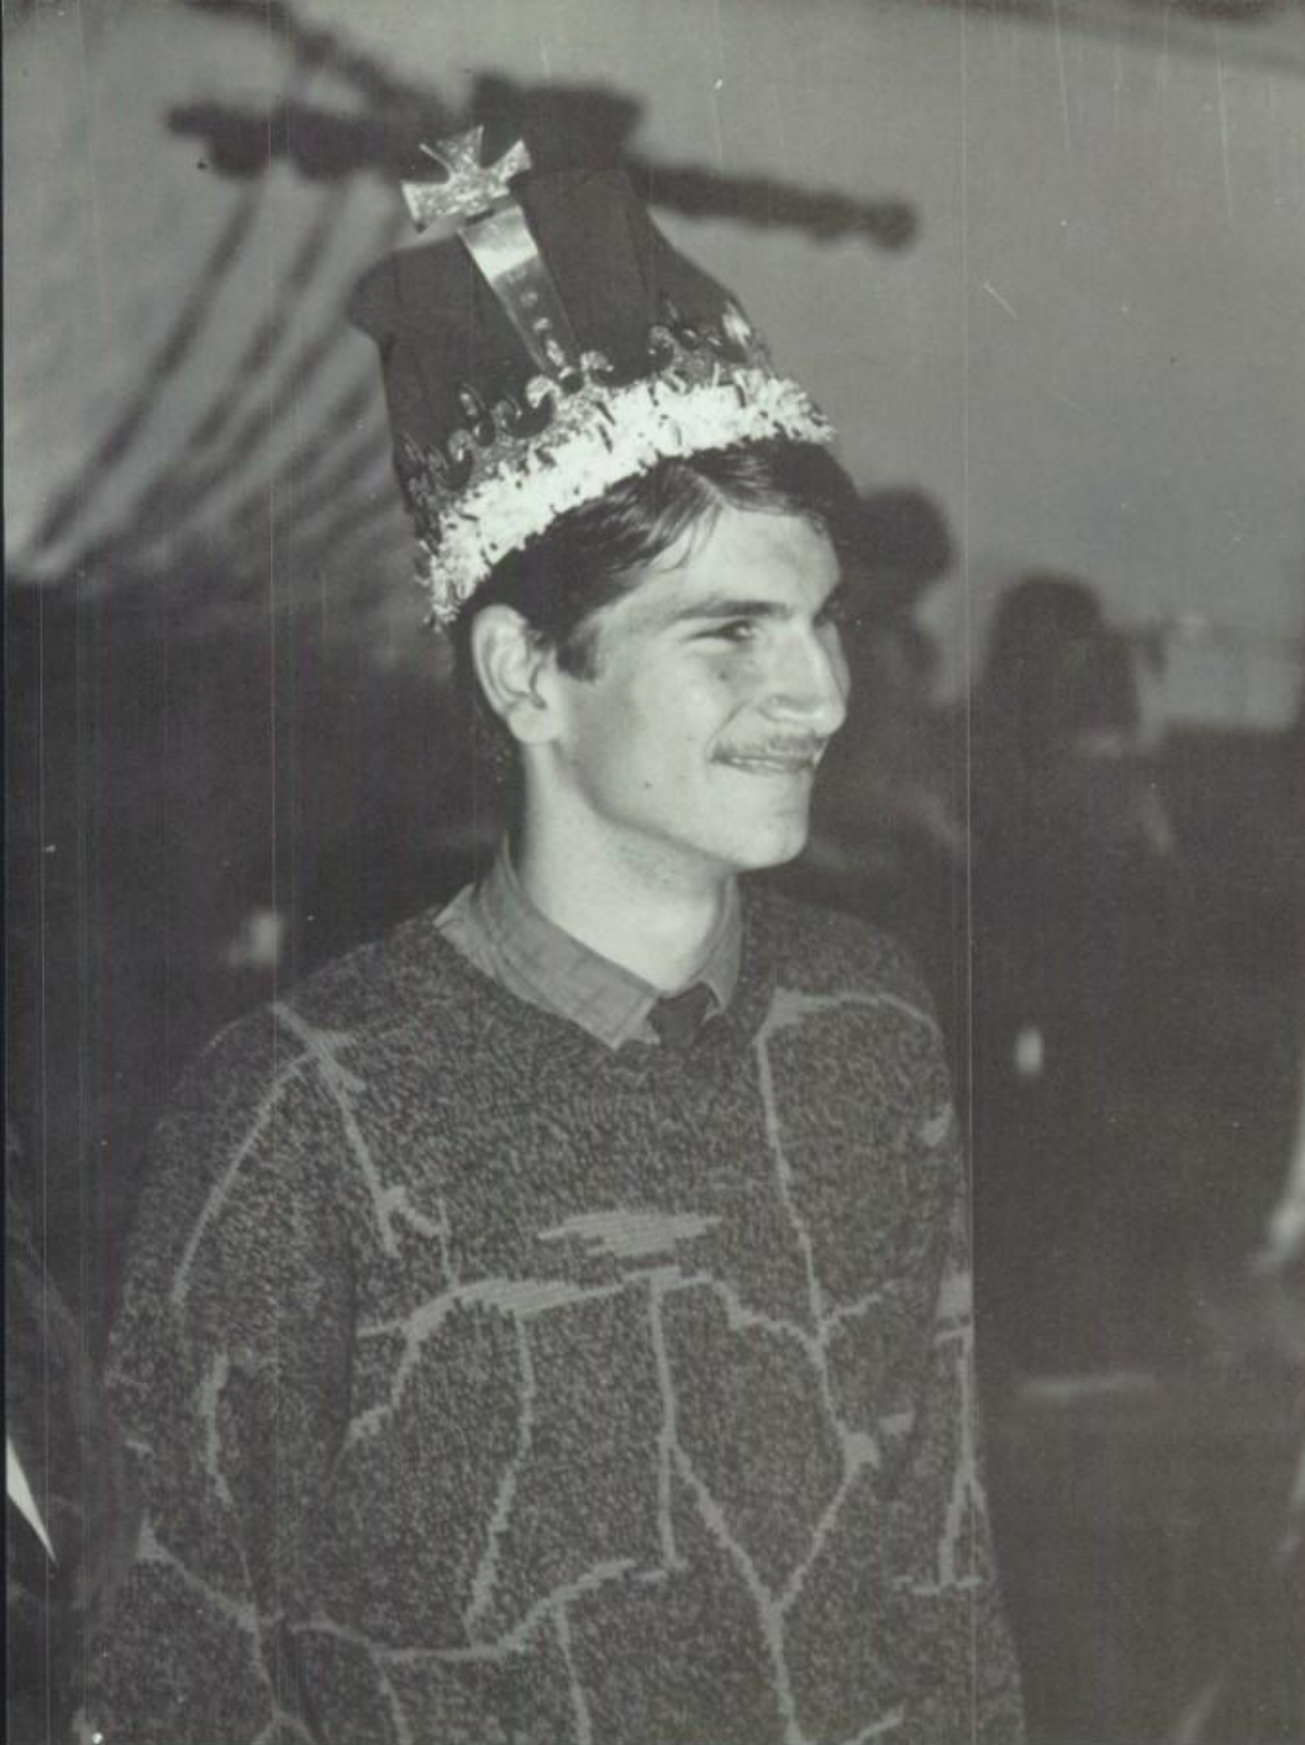

The week's events closed with a dance in the gym where the student body danced to the sights and sounds of "AM/PM Productions." At 9:30 the king was crowned and he proved to be true to his name as Vince Bucca took the title and the crown.

◀ Stylish. Javier Nunez patiently awaits the results with his escort Diane Kim.

ORGANIZATIONS

running the show

"If anyone asked what makes a senior class exciting and interesting, the answer would be the ASB," says Annabelle Cortez of Tribune of Art. Why? At Castle Park High the cabinet of the ASB, Associated Student Body, is in charge of running student government, planning student activities and coordinating club actions, thus leading the whole student body through a great year.

"Being part of the ASB requires a great deal of responsibility and dedication," says President Jennifer Marnik. Everyone in the cabinet has specific duties according to his/her tribuneship. "Besides the good memories and friendships," says Jennifer, "we acquire invaluable experience in organization and leadership."

The ASB is in close contact with students and district administrators. They have been working with Superintendent Anthony Trujillo to find a replacement for the cash incentive given to the school if the CAP (California Assessment Program) test scores are high. Internally, the ASB deals with issues such as truancy policy and the right of underclassmen to have their own socials.

The students find a voice in the ASB. "Students feel free to come to us and say what they do and do not like," says Jennifer, "and we try our best to satisfy them." Of being president of the ASB this year, Jennifer says, "it is a blast because we get to run the show."

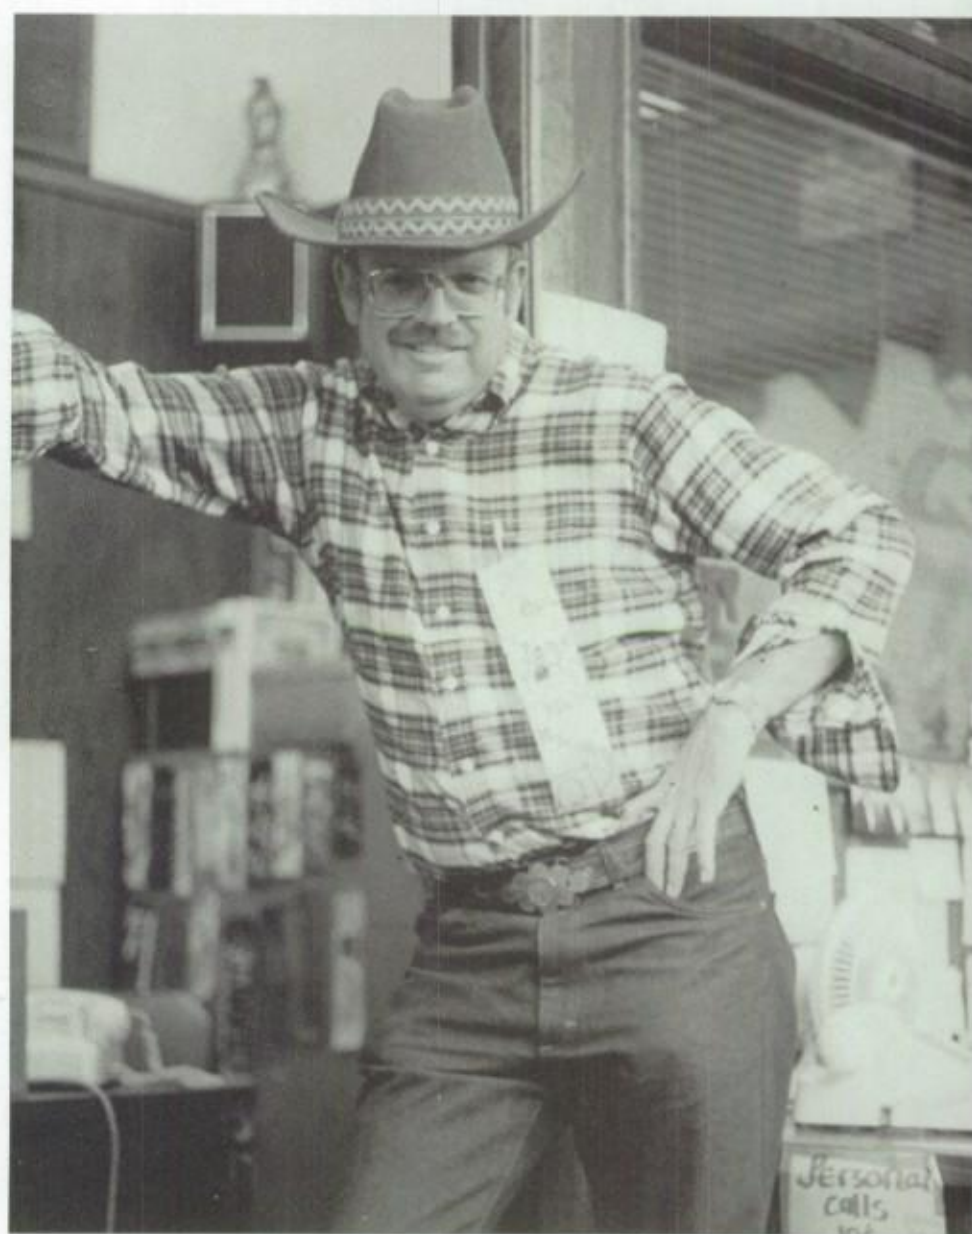

The dean of activities is Mr. Howard Rindone and Ms. Ellen Stiles is the financial secretary.

▲ Hand it over! Who would think that someone would get so excited over $5? Carrie Dueñas is as she is handed a five dollar bill by Jackie Valentino for wearing red on a Friday.

► "What can I say." Though ASB Advisor Mr. Rindone has a busy schedule, he always finds the time to have fun with the A.S.B. Cabinet.

►▲ "Nice doing business with you." Diane Kim and Jennifer Marnik obviously have what it takes to be good salespeople as they sell mistletoegrams to Anna Bayless and Ann Waterman.

Senate

Knowing what is right

"Being a senator at Castle Park High is a thrilling experience not only because I contribute to the school's improvement but because I acquire leadership skills too," says Senior Senator Vicki Diaz.

The Senate is the governing body of the school. It works with school-related problems and approves budget and money appropriations of the ASB. The senate is composed of up to nine senators from each grade level. They are divided into two committees, the campus improvement committee and the constitutional committee.

Replacing the flags in the classrooms and repainting Tommy Trojan are among the plans of the campus improvements committee for this year. The constitutional committee works on making amendments to the ASB, usually every three weeks, and all students are allowed into the meeting, but only the Senators get to vote.

The officers of the Senate are the same as those of the ASB.

Victory arsity

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y, Victory, Varsity Castle Park High." This is a famous cheer performed by the varsity cheerleaders.

"It was an exciting year for all of us," says Patty Amador. "It is a good feeling to be out there cheering for the football and basketball team, because we represent our school."

"The best time for all of us was going to cheerleading camp at the University of California, Santa Barbara, because we became closer and we learned so much. Of course, at school we had a lot of fun decorating for Homecoming," says cheerleader Cathy Thompson.

RIDDING PIE!

Junior Varsity

Second to None

"We're the JV squad of 87
We're totally hot and
Our spirit is revvin'
We've come to show our
Trojan pride and help bring Victory to our side."

The JV squad cheers up the Trojan JV football and basketball teams. In order to be always in shape, they practice about one hour daily. They began to practice as early as May 1986 and then during the summer. The squad also went to a Santa Barbara camp, where they won one superior and two excellent awards.

So much work has paid off. Captain Denise McKeown says, "Our performance at the homecoming assembly was rad... It was our best!!" Their enthusiasm continues off the field. Cheering is "beautimous" as Maria Pitpit puts it. "And fuuun!" adds Pilar Ezeta. During a game with Chula Vista they performed before a small audience while it rained. "It was fun," says Maria, "but we perform much better when we have a large audience."

Ms. Iliana Rodriguez is their advisor and she is in charge of ordering the uniforms and checking their grades which must average C at least.

The squad is formed by juniors: Tessie Balagtas, Grace Bray, Pilar Ezeta, LaMonica Lieras, Maria Pitpit, and led by Denise McKeown.

Trojanettes

Stride With Pride

Trojanettes have had a No. 1 year. They have taken 1st place so far at the Columbus Parade, Fiesta De La Luna, Lester Oaks, and 2nd at Arcadia.

To be first place requires hard work. Their practice to prepare for these competitions consisted of 2 to 6 hours a day, and weekends occasionally. "They have worked very hard just to be at the top and because of this they had unity and rewards," says drill team advisor, Miss Carmen Camarena.

Trojanettes have exciting, but exhausting, times too. They have memories of football games, parades, traveling, meeting new people, get-togethers, movies, and parties.

The Trojanettes are united together in a special way because they are "one big family," according to Captain Terry Rockwell. "Terry has helped make this year come alive for all 57 Drill Team members," said Lieutenants Tracey Fountain, Tanya Windham, Griselda Castellanos, and co-captain Carol Quilintang.

Letterettes

Hot Stuff

This year's letterette corp was a relatively young one that consisted of five freshmen, eight sophomores and one junior. Their lack of experience didn't stop them though. They had a successful marching season garnering a third place trophy at the Columbus Day Parade and an impressive series of scores ranging from a 57 at Lester Oaks all the way to a near perfect 59 at Fiesta de La Luna.

The letterette corp was especially successful because of their sophomore captain. "Conchita Gonzales manages to unify her corp as well as earn the respect of the girls and of the school." She kept the Trojan tradition of excellence alive and well. Captain Conchita summed up her year by stating that, "We came in expecting the worst but emerged one of the best letterette corps CPH has ever seen!"

Reaching New Heights

This year's Tall Flags achieved some of the many goals they set to accomplish during parade season. They received a trophy at the Bonita Fest, Lester Oaks Parade, and San Dieguito Field Show. At Fiesta de la Luna Parade they received 1st place and 2nd place at the Columbus Day Parade.

Tall Flag Captain, Tammy Gonzalez, says, "For a year that was most memorable, I congratulate each and every member for making it all happen."

Band

Tradition of Excellence

The band's reputation as the "Pride of the South Bay" was more than maintained this year. Under the direction of Del Bangle and assistant director Eric Mabrey, the band has had a hectic but winning competition schedule.

So far they've won; Bonita-Fest (Bonita); Sweepstakes, Columbus Parade (Downtown, S.D.); first place, Fiesta De La Luna (Chula Vista); first place, Lester Oaks (Los Angeles); first place, Arcadia (Los Angeles); third place, Band Pageant (Bonita); show-off.

The band was also involved in various activities and performances such as the Spring Solo Ensemble Festival at Southwestern College and play at some basketball games.

However, the band is much more than frantic activity. According to Sophomore Christina Chavira, "It's like a family. The juniors and seniors are responsible for the sophomores and freshmen, but we all care for one another. Band takes a lot of dedication and patience, and we all try to work together to make the band work."

CSF

A Tradition of Excellence

The first thing that comes to mind when you hear of straight A's is the CSF club. The California Scholarship Federation groups the brightest Trojans. "To honor students for their academic achievement," according to Club Advisor Paul Avalos. Students must really make an effort to pass their subjects beyond the expectations of an average student if they want to belong to this select club.

The club is composed of approximately 52 members who score at least 10 points on the California Scholarship Federation scale which considers an 'A' to be worth 3 points, a 'B' 1 point, and a 'B' in an honors class 2 points. It is led by President Mike Martin, Vice-President Sheila Rodriguez, Secretary Jennifer Knapik, and Treasurer Sarai Aguilar.

The CSF club takes time to tutor students who need help in academic subjects. It also organized a canned food drive on Christmas. CSF members work to continue CPH's tradition of excellence.

Trojan Knights

The Helping Hands

A vital part of our school is the Trojan Knights. They use up their own time to assist the students at Castle Park. They sell anything from Doritos to football tickets by working during lunch, nutrition break, at dances and football and basketball games. The members enjoy doing this and feel a sense of accomplishment by doing so.

"It's also a good way to meet new people," says Nixon Morada, president of the club.

There are about 45 active members who help many hours a week. "They're a neat group," says Mr. Rindone, advisor. Anyone would agree when a grinning face behind the counter greets you, "Hi, may I help you?"

"As good citizens of our community we must all be concerned with the general welfare of the people. We must try to help in any way possible. Our responsibility as citizens can well begin now," says President Eriza Castillo. This is exactly what the Interact Club does — help those in need. "We aim to reach people beyond Castle Park who need help."

The Interact Club members

get in contact with other schools to collect food and raise funds. They spend time visiting orphanages in Tijuana. The children are overjoyed just plainly because of the fact that someone cares enough to go see them," says Vicki Diaz, the secretary of the club. As most of the 12 members would say, "We love doing what we do, and it is well worth it."

Surfing

A Wave Above the Rest

Last year if someone yelled "Surf's Up," only a few students might have paid any attention. But this year, 27 of CPH's most avid surfers grabbed their surfboards and began CPH's newest club.

The club membership reflects its increase in popularity and so do the All Star competition results which are: Doug Smith (Jr. High Competition) 1st overall; Danny McCormick (Jr. High Competition) 5th overall; President Alex Leon (High School Competition) 28th overall; and Mike Mollalley (High School Competition) 10th overall.

Speech Team

Speaking Out

They enjoy talking and are great at doing so. Unlike other students, they are not asked to be quiet in class. Instead, they are rewarded with applause and prizes. Who are they? The speech team, of course.

The speech team has been active at CPH for two years now under the expertise of Mrs. Sandra Martineau, who also teaches communication, drama and English-10. The club was created "to allow students to have competition with other schools and to improve their self-confidence and poise," Mrs. Martineau says.

The 35 students involved in the club usually practice once a week. Twenty of them are in the novice group and the other 15 in the advanced group. They acquire poise, better diction, memory skills, and stay informed of current issues as they practice impromptu, original prose/poetry, extemporaneous, and dramatic or humorous interpretation.

These skills are important tools in college, according to Ms. Martineau who cites Mr. Paul Avalos as an example. Due to his participation in the debate team during his high school years, Mr. Avalos obtained scholarships to colleges.

The main activity of the speech team is its participation in tournaments throughout the year. And there . . . on the stage they do what they are best at — talking.

The speech team officers are Captain Trent Bishop, Co-Captain Jennifer Hastings, Treasurer Jerry Peterson and Secretary Tammy Disalvo.

Bilingual Club

Friends and Amigos as One

"I think that a student does much better at school when he/she is identified with it," says Sandra Luna, president of the bilingual club. "The reason why we formed this club is to provide bilingual students with an identifying group," she says.

"Our main purpose is to help bilingual students, especially those not totally fluent in English yet, to take advantages of the educational opportunities available to them and to enter the Trojan lifestyle," says Marisela Sanchez, vice-president. The club offers members help filling out college, job, and extracurricular activities applications as well as scholastic tutoring.

This year the club is made of hispanics totally, although membership is open to everyone. "I think that we were successful in fulfilling our objective because we have found an identity as a group," says Secretary Miguel Galvan. The club activities include food sales, candy sales, a trip, and collaboration with the Grupo Folklorico for the Cinco de Mayo assembly. The club advisor is Mr. Michael "Peeh-Wee" Callahan.

French

Trés Chic describes the Well Known French Club

Parlez-vous Francais? French speaking at Castle Park High School is becoming contagious among the students. The two teachers at CPH who have made French a special subject to learn are Mrs. Ann Gagnon, and Mrs. Terry Mangarin.

Many activities help make the French club a success. For example, the French newspaper titled C'est La Vie, which includes subjects concerning about sports, teachers, clubs and a puzzle section. Another example is the fashion show held every year by its members. A lot of time and effort to make the fashion show sensational was seen by all who attended.

The French club also sold suckers in order to raise money to help pay for trips, parties, and accessories for their classrooms. The French club has a party twice a year, one before Christmas vacation and at the closing of the school year.

In all the French classes work is very important. Est-ce que vous etudiez? is what the teachers usually tell the students.

French is not common in the US today, but maybe, one day the French club and classes can make France and the US become better friends. C'est la Vie.

German

Hello Freunde

East Germany and France were the targets for this year's "fairy tale" trip held by the German Club. The nine-day adventure to central Europe consisted of trips to Medieval Rothenburg, the mysterious Black Forest, Luxemburg, a visit to Paris and Versailles, and a two day stay in a 13th century Trendelburg Castle.

On April 9, 35 students, teachers, and parents left aboard a Lufthansa German Airlines, for a non-stop flight to Frankfurt West Germany. The group was met by a first class bus to tour Europe.

The great success of last year's experiment is the reason this trip went into effect. Well behaved and disciplined students helped Mr. Klaus Giess (tour director), decide on Europe again. "It is truly important for good cooperation from both students and adults when traveling to Europe", he explained. The rewards are obvious; a widened view of the world, knowledge of other cultures, and great fun!

Drama

Bound for Stardom

When you hear the words drama club, you think of a group of people joined together on stage for your entertainment. The Castle Park drama club is more than that. They're a family joined on stage not only for your entertainment, but for their own enjoyment as well.

The club members are very supportive of each other. When preparing for a performance on stage, the group comforts each other by telling jokes to help them overcome their nervousness. "Mrs. Martineau helps the group overcome their fears by handing out the notorious suckers" states Robert Rackely.

For each play Sandra Martineau schedules two casts of characters, cast A and cast B. Both casts are chosen by the teacher. The two casts alternate performances. The group practices whenever possible and use mnemonic devices (technique used to help remember something) to help them remember their lines.

When asked why she joined drama, Stephanie Tanner said "I felt that it would be a way for me to show off my talents and thought it would be a kickback class, but it's not." Acting is very time consuming because of all the time needed to learn the lines. One of the most important requirements needed to join the drama club is commitment.

SADD

Taking a Stand

Over the past few years, drunk-driving has become a very serious problem in our society. At CPH students have formed the SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) club to publicize their concern and find a solution to the problem.

"We want to make students aware of the danger of driving drunk," says President Robert Rackley. In their weekly meetings they try to find ideas to use peer pressure to increase responsibility among teen drivers. One idea was that of the senior social sponsored by SADD. Another SADD activity was that of giving dimes away to students so they could call for a ride if they needed one while intoxicated.

SADD gets monetary support from local organizations such as Masonic Orders and the California Federal Bank which donated the money for the dimes giveaway. SADD counts with 20 members led by President Robert Rackley, Vice-President Linda Boyd, Secretary Sunil Gollapudi, and Treasurer Stacey Clifford. The Club Advisor is Mr. Donald "Big Daddy" Le Compte.

▲▲ "Please sign." As a faithful member would do, Christina Drysdale passes out a petition for students to sign.

Grupo Folklórico

Dancing to Be Proud Of

"As folkloric dancers we not only get to do what we like best, to dance, but we also learn to appreciate the richness of our Mexican heritage," says Isabel Meza of the Grupo Folklórico of Castle Park High.

The Grupo Folklórico began as an after school activity in 1975. In 1977 Folkloric dance classes were first taught at our school by Mr. Carlos Santoyo, who studied Mexican danza in Tepic, Mexico.

The group performs about 60 times annually, invited by organizations such as UCLA, Knotts Berry Farm, elemetaries and high schools, and other community groups.

The Grupo Folklórico is divided into two sections, the beginners and the De Gala. "The students involved need a great deal of motivation and rigorous training," says Mr. Santoyo. "Dedication pays off when you get to feel like a star at the Cinco de Mayo assembly," says Patty Gonzalez.

Every year, three senior girls are selected by the group to be the Cinco de Mayo queen and princesses. This year, Yadira Astorga, Gloria Hernandez, and Isabel Meza are the candidates.

Girls' League

The Best of Times

February 7, 1987 — It was a night of romance, soft lights, dressy attire, exquisite food, luxurious automobiles, watching the moon and the stars and dancing the night away.

This year the dance was located in the heart of San Diego's harbor on the colonial style U.S.S. Berkley. The music was provided by Stratus Sound System who provided a video of the dance floor. The dance also included catering of fine pasteries and a coronation of this year's girls' league court.

The Girls' League Club worked very hard this year just to make this one night special. President Myra Cotoner said, "We had many bake sales and sold corsages and boutineers to raise money to provide for the dance. It was one successful night many couples will never forget."

Images

Words to Show It All

The literary flame burned brightly this year at CPH and Images was there to capture it. Led by President Marc Guerra and their Advisor, Mrs. Kathy Guilfoyle, the club's big event is the release of their annual literary magazine.

This magazine is a haven for aspiring poets, artists and short story authors. The club encouraged talent by sponsoring a contest for the cover design and art work. This contest centered around their theme which is "Crossing Bridges." The aspiring artist who best exemplified their theme wins.

This year's club was innovative in that they were the first members to attend poetry workshops. The 20 member club and other selected students were able to work with an actual poet. This gave them essential experience in expanding their own creativity. They were able to improve their writing skills and became aware of the actual time and effort needed to write great poetry.

The Images club is one that takes the talent of young novices and nurtures them into the brilliant artists of tomorrow.

Art Guild

"Artrageous" at Work

Art Guild is a club where future artists and designers can prosper. They had a very busy schedule this year making large colorful posters for football, basketball and social events.

During football season they made pepribbons for every game and helped decorate the gym. Homecoming was the hardest event to decorate, but the help of the Art Guild made it easier for

ASB.

This years artistic Art Guild club includes: President, Anabelle Cortez, Jeanne Seville, Juan Pinedo, Lori Hernandez, Jaime Mariscal, Raul Rodriguez, Griselda Castellanos, Mirna Sotelo, Monica Martinez, Maricela Romo, Nora Cortez, Lalauni Velasco, Blanca Diaz, Shauna Deiranieh, Stephanie Alcorn, and Veronica Thompson.

Pep Club

Cheering on Victory

The pep club might be a little hoarse because of the terrific year in sports at CPH

Even though they had a rough start at the beginning of the year with the change of presidents three times and some financial trouble, they are back on their feet thanks to the help of President Robert Rackley. Robert is a hard worker and is one of the most enthusiastic students on campus. The club also had a new advisor, Mr. Paul Avalos.

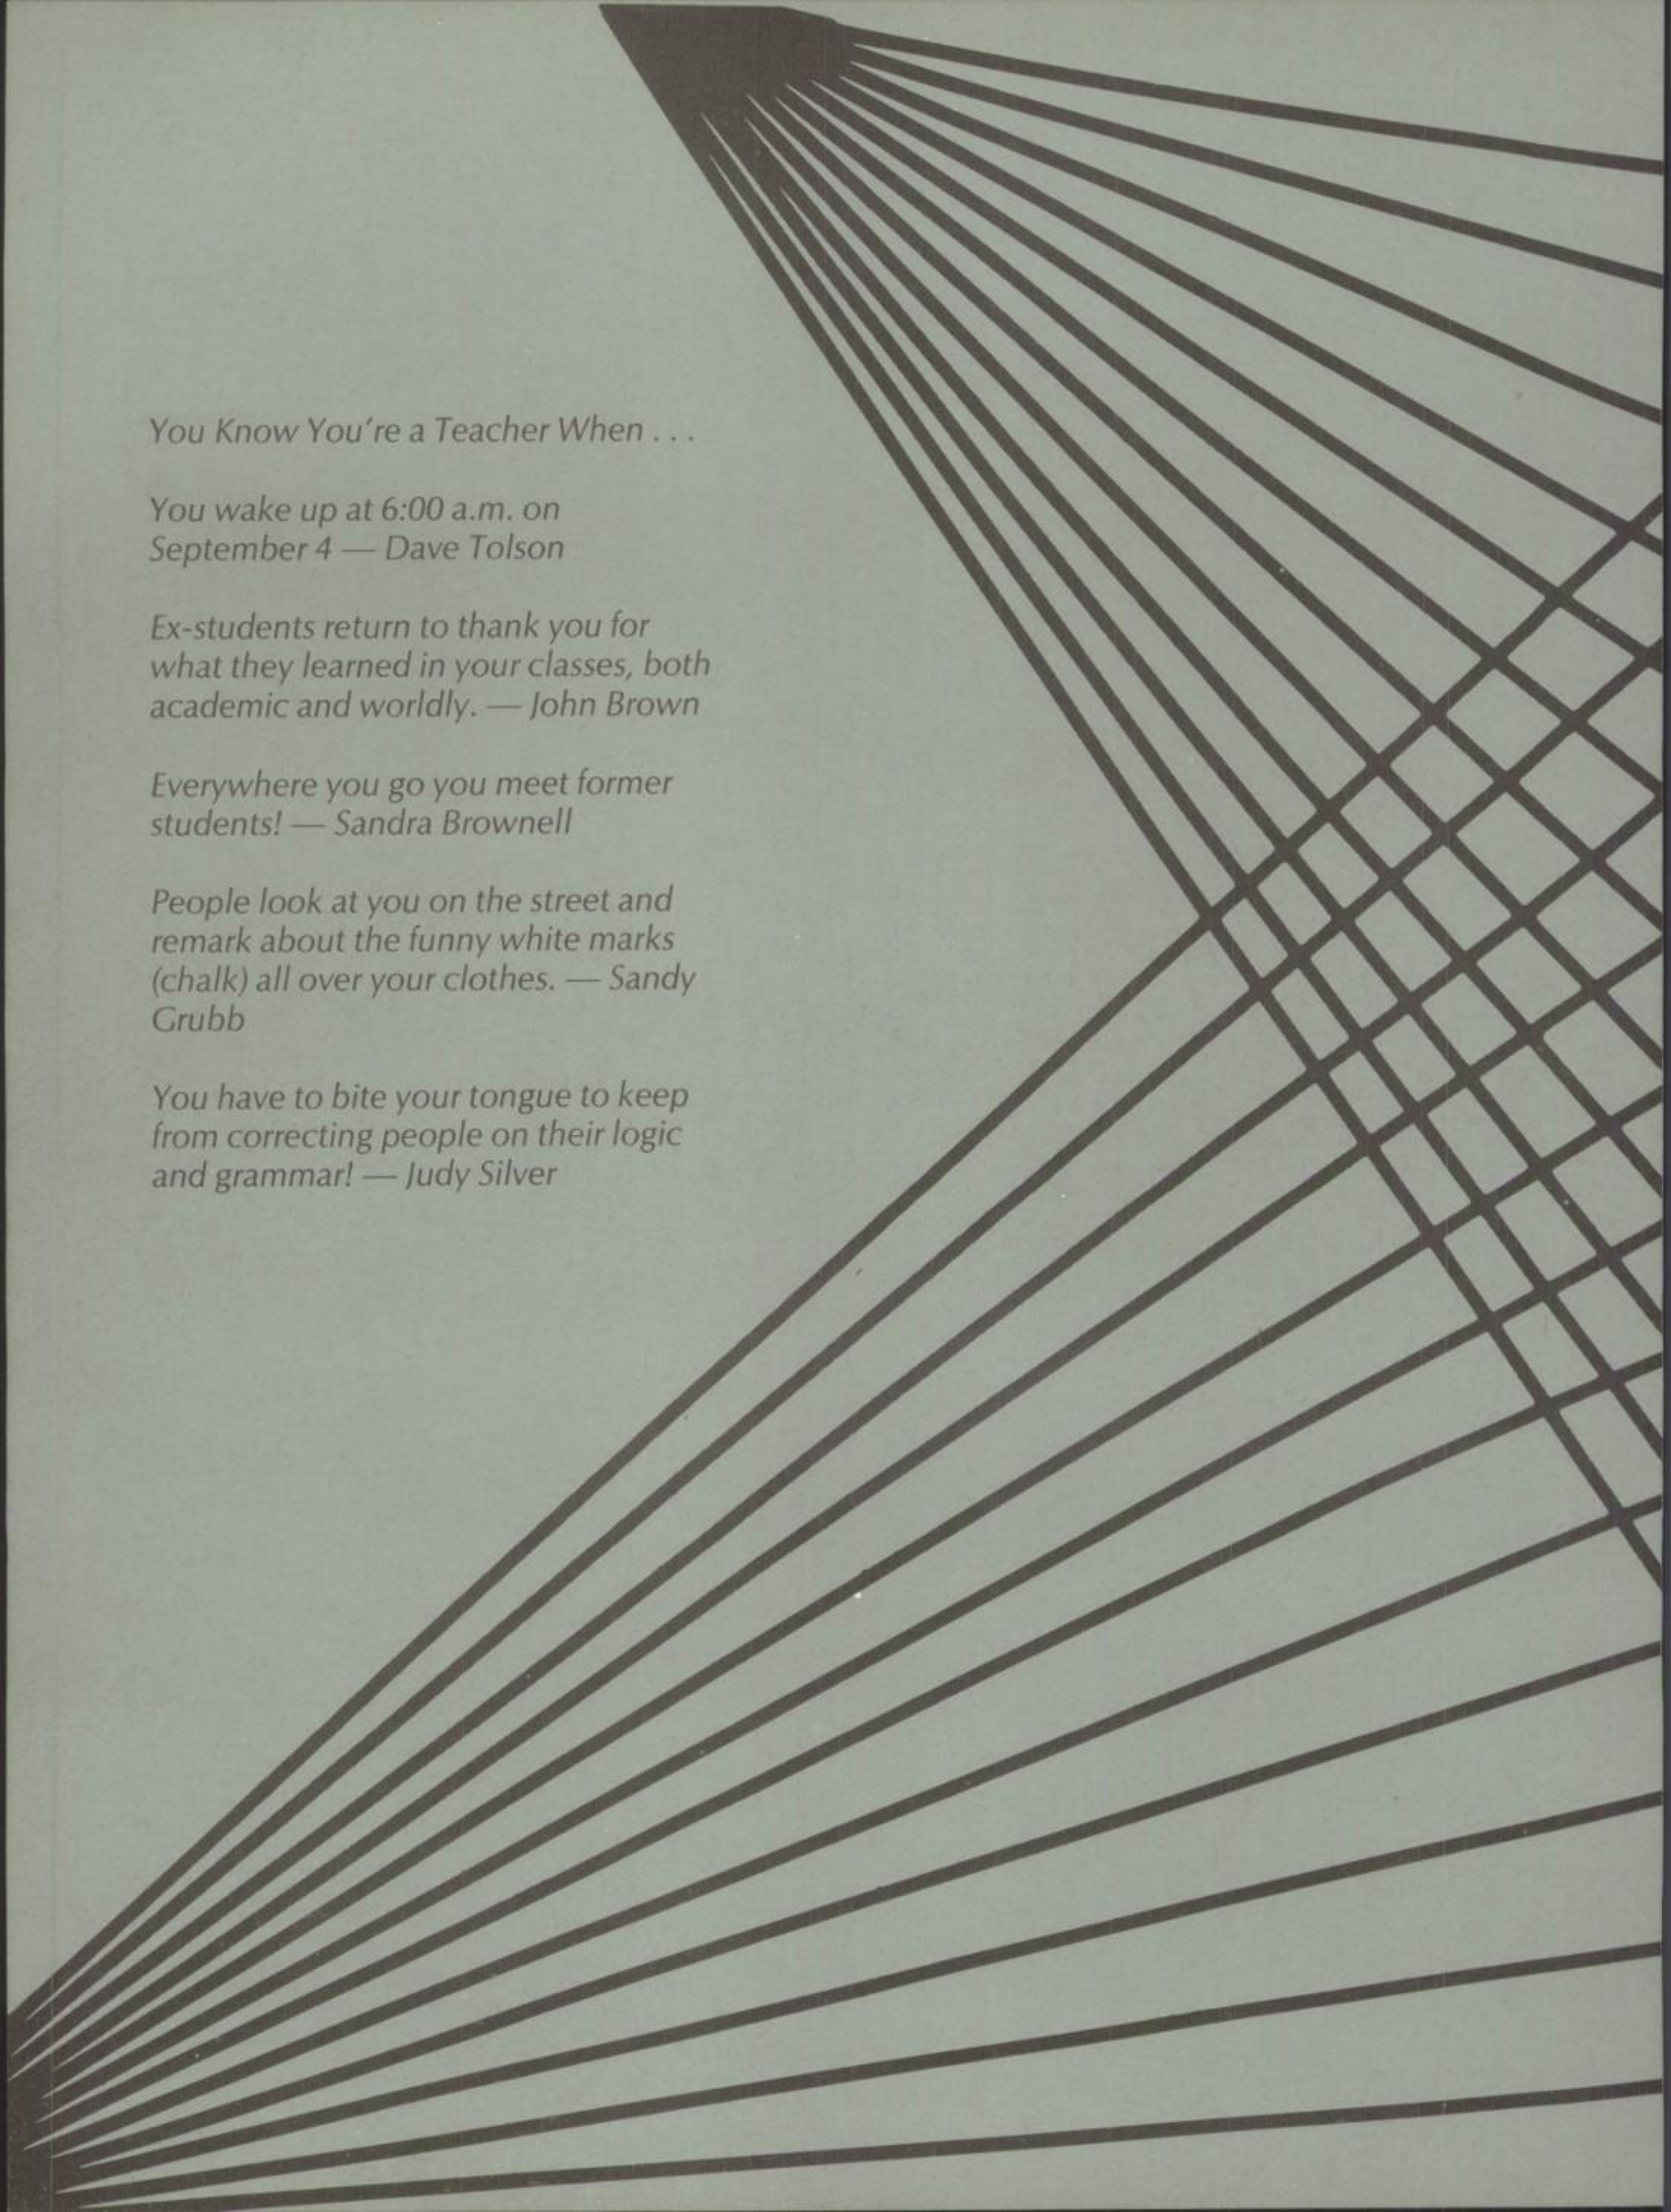

The pep club doesn't consist of many people, but everyone makes every effort to go to most of the sporting events, including parades. In or out of the Pep Club CPH has the most spirited people in the South Bay.

FACULTY

At the Helm . . .

Dr. Robert Bane, principal, describes the future years at our school as "Star Trek." The reason for this is the computer education program which began six years ago. This year Dr. Bane plans new facilities and computers for students in Journalism, Art, Business, English, and Foreign Language (via hook-ups to other countries). Dr. Bane stated "CPH is on the forefront of computer education."

Dr. Daniel Grider, has been assistant principal for two years now. As a former teacher, he feels that his new position "offers new challenges!" One of his first challenges was to set up a new attendance policy on the computer. The reason for this is to make students aware and concerned about their attendance.

Mr. Howard Rindone, Dean of Activities, is "looking for more participation from the students' school activities." He sees students' activities being essential to the school "because they keep the fellowship and interest in school, at a high standard." He supervises all school activities, advisor to all classes, and is in charge of operation and budgeting.

Dr. Jim Ledesma, new assistant principal, comes to us from Hilltop High School. He is in charge of the bilingual program, and states that "bilingual students need to be proud of their heritage, without letting that deter them from achieving language proficiency."

Ms. Diane Pico, new assistant principal, comes to us from Montgomery High School. She is in charge of coordinating the complicated testing programs, and helping with the computer work.

Model Curriculum Sets Standards

This year the Language Arts Department has taken a leadership role as a pilot program in language arts for the State of California. Over the summer Castle Park English teachers developed a section of the Model Curriculum for the state. They also were involved in the CORE Curriculum and the California Literature Project sponsored by the State and UCLA. These programs provide teachers with new ways to make the teaching of English and literature more effective.

As a part of the project, this year students participated in more activities such as class discussions, oral reading and collaborative learning (group work). Teacher strove to relate literature to the students' lives in order to generate more interest.

Mrs. Kathleen Guilfoyle, the department chairperson, is responsible for keeping all the teachers of her department informed on news and ideas concerning their subjects. She is very interested in tying literature in with writing. The students read a literary work then relate it to their own experiences. Mrs. Guilfoyle states, "The response has been fantastic; students really have great ideas when it comes to literature."

The Language Arts department consists of a broad range of subjects: English, Reading, Journalism, Foreign Language and ESL (English as a Second Language).

LANGUAGE ARTS

Bilingual/Classes Upbeat

Castle Park is blessed with students of many nationalities who enrich the quality of life here according to Ms. Joyce Cellilli, the Bilingual Education Leader at Castle Park High.

At the school, two programs are aimed to meet the language needs of these 850 students. Such programs are Chapter 1 and LEP (Limited English Proficiency). Four hundred and fifty students are enrolled in the federally funded Chapter 1 program and approximately 400 in LEP with ten teachers hired specifically to help them.

Chapter 1 consists of compensatory education in math, reading and language for students two or more years lower than their grade level.

LEP program includes bilingual and ESL (English as a Second Language) classes. The bilingual classes are taught in both English and Spanish, since Hispanics make up the majority of the bilingual population at CPH. The courses offered are all those required for graduation. ESL classes consist of intensive language instruction for students whose first language is other than English.

At CPH bilingual education is "a definite priority," states Mr. Michael Callahan. For that reason this year a new project has been designed to make bilingual education more effective. ESL students will be divided into three levels of proficiency: beginning, intermediate and advanced. The students will be given all their subjects with the same teacher while they continue their language instruction. As they progress they will go to the next level or into regular classes. The teachers involved in this project are Mr. Callahan, Ms. Ann Becijos and Mr. David Tolson.

Being a bilingual teacher is both "hard and challenging," as Mr. Ernesto Zamudia puts it. "Long hours full of things to do," states Mr. Jaime Cueva. However, it is a necessary job that "helps keep many students in school who would otherwise drop out," says Mr. Tolson.

Bilingual teachers, like most teachers at CPH, are very demanding. Mr. George Dominguez's goal for his students is "to motivate them into mainstreaming and raising their educational expectations." Ms. Carmen Camarena's students compensate her efforts to help them when they are "able to keep up while learning the language."

Ms. Cellilli says of the purpose of Chapter 1 and LEP, "We want what every nation wants for its youth — personal satisfaction and accomplishment of worthy goals."

Variety Is Name of Game

The Math Department gives students a wide variety of math courses ranging from general math to the calculus class which consists of the 13 top math students on campus. This was the first year Castle Park offered Calculus on campus.

Needless to say, calculus and math of any kind for the most part, requires time and an abundance of patience both for the student and the teacher. Although math may be one of the subjects most dreaded on campus, as one math student put it, "Once it's all over, you have an immense feeling of achievement because math is one of the few courses you take in high school that can be applied to so many different aspects of your life after high school."

Peek-a-boo. Mr. Jessen is caught in the act of a game of peek-a-boo in the computer room.

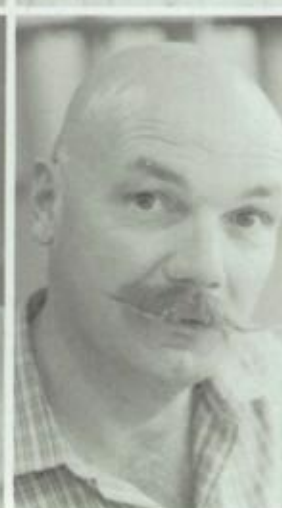

"Science is an adventure, it teaches the whole human race to live together, and perhaps to love the universe. To be a part of it is to understand oneself, to begin to feel that there is a capacity within man far beyond what he felt he had, of an infinite extension of human possibilities." said I. I. Rabi, concerning the significance of science. The science courses ranging from General Science to Physics, helped students become a part of this adventure.

CPH now offers the only advanced anthropology class of any high school in California. This new course called Native Americans was begun this year by the Social and Behavioral Sciences Department.

I was hypnotized on stage in an all school assembly and I sang, "I Wish I Were An Oscar Meyer Wiener!" for all to hear.

Carolyn Ketterer

I knocked a strawberry cream pie out of Mr. Rindone's hands onto a student's new white shoes.

Ellen Stiles

All the ninth grade kids find out that I'm Pee Wee Herman.

Michael Callahan

I parked in the principal's reserved parking space the very first day I taught at CPHS.

Bigger Classes Mean Better Drama

Castle Park High School's Fine Arts Department seems to be improving more and more each year. Instead of just having two classes they have three, which equals out to about a 33 percent increase in drama students.

With so much talent to work with, the best can only get better! Mrs. Martineau and the Drama Department have won many awards in drama, including best supporting actor and actress. Last year the drama department walked away with the award for "Best Play" at the One-Act Play Festival.

The students not only learn tips on good acting, but they also learn about writing, drawing scenery, and working with the lights in the theater.

"Line It Up:" Mr. Brown makes sure that all his students' projects are perfect!

You Know You're a Teacher When . . .

All your dreams are in six steps.

You start forgetting insignificant things, like where you live.

E. Zamudio

Clerks in the department store tell you that there's red ink on your face.

Jim Finnerty

You hear one of your students say, "When I get old like you!"

Barbara Clark

I have a positive influence on my students.

Ann Strawn

Labor Day rolls around and you start having the urge to sharpen red pencils.

Nate Wallace

You spend your time at the football games grading papers; when you almost correct the grammar of a perfect stranger in the supermarket, and when someone you've just met says, "You look like a teacher."

To a real big mouth,

Hey girlie well this year is almost over now but thanks to cheerleading we'll be seeing each other in summer. It's a real trip to ~~the~~ know you so don't change. Maybe you can change your big mouth thought. I'm just kidding. I know it more will help you in cheerleading. Well maybe we can talk more often than we do now. Jape came wild n' CRAZY angie!

Almost there, this is true.

So many things we look forward to.

Our high school years, drifting away,
Somehow we've managed day by day.

Looking forward to our senior year,
Means facing grief and yet much cheer.

Our junior year we'll never forget.
The memories we've shared, we won't regret.

United we've been, united we'll stay;
Somehow it's always been that way.

As our junior year makes a lasting impression,
We look forward to '88 with great anticipation!

Striving to be the best

The junior class has survived two years of barriers, obstacles, and disappointments, but that has not stopped their everlasting spirit. Consisting of only some 300 students, the juniors banded together and persevered, waiting for their senior year to come. Even though they stood united throughout the year, they still developed themselves as strong individuals striving for recognition in sports, academics, and school activities.

They faced college PSAT tests. If enrolled in Honors English and Honors U.S. History, many complained of the never-ending homework, claiming this to be their hardest year ever. Some found jobs a necessity, especially to pay for their first car. They agreed that it was not quantity that really mattered, but quality. With that goal in mind, they attempted to make the junior class the symbol of our "new generation."

DEAD NINJA PARTY!!

CPH's Little Drummer Boy

One of the things Castle Park is known for is the award winning marching band. Many talented people help to form this band, each doing their own special thing. One person who fits that description is Ronnie Manaog. Ronnie not only plays the drums, but also the piano and the guitar. He has also composed his own song titled "Moonlight Fantasy," which he performed at last year's Pops Concert '86.

Ronnie has been practicing the drums for about nine years. Though he is not in any band outside of school, he frequently has jam sessions with other students who have formed their own band.

Ronnie, who has been in marching band since the seventh grade, likes most about being in a band is the family type atmosphere and just being a part of the pride and tradition that makes this band what it is today. To him, playing the drums is a fun and an enjoyable learning experience. "I'm just doing what I love to do best: performing music," he states.

Ronnie has received many awards ranging from best musician two years in a row, to superior ratings in solo festivals. After graduating, Ronnie hopes to go on with his music. He plans to get into a college with a good, strong music program. After that he hopes to become a professional musician.

▲ Center of Attention. Everyone seems to be attracted to Fernando Ruiz's latest adventure.

David "the boss" Carpenter

... has definitely earned his nickname. "David has been playing football since fifth grade. His experience and attitude on the field has earned him the title of captain of six of this year's football games, "I guess I have the ability to keep the family type attitude. If we play together as a family, we win." David's goal next year is to get the county rushing record. Castle Parks football coach, Coach Oliver commented, "David not only has fine physical ability, but has the knack for bringing our team together. David and his teammate, John Stanton, might become the first players in school history to play on three league championship teams. Knowing David I know his goal will be more important than any individual statistics he might compile."

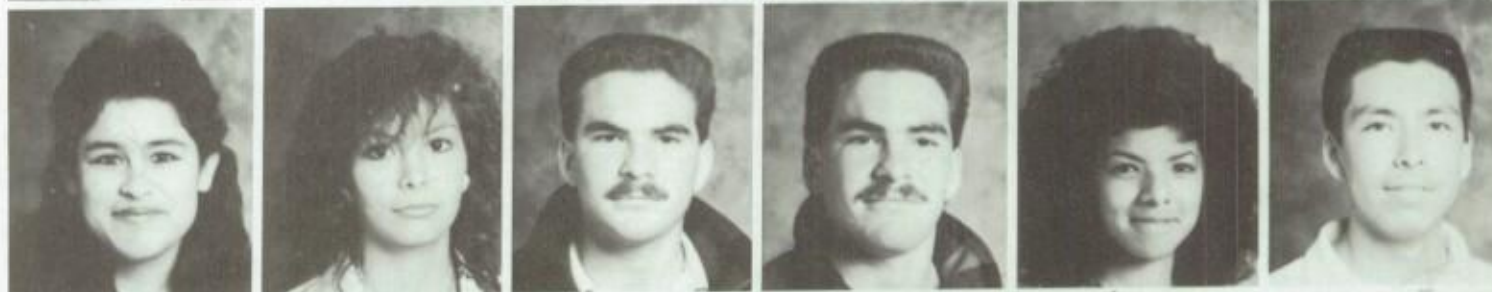

David also plays basketball and runs track. He's been involved in drama for two years and is very committed to the S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving) project. But David's true love is football so much that after high school David plans to play professional football and major in accounting.

Make way!

Unquestionably, the top experience of any junior is the first time they get behind the wheel of a car. So hang on to your hats, while we take a ride with some maniac junior drivers...

Most juniors begin their task of driving at the ages of 13-16. The feelings most commonly expressed are nervousness and fright.

Paul Johnston felt "real nervous because I was used to sitting in the passengers seat." Karla Gutierrez felt really "confused." Luis Meyers felt like "I was in another world." Laura Ibarra felt "nervous." Then there are those with a positive attitude toward driving. For instance, Tony Laszacs felt "powerful;" Brenda Perez "never wanted to get off the wheel." David Husted had an odd feeling; he felt "rad and like a girl." First time Mike Valleri drove he felt "like a stud" and Grace Bray felt "in control" and Victor Aguilar felt "funny."

The majority of the juniors often have their first crash along with their first experience of driving. First time Antionette Iwatsu drove she simply "CRASHED." Gladys Castaneda "ran into a big hole;" Melissa Walkup "crashed into the washing machine;" Cheryl Siega "ran into the garage;" And Azeneth Garza "crashed into three cars!!!"

Others were daring and took any risks like Scott Johansen; he didn't have his license and was "hoping not to get caught." Mireya Vasquez "took the car without permission." Rosa Hurtado "took my sister's car." Alfonso Jaramillo was probably the riskiest: he took the car without permission when his dad was out of town!!!

Several juniors summed the experience up: Robert Martinez described it "break, gas, break, gas break, gas." Shawn Vasey described it as "strange." Felipe Gang said it was "cool," and David Lizarraga "felt it as a great accomplishment." LaMonica Lieras responded, "I was 14 and I drove stick shift; my feet didn't know where to go; they looked like they were playing the piano."

Brains and talent

Brains, talent, wits, all describe Junior Sheila Rodriguez. Sheila is well known for her academic skills at school, but also for her many talents.

This year, Sheila received an award for achieving the highest percentile in the junior class on the CTBS testing. (California Testing Basic Skills). She is also the vice-president of the CSF (California Scholarship Federation) at CPH. Education is emphasized in Sheila's home. "Sure, my parents pressure me to learn, they believe that school is top priority." How does she do it? "You've got to have total determination, strive to be the best," states Sheila.

Sheila puts a lot of dedication into studying, four to five hours daily. Sometimes her dedication takes her beyond her limits. "There are times when I have to wake up pretty early in the morning to finish up what I didn't get done the night before."

Somehow, Sheila makes time enough to enjoy life like any other teenager. Sheila sings and plays tennis. She has been singing ever since she was eight years old. Last year she sang "Crazy for You" at the Castle Park Pops Concert. She played her first year of tennis on the CPH team this year.

Her goal in life is to continue her education and become a medical pediatrician.

First Date Tales

For most of us, our first date experience is a very memorable one. We asked the junior class to describe their first date in one word. Here's what some said:

Most of us usually have a dream date . . . either tall, dark, and handsome or slim, molded, and beautiful, but for Carlos Martinez his dream date turned out to be a "nightmare." Marcus Johnson's date was equally "scarry!" Something must of gone beserk on Mireya Vasquez's first date; she described hers as a "disaster." David Husted gave his first date a real compliment, "ugly."

A word could not describe Brenda Perez's; she said hers was "uckkk." Elizabeth Lee's "blah" couldn't of been as "greattt!" as Nora Guerrero's first date. "Supreme" described Jeff Hamilton's first date experience, but I bet it wasn't "bitchen" like Bart Kameraad's. Frank Perez must of had a "smooth, keen" date like Ronnie Manog. Frank's date was described "ahhh." Bobby Fairchild's "fast" date couldn't have been as "adventrest" as Esther Lynn's and as "outrageous" as Mary Mudry's.

While Ceaser Gutierrez had an "ectasy" experience, poor Marbella Mondaca had an "innocent" one. Alex Leon's "tender" experience was just the opposite of Luis Meyer's "wow" of an experience. David Carpenter was "copesetic!!!" In the meantime Vincent Charfarous was "gnarly." Fernando Gracia Couldn't wait to see his "hot" date. Pilar Ezeta had an "exciting" date, but Pamela Murphy experienced "the ultimate!!!"

What's in the box? Angela Day and her friends anxiously admire the Christmas grams to be delivered.

Friends today partners tomorrow

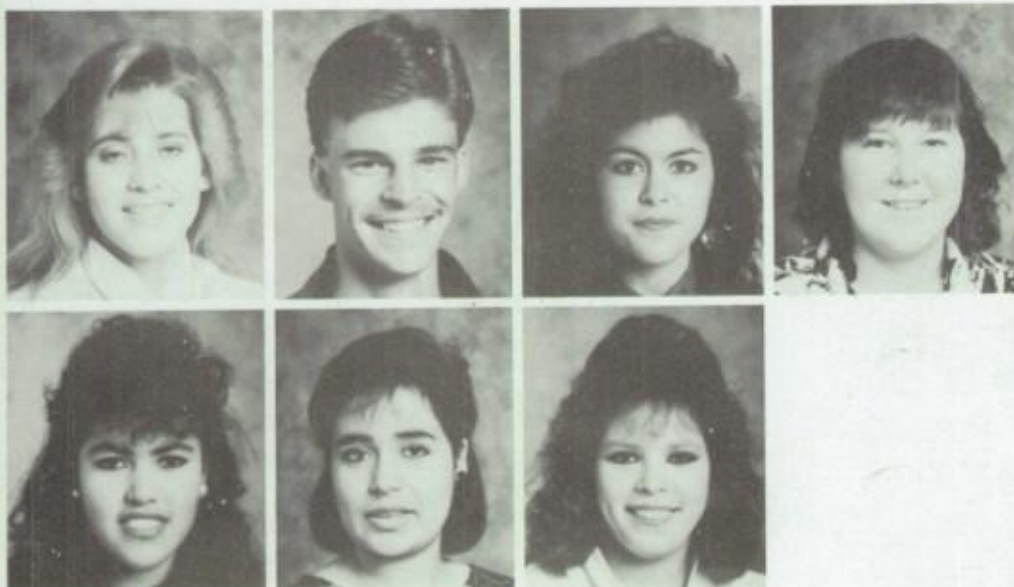

Carlos Herbert and Ronnie Barel, two artistically talented juniors, each are desirous of "becoming artists like Picasso," according to Carlos.

What makes these two guys stand out in the junior class is that "they are at a college level in the art field, not at a high school level like others," states Mr. Joe Schmidt, Castle Park High School art teacher. But other than that, Carlos and Ronnie are best friends and they plan to stay that way, "We want to open a gallery someday, and sell our paintings," comments Carlos.

Both Carlos and Ronnie want careers in the art field. They have already launched these careers. By the time they were in the ninth grade they were both in honors art. Ronnie took art classes in New Mexico where he lived before moving to the Castle Park area, but Carlos took his courses down at the junior high school (CPMS). Their paintings have been displayed various times here at school in the art window. Ronnie would like to have a gallery in New Mexico. "We'd probably call it H and B. Company," says Ronnie. Their friendship is at a not "dog eat dog" competition; they plan to grow together in the future not just in friendship, but also as a company.

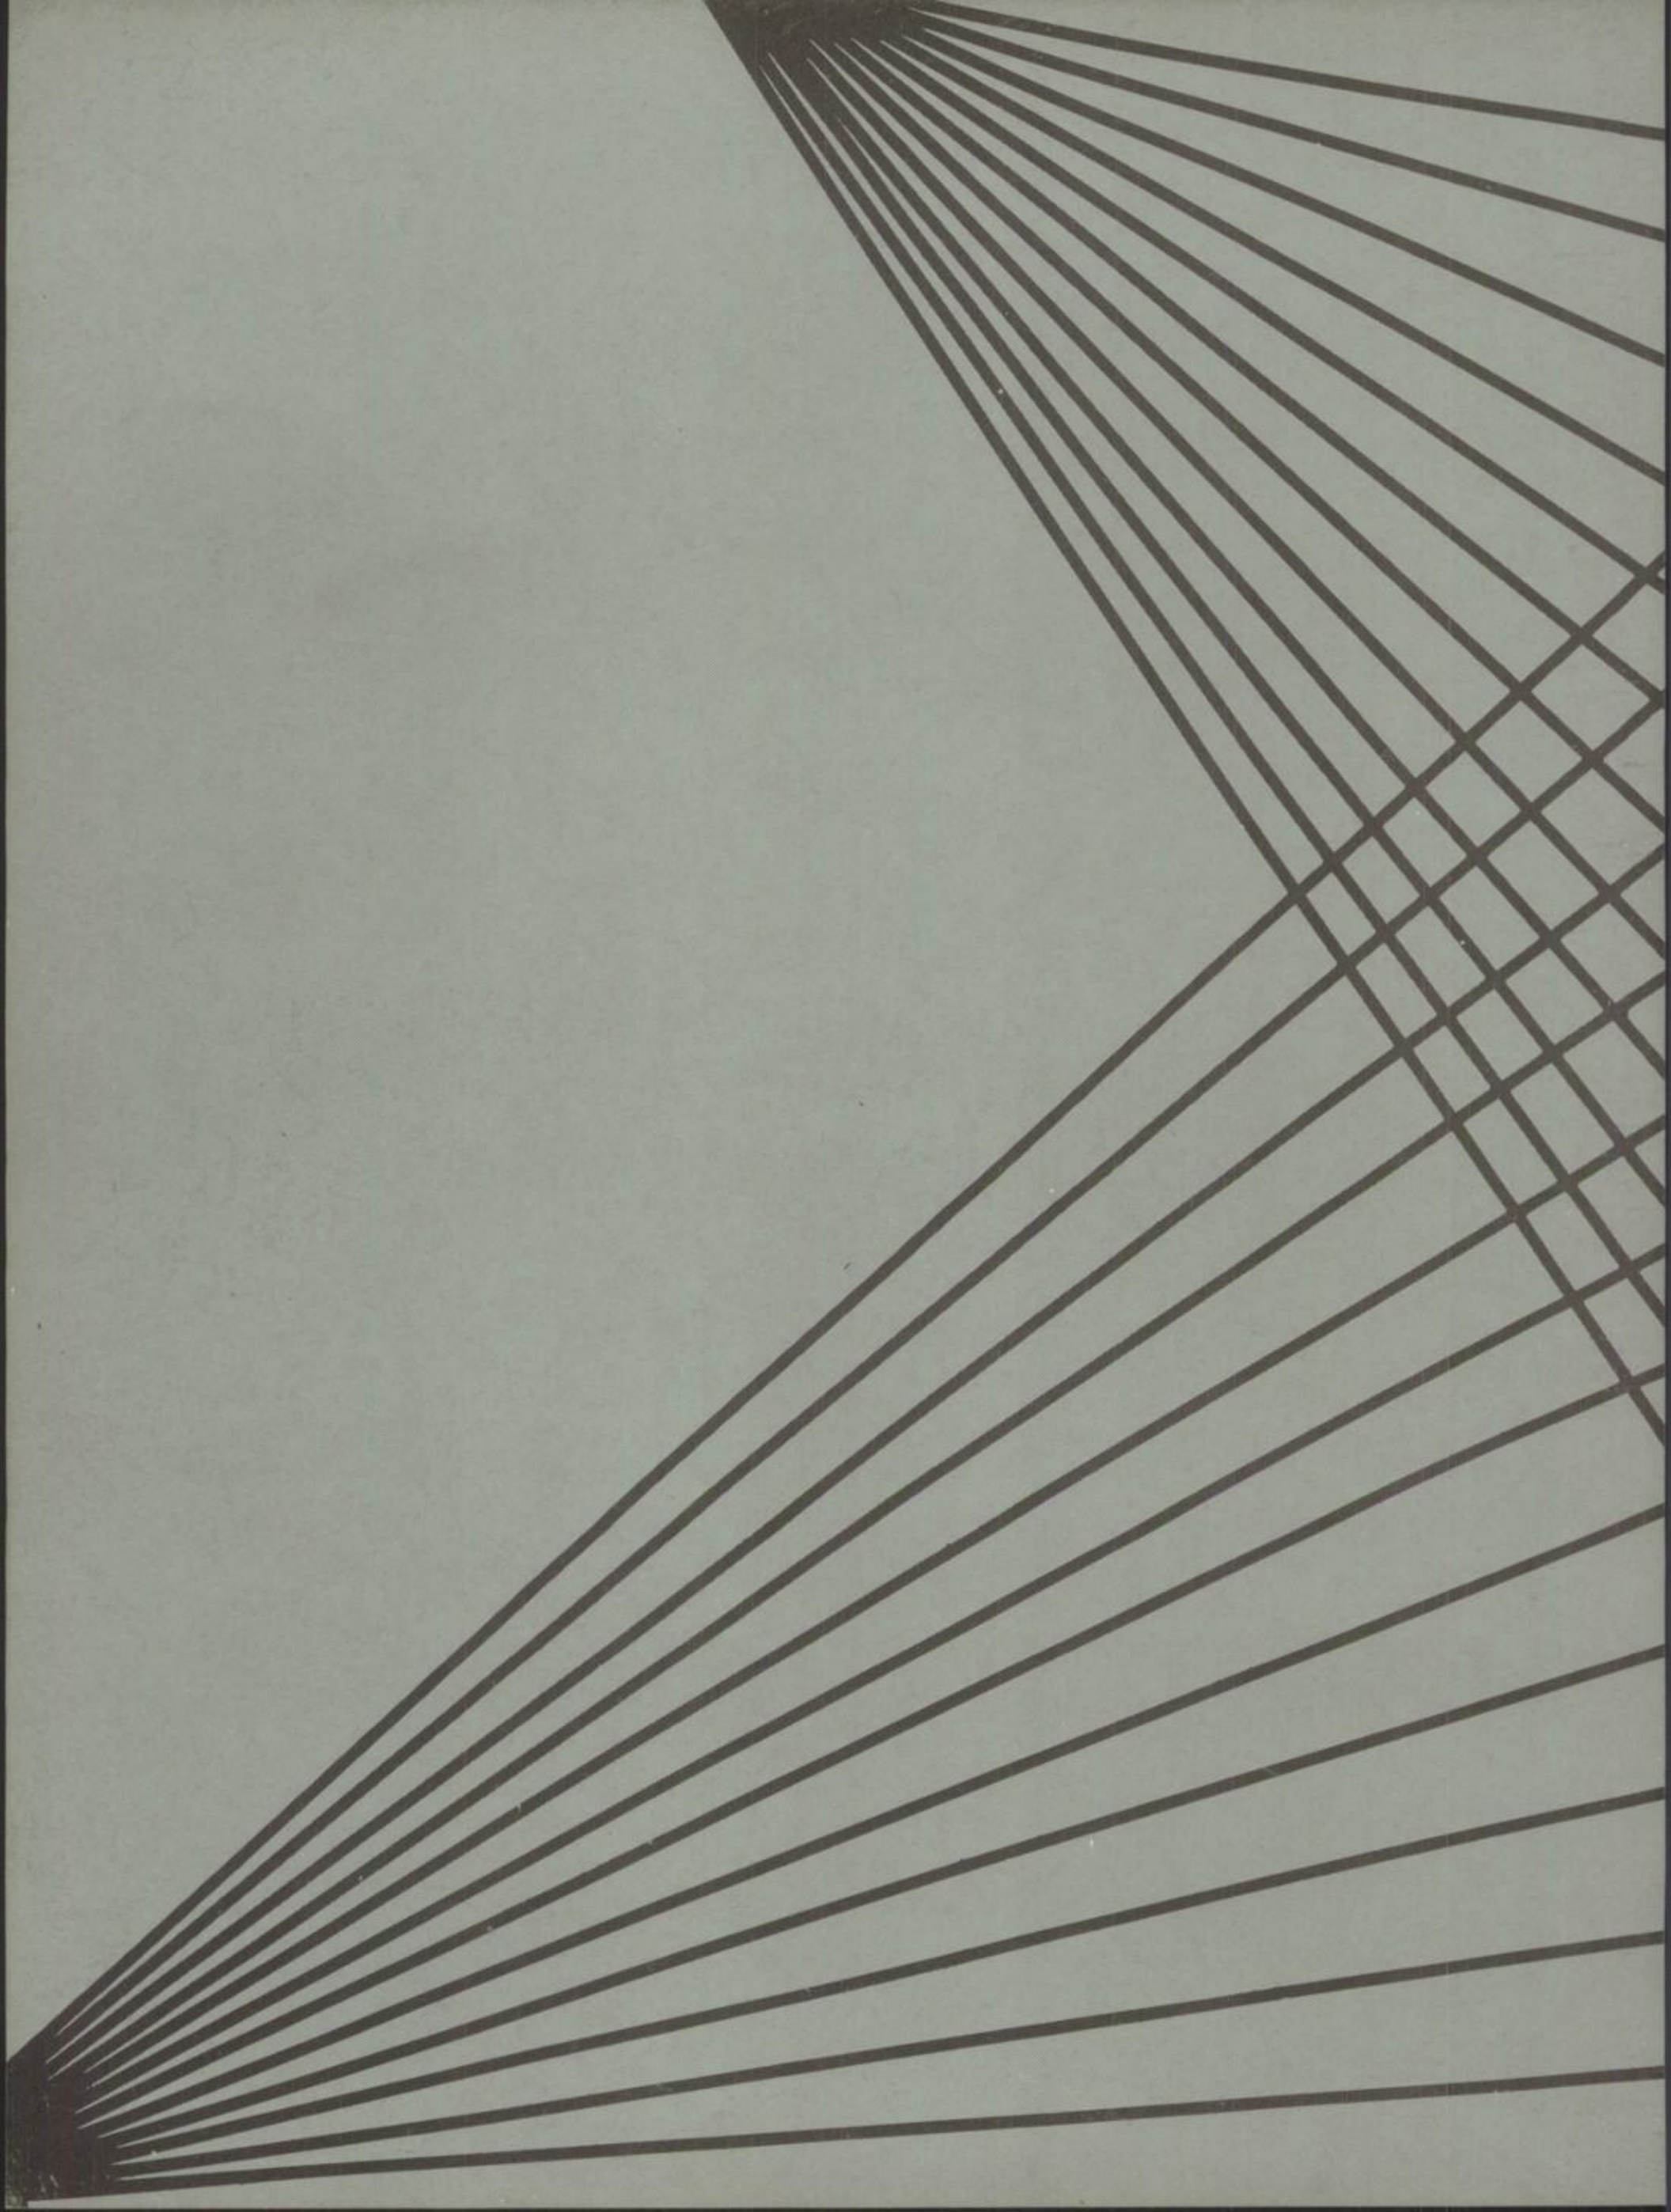

"The feeling that I get when I do a piece of art work that is admired and liked, is one that is never forgotten," states Ronnie "Yeah, art comes naturally ... you just got to use your imagination," added Carlos.

School is like a social place.
School is like a jail.
School is like a smelly gym sock.
Even though you try not to fail.

School is like your house.
School is like a special occasion.
School is like a job.
Don't just come here for an education.

Brains and Beauty

Gina Cogswell ranked one of the highest test scores on all levels of the California Test of Basic Skills. She was honored at an assembly on November 21.

It takes discipline to be at the top academically. Gina spends one hour of studying a night. Her favorite subjects are science and math. Her extracurricular activities include Trojan Knights, cross-country, and the speech team. She plans on attending the University of California Berkeley after high school. When asked about her feelings toward Castle Park, she replied, "Castle Park is fabulous, there is no other high school that I would go to."

Looking Back

Looking back on their freshman year at CPH we asked the sophomores to describe it with a song.

With all the change they experienced, sophomores felt the "Hard Times" and "Tears" expressed some of the life at CPH. Others said it seemed as though "Somebody's Watching Me" and that "Hell is for Children." Many of them had also heard "Rumors" about high school that compounded their fear.

Later, after they had experienced their first few action packed Trojan football games and great dances, the sophomores said they entered the "Wild Life" and were telling their "Mama, We're All Crazy Now" and to "Watch Out Weekends."

Finally, by the end of the year, the sophomores realized that going to high school was "Just Another Day" and many were saying "I Got a New Attitude." Most important, by the end of their freshman year they learned that high school is full of "Opportunities."

Look alike

We asked the sophomores, class of '89, who their teachers looked like. According to their responses, they must watch plenty of television, because the majority matched CPH teachers with television stars. Some examples: Dr. Willie Lassiter reminded students of Gary Coleman. Also, Robert Vigil reminded sophomores of Mr. Rogers. They then remarked on the resemblance between Mr. Del Bangle to Grizzly Adams, Mr. Dave Dolson to Don Johnson. Finally, Pee Wee Herman and Don Knotts have some heavy competition from Mr. Michael Callahan, and Mr. Joe Schmidt.

Some sophomores also informed us about what teacher they would like to be, and why. The winners were Mr. Paul Avalos, and Mrs. Carmen Camerena, because they have "great relationships with students and they understand the way teenagers think!"

Sophomorism

What it is to be a sophomore depends on your point of view and your grade. To seniors and juniors, sophomores are just more people who get in their way. To freshmen, sophomores are just more people they have to avoid. But the the sophomores themselves, they are survivors. People who have gotten the knack of how to go to school at Castle Park.

They are like people in the military who have been promoted to the higher rank of sophomore. They literally move up in the world, from the gym floor to the bleachers. They have a sense of seniority over the people under them and exercise their rank to make the freshmen as unhappy as they were.

The years they have put in before coming of age has taught them the "ins" and "outs" of going to school: how to psyche out their teachers by acting like they're actually interested in the class; how to avoid taking tests by acting like they're sick; how to get the homework done by getting it from other people, and how to just pass their class.

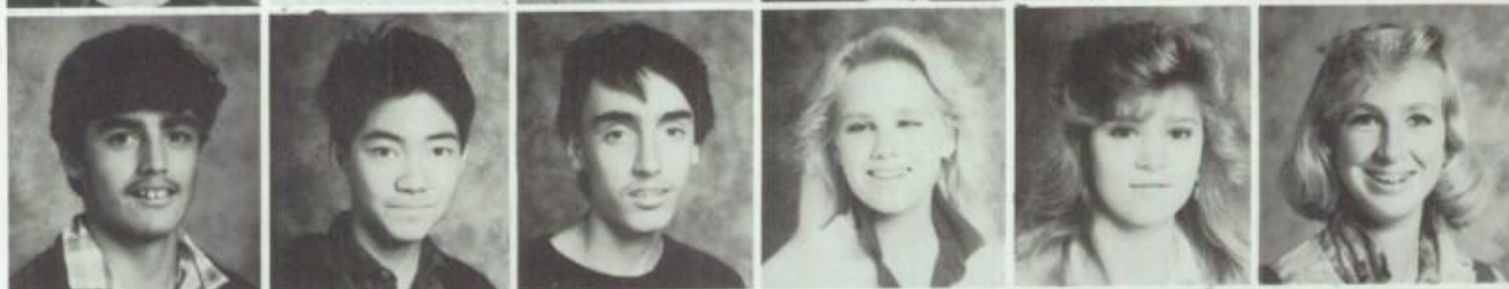

What is it to be a sophomore? It would be like asking Kadafi what it's like to be an American. Being a sophomore is as fun, easy, boring or hard as you make it, but this guy plans to have a ball!

No End, Just a Beginning

*My sophomore year at Castle Park was fun.
Each day I was in the halls on the run,
Wondering if I would be late for school or if I was breaking any rules.*

*This year was not like my ninth grade class.
Tenth grade has been a blast!
Making new friends around school from end to end.
Sending boutonnieres to your boyfriend.*

*Bumping into guys who are BMOC,
Hoping one day they will notice me.
Buying junk food at the ASB
Getting sick from too many Reeces.*

*Waiting for grade day to come,
To see if I'll be happy or bummed.*

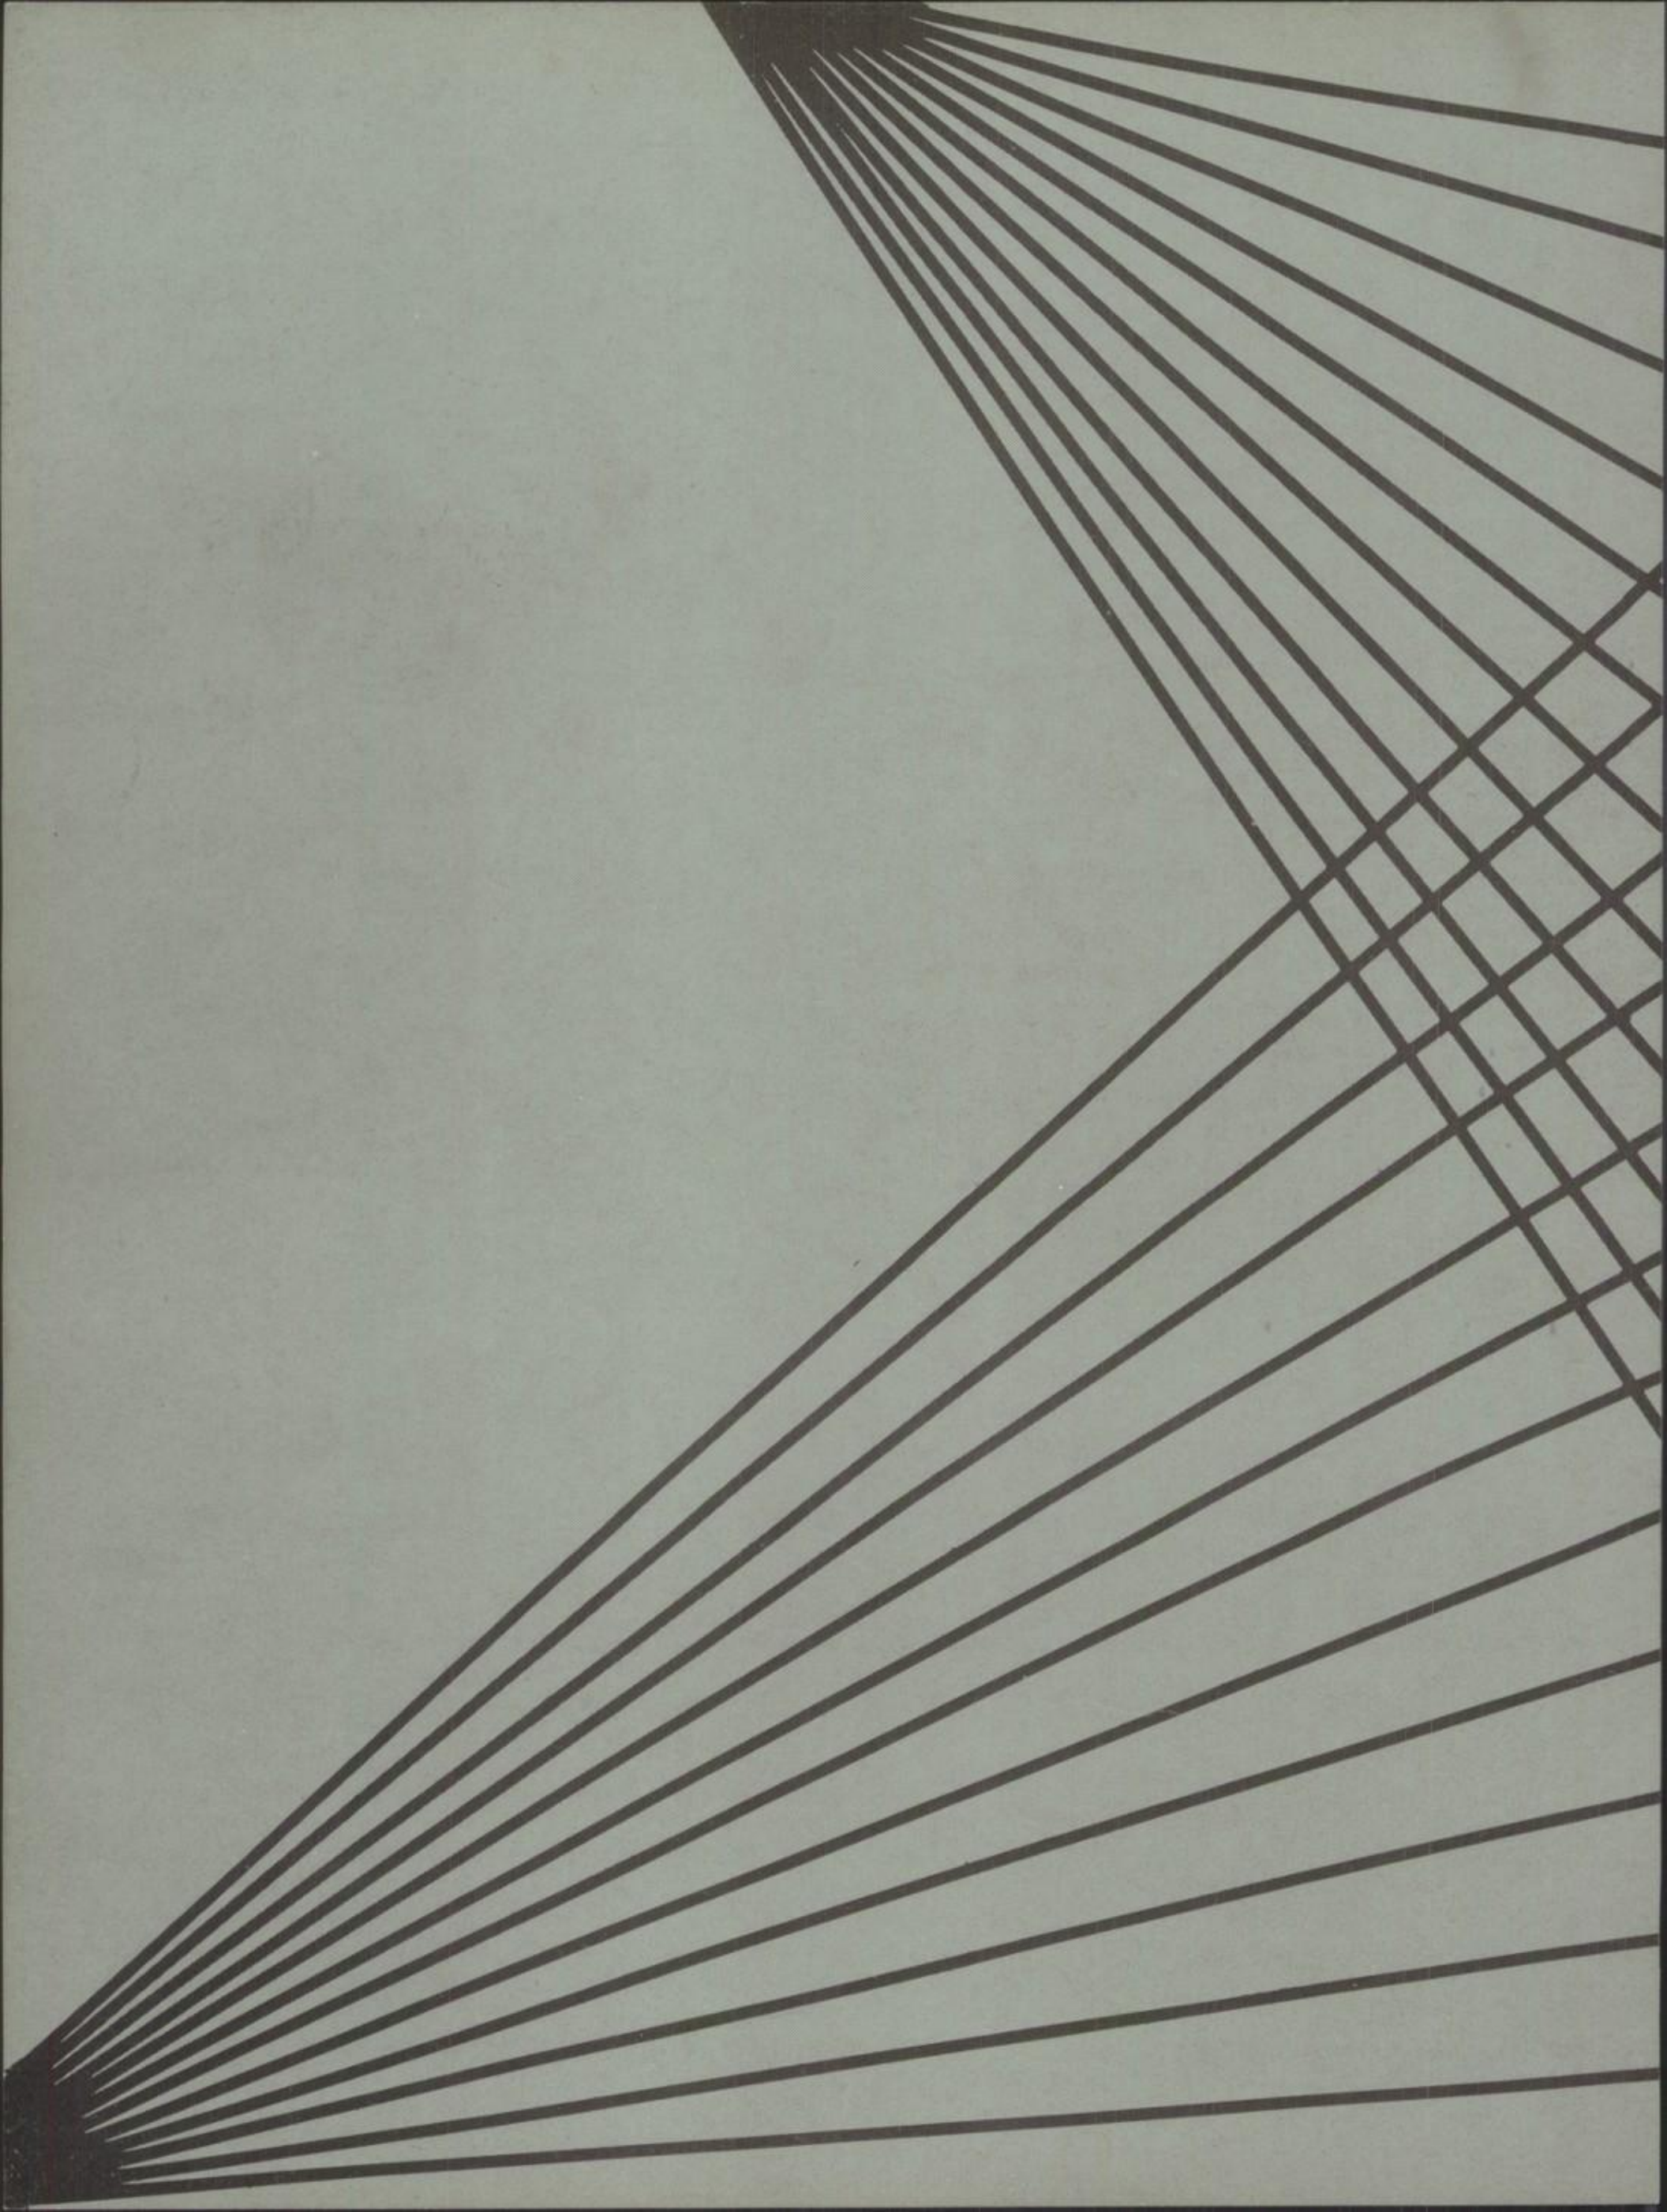

*Listening to the daily bulletin.
Wearing school colors, a tradition.*

*Having all our sports win against other teams.
Having rad assemblies where we scream.
Watching the cheerleaders encourage football games,
We're better than the other schools who are lame.*

*Getting involved in activities and clubs.
Selling candy bars to go to the German pubs.
Hoping for short days of school or holidays
Wearing clothes for the newest craze.*

*I think the class of '89
will be the best of all time!*

— Jennifer Webb

Looking Forward

As freshmen, their first year has been a special one. They will remember how big the campus appeared on their first day of school, and how confused and scared they were. They will remember the challenges they had to conquer.

Some of them had to take classes that they were not ready for, while others took honor classes, trying to achieve excellence. But for the most part, they were preparing themselves for the many obstacles that lay ahead of them.

Their first year of high school. The end of their childhood and the beginning of their adulthood. They have made their way into the land of Troy!

Grady — Sprinting for Glory

Brad Grady has gotten this year off to a running start and he's been going ever since. Grady was a large part of the championship cross-country team.

"What I like most about cross-country is the victories over the other schools. My most memorable moment was when I beat Balvenedo in three point one mile race with a time of 16:32."

Brad was introduced to the sport in the seventh grade while he was attending Castle Park Middle. Ranked as one of the two top cross-country runners at CPH, Brad holds te impressive running statistics of between 18:23 and 16:31.

Brad hopes to receive a scholarship to a four year college. The way things are going; it looks like a race to the top.

Freshman, Only a Title

The freshmen entered Castle Park in a daze, not knowing what was going on. They suffered through the trials and tribulations of being freshmen together. They showed their pride in different ways, but all found a way to express it.

Though being a freshman may seem like being at the bottom of the barrel, many of the freshmen take pride in its title. Edward Patterson says, "It's great to be a freshman because I'm not at the middle school anymore." Laura Gomez and Octavio Navarette share the same viewpoint and think, "It's different and exciting to be a freshman."

Then again, there are those who detest being freshmen. "I feel like a nerd!" says Robert Lang, while Diana Garcia states, "The upperclassmen make us feel like scum!" Jeff Aderholdt feels stupid because he says everyone is always saying, "stupid freshmen!"

Jessica Ellison doesn't mind being a freshman because she feels "Everyone was once a freshman and I'm proud to be in the grade that I'm in." Ned Weinberg sums it up by saying, "Freshman is only a title; it's nothing more, nor is it anything less."

All Right Trojans! were these freshmen's response to a C.P. touchdown.

The Race Is on between the freshmen and the Juniors.

Hey you, upperclassmen

*Hey you, upperclassmen, so smug and smart,
Do you have a heart?
Remember the times you were lost.
Remember your ego and the cost.*

*Ah yes, you laugh at my confusion.
And me? I need an energy infusion.
The classwork is all new.
My grades are black and blue.*

*The rules seem to change every day
And again I've lost my way.*

*Seems just yesterday I was top dog.
Now I'm in a homework bog.*

*I stand here, the lowest of the low.
I wish I'd hurry up and grow!
I hate it here at the bottom of the rung.
Being upperclass has got to be more fun.*

*Yet when I achieve that exalted status,
I won't give anything for gratis.
I'll give the new freshmen a hard time,
Because it's a ladder we all must climb.*

Dedicated to Lety and Lisa from your loca and loving friend, Linda!!

Que! Que! Dejame! Dejame! De..ja..me!! Te voy a pegar eh Lisa?

Lety, ahorra quien es? Sergio, Caleb, Pancho Jr., or Rachel's cousin (dimples)? Y tu Lisa quien? Steve E., Steve A., or your baby Javier?

Para mi, yo no se si Chava, Chuy or you know who? Remember Dennis, (the rad coach) and all those wonderful, wonderful pictures!!!

Laughing at all those wierd jokes of his and all of my nasty ones.

'Member wrestling? Killim'! Killim'! and my hair looking like Lisa's red-haired novio. Oh, ho, ho, ho!! Lisa, you wanted that picture of your baby soo bad that you had to snag it from me pero luego te ----- verdad? El "G" con, "THE BANK IS OPEN FOR DEPOSITS BUT NO WITHDRAWALS."

'Member Lety, ALRIGHT!! We loved to cheer. All those radical b-ball games that made us soo rowdy. Remember those hilarious letters that we wrote to each other Lisa in German? Him and his w i d e shoes. Quieres al "G" verdad Lisa? Lisa's old saying, "Pero sabes que te quiero mija!"

Lisa couldn't make up her mind whether to go with "tough muff" Margie or poor little Tammy. Remember that trick we played on Tammy. Those were some of the funniest times. We'd be here all week if we told of every funny thing that happened to us. I'll never forget you gals.

< We've had the best of times.... Lisa, Linda y Lety.... Las Pen.....ietas!! >

Then and Now

You've Come a Long Way, Baby

In the 60's they marched for civil rights. Today the causes have faded to the background and everyone's concerned about jobs.

Mrs. Jody Creighton explained "In the 60's we were very idealistic. We believed that this country needed changing and some of us marched for our beliefs. Today, students are faced with fewer job opportunities, because of computers etc., so their concerns are more self-centered."

Several teachers remember CPH as it once was. Mr. Sam Boggs, who is now an English teacher at CPH, remembers CPH as it was when he graduated in 1975. Discipline, according to Mrs. Barbara Clark, is better now than it was then. Mrs. Creighton explained, "60's children were very rebellious." The biggest change has been the advent of the computer according to Mr. Charles Dappert. He added "Students today seem to be involved in more activities outside the school rather than within."

Dress has changed greatly. Mr. Dappert remembered the boy's long hair and girls' long skirts. Schools had strict dress codes then. Mrs. Creighton remembers teased hair, felt skirts with poodles on them, saddle oxfords and bobby socks.

Mr. Boggs remembers certain teachers such as Mrs. Baumgarten and Mr. Vigil and enjoying their classes. Some things never change!

▲► 60's hairstyle. Anne Gagnon teased her hair in the 60's, but now sports a more natural look.

◀◀ Natural growth. Seniors in the 60's stand behind the one foot hedge. Today you can't even see over them.

◀▼ Something missing? The old Castle Park didn't have the outdoor stage we have today.

Trends

Trend Setting Capital

New Generation Brings About New Trends

As you're walking to school one day you notice a pair of white silver studded boots. You follow up the boot and see millions of tassels hanging off the edges. You then notice the billowing denim skirt and matching shirt which are covered in rhinestones. You see a similarly dressed girl up the road, another, then another. You begin to wonder if you've landed in the middle of a John Wayne movie, but then you realize you're actually in the trend setting capital of Chula Vista... Castle Park High!

This year's trends displayed the versatility of human nature. Girls actually wore metallic gold and silver shoes, bows, belts and carried metallic bags. The guys took to wearing Corona beer tee-shirts of all colors and sizes. These tees became the "in" thing on campus. People displayed their party streaks by wearing different tee-shirts of all colors and sizes. Other evident trends involved girls' "Fergie" bows or coloring their hair with different forms of colored mousse. Everywhere you looked hair was colored and teased.

A huge trend on the campus involved computers. They were used in the English, math and reading departments. The place where they were most evident was in the office. The new efficient attendance system made it easier for our administrators to find those chronically ill or just chronically truant students.

Trends off campus allowed each individual to express his or herself in any way he or she wished. It began with a silly yellow sign — "Child on board." They, at one time, served to warn other cars of precious cargo but they evolved into witty, sometimes explicit, descriptions of one's character or feelings, from "Russian on board" to "Ex-husband in trunk." These signs were so over used that they led to the "Stupid yellow sign on board," which topped them all. Another car trend was the dashboard sun protector. These also allowed room for creativity as you could decorate it as you wished or leave it with the smiley face. These car trends were often seen demonstrated in mini-vans. The mini-vans were seen everywhere. It seems that this small van has replaced the old family station wagon. Another new mode of transportation was the skateboard. It seemed "everybody" was riding around on these little pieces of wood with wheels on them.

In entertainment business the big trend was the hero movie. From the summer "Top Gun" with sexy, Tom Cruise, to the tragic story of "Platoon" with Charlie Sheen. The movie industry emphasized human spirit and the courageous actions of men under pressure. We were also once again hit by another "Freddie Krugher" sequel which showed us the true colors of the Hollywood scene.

All these trends allowed us to show people exactly who we were. We were the prissy cowgirls and the beer-loving party animals. The trends encouraged us to be ourselves and expose a funny trait or put down Ronnie Reagan. No matter how silly, the trends of the year allowed us to have fun with ourselves, which is what life's all about anyway, right?!

Well it's been a hell of a long time since we've talked, about 6th grade, but believe me you haven't changed a bit. Except that you drink a lot. I want to have you for a class because you know how to make me laugh. Take care and stay away from drugs. Do what you want, just don't get deformed we have a lot to talk about.

NEW GENERATION

Closes in on the Future

Hundreds of black and red caps fly high into the sky. Graduation. It is a happy and yet sad time, a time filled with smiles along with tears. The senior Class of 1987 is leaving home. June 19, 1987 marked the end of a NEW GENERATION of seniors at Castle Park High School, and the beginning of a NEW GENERATION of high school graduates ready to take on the next challenge after high school — life itself.

The 1986-'87 school year brought on new challenges and new friends for the entire Castle Park High community. Challenges which included getting to know a new school for the new students and new teachers to Troy; adjusting to the computer age in the library, in attendance, and in instruction; taking the Trojan basketball team to the CIF semifinals; and putting up with the construction of new classrooms throughout the entire year.

As words have different meanings to different people, the 1986-'87 school year meant something different to everyone on campus. For the freshmen it was a year of awe, excitement, and surely a little fear in the beginning. Trials and tribulations along with many festive occasions might be words that described the year for the sophomores. Study, study, and more study summed up the year for the juniors. For the faculty, it was a year of adjustment. Adjusting to the new computerized attendance procedures, the new tardy and attendance policy, and the new computerized check-out of text books from the library.

The senior year for the graduating class meant something different to each individual. For some, it was the dream year, the year they have been waiting for their entire career as students. It was the year of practically no homework (because they were taking two periods of P.E. and two periods of student aide and two periods of work experience); no worries (except what to wear for the big bash Friday night); it was their year to enjoy and not worry about the future.

On the other hand, the future was all some had in their minds throughout the year. It was a roller coaster year for the college bound seniors. For some, the pain and sweat of college prep classes was almost unbearable, but they hung in there and were rewarded for their hard work in the spring. For one spring day, a letter of acceptance to the college he/she applied to arrived; and then the all night study sessions; the endless hours in the library; staying home on a Saturday night to study; all these sacrifices seem to have been worth it.

To all seniors, the pleasures and pains of high school will be missed as they venture to college and the working world. As of June 19, 1987, the seniors of Castle Park will no longer be seniors. They will be the freshmen of a NEW GENERATION of contributing members to society. They will no longer be physical members of Troy, but Castle Park will never forget the spirit of the NEW GENERATION in 1987.

Dearest Angie (myer)

Well how should I begin this? We've been through ALot! Remember Chris chasing us home with ice plant from elementary? Walking to Jr. High with Maria,
 "I have a niger bott!" oh PLEASE? Then came last year.
 Last year was so bitchen? Angie the Troganette! BAND, Marches, Maytime, Steve for you, Jose for me. Remember our phone conversation "margie Does your boyfriend have a friend for me?" yea Ebor is it JEB? But it turned out to be Steve, didn't it. Remember riding in Jose's car, the 4 of us. The boring nija movie, Bowling, you fell down!! Scruples (embarrasing ???) look at the star o (Morena) you two making out for a whole
 1/2 hour in front of his house. "Pepsi" etc... Blow
YOUR NOSE! We had good times? All those songs that bring us memories, "why did it end this way," KISS
 "Knife." Oh let's not forget that Piano? Then CAME ANGEL, troubles & I know heart ache. "Comon Roxanne!" Dawn her voice is high! She pop's concert (Our posters) crossing out someone's name & putting yours. (that was rad!).

Then came this year, and Lisa talking about Steve.
 Well now he's yours and it's up to you to make things work! I'll be here for you. Don't let him slip away so easy like last time (you got a 2nd chance.)

Remember you dancing in Jose's Garage (isn't it funny when you think about it) playing Quarters (DAH!!) WE HAD ALot of fun doing stupid things. you always be patient while Me & Jose Argue! that Meant alot to me. you are really a very special friend to me! I know we both get on EACH others nerves but we love it! WHAT CAN WE SAY!) By the way you still haven't given Steve your card you bought him. Oh lets not forget Kiki "I CAN Name 10, thousand Guys who would kill to have me" only you could say that Angie!
 I have to say we are pigs. (Driving to McDonalds to buy food, All the time) putting on Make-up in my bathroom. Listening to Music in your room.
 "He a thief" "He steals hub caps" (A, PA) No you are Not going Anywhere! (A MA!)

(cont) — — —

Angie,

Well its been a pretty crazy year.
Thanks for all the memories and rad times.
Remember T.J.? Don't forget! You better be a good cheer leader because you came from Trojanettes.
Never forget what a real Trojanette is. Well next year you will be a big "SENIOR" and I hope your year jams. You better cheer for me next year at assemblies and football games and parades because you know I will be yelling my lungs out for you when you cheer for Castle Park. Thanks for being a rad friend. I hope we can get closer next year. McDonalds Yea-ha! HA HA GO TO WORK YOU Bumb!
